ONLY A HOAX.

Last week the S. F. Examiner published a dispatch announcing that a German man war had fired upon an American vessel in Samoan waters, sinking the ship with all on board. It now transpires that the report was gotten up for speculative purposes by some San Francisco merchants. Regarding the matter the S. F. Bulletin says:

"It is stated on good authority that the first Breslau cablegram, which originated the Nipsi-Olga excitement was sent from this city. The report is that one of the passengers who came from Samoa on the Mariposa brought news of an important commercial character relative to Samoa to a local German mercantile house. This house for the purpose of influencing trade in a certain channel, cabled to its Breslau correspondent, with instructions to give the news wide circulation, and the present agitation resulted."

Such an act is probaly not criminal, but it is certainly reprehensible, and cannot be too severely criticised. Enterprise on the part of a mercantile house should not be carried so far as to circulate reports that would effect the relations of nations; nor is it altogether appreciable for a large and usually reliable paper like the Examiner to give so much prominence to floating rumors as it did to this.

A number of the leading citizens of Portland met at the office of Hon. George H. Williams on the 8th and organized what they call a "Law and Order League," but for the present we shall dub it the "Vigilance Committee of Portland," since the papers of that city have been so unkind as to give the stock association of this county that unsavory name. Article two of the constitution of the league defines the objects of the league as follows: "To maintain the principle that the enforcement of law is essential to the protection of good government, to secure in proper ways the enforcement of existing laws prohibiting offenses against the morals, peace, health, security and good order in society, to assist and encourage the authorities in maintaining and enforcing the same." The object of our stock association is to assist and encourage the authorities in enforcing the law prohibiting the stealing of horses and cattle. The objects and principles of the two organizations are identical, yet according to the Oregonian one is a "vigilance committee," while the other is a "law and order league."

Thank God! The democratic party is at last to be rid of Ben Butler. He has sold himself to the republican administration for a position on the Berlin commission. Butler is getting into his natural element. Now if the republicans will just take Sam Randall as a gratuitous gift and either send him abroad or make him speaker of the house, the democrats will feel relieved.

Oh, no, there is to be no nepotism in Harrison's administration, but son-in-law McKee has a fat job, Russell Harrison must have a foreign mission or some such trifle, and Postmaster Walker Blaine is assistant secretary of state, and even Baby McKee reigns supreme at the White House, eating butter and bread on plush cushions and bossing his grandpa and James G.

Sometimes it pays to be named after a great man. W. H. H. Miller was named after grandpa Harrison, and he is now Benjamin's attorney-general. Had his name been simple William, he would now probably be an attorney at Indianapolis.

Harrison could not stand the pressure brought to bear on him, and like the lamented Garfield, was forced to put Blaine at the head of his administration. The result of this mistake will be demonstrated in the future.

N. B. Humphrey is mentioned as the probable successor of John Myers, as U. S. marshal for Oregon. A position in the collector of customs office, where he could get to sample plenty of good liquor, would be better suited to Cap.

Elijah Halford has taken Dan Lamont's place as secretary to the president. 'Lige is a "blarsted" Hinglishman.

THE NEW CABINET.

The political advisors that President Harrison has called around him as heads of the various departments are as follows:

Secretary of state, James G. Blaine of Maine; secretary of the treasury, William Windom of Minnesota; secretary of war, Redfield Proctor of Vermont; secretary of the navy, Benjamin F. Tracy of New York; secretary of interior, John W. Noble of Missouri; postmaster-general, John Wanamaker of Pennsylvania; attorney-general, W. H. H. Miller of Indiana; secretary of agriculture, Jermiah Rusk of Wisconsin.

The president's political household does not suit many of the republicans, and already they have begun criticising his actions as savoring too much of Blaine. Even the Oregonian is not satisfied with the start the president has made. In an editorial on the 8th, headed "Blaine's Hand," it says:

"The composition of the cabinet and the names suggested for foreign appointments bear marks of Blaine's hand. Whitelaw Reid, named for the English mission, never would be thought of in that connection save for the fact that he has been for a dozen years Blaine's starling in the American press. Reid has brawled "Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine," as incessantly as Hotspur meant his starling should shriek "Mortimer" in the ear of Henry the fourth.

The appointment of John A. Kasson to represent the United States at Berlin in the Samoan conference is another Blaine performance. Kasson has always been one of Blaine's Theban band. No objection can be made to this appointment, however, because Kasson is a man of superior talant and political learning, and is equal to any position in the gift of the administration.

The composition of the cabinet shows Blaine's hand. Windom, Proctor, Noble, Tracy, Rusk are all men of Blaine antecedents. The only doubtful characters are Wanamaker, who is Quay's man, and Miller, who is absolutely Harrison's man, but outside of these the cabinet is a Blaine cabinet.

The passage of Dolph's bill, authorizing the U. S. attorney to begin action against the holders of wagon road grants in Oregon, is causing some feelings among the settlers on road land in this county that there is a hope of their yet getting a title to the lands they occupy. This hope, we fear, is destined to be blighted, for the result of the suits in the U. S. courts will only be to confirm the company title to the lands.

Of all the members of president Harrison's cabinet, Ben Franklin Tracy, secretary of the navy, will have the most difficult position to fill. Following the footsteps of Secretary Whitney, who brought the U. S. navy up from nothing to what it now is, he has no easy task to perform. Whitney retired from the position of secretary of the navy crowned with honors; will Tracy?

Hungry office seekers are thicker in Washington than fiddlers in——. Of course Mr. Harrison will for a time consider their claims and pretend to submit to the civil service law, but ere many months he will yield to the pressure, and democratic official hacds will begin falling off in a hurry.

Ex-President Cleveland has removed to New York and quietly entered upon the practice of his profession. He surrendered the highest position to which man may be elevated with clean hands and a clean record, and his administartion will be remembered in history as one of the purest of the nation.

The republicans having put their great aggressive James G. at the head of the state department, foreign nations may expect to stand from under. Blaine and the rest of the republican party will now have a fine opportunity to show their backbone in the settlement of the Samoan trouble.

F. P. Mayes, of The Dalles, and J. C. Leisure, of Pendleton, are in Washington urging their claims for the office of U. S. district attorney for Oregon. We are personally acquainted with Mr. Mayes, and there is no republican in the state whom we would rather see honored with the position than he.

Now that the party of "protection" is fully installed, we may expect wool to go up to the top notch and wages take a raise so that the laboring man can have butter on both sides of his bread.

Harrison—Elijah, what will we do with these persistent office-seekers; they must be quited, or my administration is a failure.

Elijah—Refer them to Mr. Blaine, Ben, for he is running this nation. You are only president in name.

The following foreign ministers have been appointed: John F. Swift of California, minister to Japan; Thomas W. Palmer of Michigan, minister to Spain; John D. Washburn of Massachusetts, minister to Switzerland.

Fred Grant, it is believed, is to go to China as U. S. minister. Now what is there for Bob Lincoln? He, too, was the son of an illustrious sire.

Th. Nast, the great cartoonist, has been employed by the S. F. Examiner.

NOTES AND NEWS.

Eugene has levied a school tax of five mills.

Bids are asked for building a new jail for Klamath county.

The Big Bend National bank has been established at Davenport.

The new paper mill at Walla Walla will shortly be ready for business.

Since 1870 the Alaska Seal Co. has paid the United States $5,597,000.

In one warehouse in Albany 86,000 bushels of wheat and 26,000 of oats rimains unsold.

A wildcat measuring fifty-two inches from tip to tip was killed recently in the outskirts of Wallula.

The Seattle Nation bank, with a capital stock of $250,000, transacted its first business on Thursday of last week.

It is estimated that the population of Multnomah county is 70,000. The county has 14,000 persons of school age.

Caption Paul Boynton, the celebrated navigator and lone voyager, who has traveled over 25,000 miles in a rubber dress, is now in Portland.

Columbia river cannerymen are reparing machinery, making cans, painting boats and getting everything in readiness for the approaching fishing season.

About sixty men are connected with the work of getting out stone a few miles above Vancouver, for use on the jetties at the mouth of the Columbia river.

A new hotel to cost $40,000 is to be erected in Olympia. It is expected to have it opened by the 4th of July, in time to receive the constitutional delegates.

The duties collected at the Portland custom house during February were $76,709. It is estimated that $100,000 will be collected during the present month.

Captain E. J. Lanning, of Albany, will establish an ice factory in that city. It will be in operation by May 1 and will have a capacity of four to five tons daily.

The Tacoma News suggests that, when the time comes for selecting a design for the great seal of the state of Washington, an appropriate emblem would be a daisy.

Some burglars went through J. W. Stewart's safe at Springfield last Saturday night and got away with about $30. They had not been captured at last accounts.

The authorities are experiencing considerable difficulty in ejecting the white settlers from the Umatilla reservation. The assistance of the army has been asked to aid in this matter.

The towns of Linn county are all experiencing a revival of business and period of growth. At Harrisburg a sawmill and plaining mill is being built, while at Lebanon, Crawfordsvill, Sodavill, Mill City and Lyonsville new additions have been laid out and town lots are being sold at a rate indicative of a healthy growth.

The store of C. D. Montague at Lebanon was burglarized on Saturday night. The robber or robbers effected an entrance at a rear window. Quite a lot of goods of different kinds were taken, estimated from $200 to $500 worth. No traces yet of the robbers, though vigorous efforts will be made to hunt them down.

The Northern Pacific and Oregon & Washington railroad companies have issued a joint live stock tariff, fixing rates on the latter line to the East. The carload rate on cattle and sheep to Northern Pacific and Eastern terminals, is $171 50; horses $181 50 and $180; to Chicago, sheep and cattle, $200; horses, $210.

The Manistee Colony Company of Manistee, Michigan, have decided to come to Oregon and locate. This is the first installment of colonies of the season drawn to this state by united efforts of the Oregon Immigration Board and the A. E. Johnson Company. The company is composed of 200 men most of them heads of families, and of mixed nationality—Swedes, Danes and Germans predominating.

The Times-Mountaineer says there are good prospects of a coal vein being struck near the catholic cemetery near The Dalles by a party of mining experts in that city. They have tunneled into the hill quite a distance, and the indications are very good, and have now commenced to sink a shaft. They will have to go a great depth before the supposed coal deposit can be thoroughly tested; but the pespectors are very sanguine of success.

An Oregon prophet, Thomas Alphine, of Millers, a pioneer of 1841, states that in 1856 it never rained from March until after harvest and the crops were splendid. In 1817 it only rained ten days in June. He pronounces the moon a dry one, and says it will not rain in March. His advice is for farmers to sow their spring wheat at once, for if we have late rains it will then be too late afterwards, and if continued dry weather now is the only time. March will be a month of light, but not killing frosts. If fruit is injured it will not be until April. Mr. Alphine considers the crop outlook a fine one for this season.

Mention was made a short time since of butchers on the Sound having contracted for two trainloads of beef cattle from Nebraska. The contract was made in January, when good beef was scarce, and the person who secured the contract held up a vision of corn-fed beef which was very attractive. One trainload of the cattle came out, and it was found that there was plenty just as good to be had here, and the contract for the remainder was canceled, Mr. A. J. Splawn undertaking to supply the cattle from his section, to the satisfaction of all concerned. It will be a long day before there is any necessity for importing beef to the Northwest from the blizzard states. Oregonian.

REPORTS OF GOVERNMENT CHEMISTS

As to Purity and Wholesomeness of the Royal Baking Powder.

"I have tested a package of Royal Baking Powder, which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates, or other injurious substances. E. G. LOVE, Ph.D."

"It is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure. "H. A. MOTT, Ph.D."

"I have examined a package of Royal Baking Powder, purchased by myself in the market. I find it entirely free from alum, terra alba, or any other injurious substance. HENRY MORTON, Ph.D., President of Stevens Institute of Technology."

"I have analyzed a package of Royal Baking Powder. The materials of which it is composed are pure and wholesome. S. DANA HAYES, State Assayer, Mass."

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award over all competitors at the Vienna World's Exposition, 1873; at the Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; at the American Institute, New York, and at State Fairs throughout the country.

No other article of human food has ever received such high, emphatic, and universal endorsement from eminent chemists, physicians, scientists, and Boards of Health all over the world.

NOTE—The above DIAGRAM illustrates the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by Chemical Analysis and experiments made by Prof. Scheller. A pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each can calculated, the result being as indicated. This practical test for worth by Prof. Scheller only proves what every observant consumer of the Royal Baking Powder knows by practical experience, that, while it costs a few cents per pound more than ordinary kinds, it is far more economical, and, besides, affords the advantage of better work. A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair-minded person of these facts.

* While the diagram shows some of the alum powders to be of a higher degree of strength than other powders ranked below them, it is not to be taken as indicating that they have any value. All alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous.
