INDUSTRY SHOWS PLEASING GAINS

Despite Approach of Winter Industry in Twelfth District Increasing.

CROWD LUMBER MILLS

Production of Lumber Reaches Record Stage and Mills are Not Anxious to Obtain New Contracts.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—Despite the approach of winter and the shortage of freight cars in many sections, there was no slackening in industrial activity during October, according to the report of John Perrin, San Francisco, Federal Reserve agent for the Twelfth district, made public here today.

Mr. Perrin's statement follows:

"Banks of the district have financed the harvesting and marketing of crops practically without aid of the Federal Reserve Bank. Country member banks actually reduced their borrowings from the Federal Reserve Bank during the month. City member banks increased their total loans and discounts and also their borrowings from the Federal Reserve Bank, but the total of their rediscounts on Nov. 8, $20,652,000 was less than 50 per cent of what it was one year ago.

"As a result of an increase of 1-2 per cent in San Francisco and declines in Los Angeles, and Seattle, the prevailing rate of interest on customers' loans is now practically uniform at 5 1-2 to 6 per cent in the leading financial centers of the Pacific Coast.

"Production of lumber during October was at record levels. Shipments were curtailed by the car shortage and mills were reluctant to accept new orders, the prompt shipment of which could not be promised.

"Consumption of the principal mineral products of the district continues to exceed present output and stocks have been or are being reduced to normal levels.Metal prices have remained steady or have advanced, the market for lead and zinc being particularly active.

"Production of petroleum in California at 432,885 barrels per day increased 6.4 per cent over the previous record month of September, 1922, chiefly due to flush output in the newer fields at Santa Fe Springs and Huntington Beach. Current consumption also increased but was less than production, and storage stocks rose to 57,116,832 barrels on Nov. 1, 1922, compared with 33,116,456 barrels held on Nov. 1, 1922.

"The number of building permits issued in 20 principal cities during Oct. 1922, was 12,254, a record for this district and an increase of 7.0 per cent over the number issued in Oct. 1921.

"Employment conditions at the beginning of the winter season are reported to be better than normal. The usual seasonal decrease in the demand for workers in out-door activities has been largely offset by an increased demand in other industries.

"Prices of nearly all of the more important agricultural products rose during October and despite the car shortage, the movement of the district's crops to market was accelerated. The general price level, as shown by the United States Bureau of Labor Index number, which uses 1913 prices as 100, advanced from 153 in September to 154 in October.

"Reporting department stores in this district enjoyed the best October trade in their history during the past month. The value of sales of 32 stores was 16.3 per cent greater than in October, 1921. Eight of the ten lines of wholesale trade for which sales figures are assembled, showed an increase in the value of sales in October, 1922, compared with October, 1921.

"If figures for San Francisco be excluded, the total of bank debits in reporting cities of the district was 22.7 per cent greater during October, 1922, than during the corresponding month a year ago. Including the figures for San Francisco the same comparison shows an increase of 5.8 per cent.

"Business failures during the month were greater in number and in liabilities than in September 1922 or October 1921.

U. of O. Team Leaves for Seattle

EUGENE, Nov. 28.—(Special.)—In the best condition of the year and primed in every way to put up the battle of their lives, 22 men, comprising the University of Oregon varsity football team, accompanied by a staff of coaches, trainers and managers, left here this afternoon bound for Seattle, where they will meet the Washington eleven on Thanksgiving day.

Coach Huntington put the squad through a hard week of scrimmage and signal practice last week, giving the variety its final touches, developing a string of dependable substitutes and allowing injured members to return to the eligible list. While the eleven will miss the services of Rud Brown at end severely, Coach Huntington declared shortly before leaving that the Oregon team is in the best condition it has been this season.

Oregon has gone through an undefeated season of five conference games, and in the last two, against the powerful O. A. C. and Washington State elevens, showed development of unusual strength. With the exception of two ends and a tackle position, the team which lines up against the northerners will be composed of men of at least one year's experience. They are slightly lighter than the Huskies but will be served in the Oregon formations which have proved so efficient against Washington in the past five years, during which time Oregon has defeated the Washingtonians three times.

Particular significance is attached to the game in that the winner will be undisputed champion of the northwest conference and will be in a position to be selected as the team to represent the west against Penn State in the annual intersectional contest at Pasadena New Year's day.

Eugene Loses Ten Players in Game

EUGENE, Nov. 28.—Eugene high school's football team lost hard luck at Salem Saturday, in the game they lost 41 to 6. Possessors of plenty of fight, but outweighed 10 or 20 pounds per man on the average, the local gridsters brought up a sixty record in mauling for an irreconcilable game that just hold for years.

Eight men were put out of the game by the loaded Salemites, and in the last minute of play Eugene had only 10 men on the field because there were no more substitutes to call on.

The first man out was Jack Trotter, quarterback, with a dislocated shoulder. Following him went Carl Smith, right guard, with a severe knee injury. Then Al Brownell, center, was put out by a knee and ankle injuries. As he was in the lead cast Clifford Pope went into the bench, as it did a dislocated Cornelius fill back. The blow Cornelius got on the skull made him weak for several hours, and he had not regained his senses completely even after disembarking from the train here.

When Audrey Fredericks, right half, was hit in the side and received a body injury, he left the game. Following him went Archie Wycoff, left guard, with a severe charleyhorse. Lowell Manerud, substitute, left half, was the last man hurt. He was hit on the hip bone and his right leg temporarily paralyzed.

None of the men are badly injured, from a survey this morning, believes Grannis, but he has issued a call for his players to appear at 3 o'clock this afternoon so he can give them the once-over. Only two men had to be carried from the field at Salem Saturday, the rest coming in on their own legs.

Gifts For Christmas

Christmas time—the grand old time of the year, when good will and generosity hold the stage—is here. Everybody loves to give Christmas gifts, but the selection of those gifts has become a problem. How about aunty, sister Mary, brother Bob, Mother and Dad?

Rainy weather, crowded stores, tired and impatient clerks—these all contribute to take the pleasure out of Christmas giving.

Picture yourself in the quiet and comfort of your own home, selecting your gifts. This is where the Fuller Brush man comes in. He helps you select appropriate presents for your family and friends. He helps you arrange sets which can be added to from year to year, and delivers them at a convenient time, ready to send or give away. This is the reason the Fuller Brush man is welcomed in every home as Christmas approaches.

J. B. Crary, the local Fuller man, is a resident of Roseburg, and is here to fill your needs in the brush line. If he does not call upon you within the next few days, just phone his home and he will call.

You can identify him by the Fuller Trade mark button in his lapel—as shown below. This guarantees genuine FULLER Brushes.
