The supreme court, at Salem, has handed down the following decision: William Horn respondent, vs. United States Mining Securities & Trust Company, appellant, from Douglas county; J. W. Hamilton, judge; reversed and dismissed: opinion by Chief Justice Wolverton. It is held that where a laborer ceased work on November 7 and filed his lien on January 7, he is one day late under the statute requiring that the lien be filed within 60 days after he had ceased to labor. Another case of the same title was affirmed. Horn got the decision in the lower court. He filed a complaint against the above company, and recovered decision through failure of the company to answer the complaint at proper time.

Portland Telegram: His pet wildcat having been stolen and believing that it might be put on exhibition on the trail at the Lewis & Clark Fair, James Crouch, of Oakland, Or., came to Portland this morning in search of the missing animal. With the aid of Detective Resing, a wildcat was located near the Fair grounds, but after examining it for nearly an hour Crouch decided that it was not his. The animal answered closely to the description, and would eat from the hand, but it would not recognize the name of "Bob," the name of the stolen animal.

Circuit Court Cases.

John R. Sutherlin has filed a suit in the circuit court here against Thos. C. Bloomer, proprietor of the Hotel McClallen, to foreclose a mortgage on the entire hotel equipment in order to satisfy a promissory note for $5000, on which Mr. Sutherlin alleges only $2785.14 has been paid. The note was executed by Mr. Bloomer in Mr. Sutherlin's favor on March 31, 1904. According to Mr. Sutherlin's complaint, the note was to be paid in regular monthly installments of $300, with interest, but that after Feb. 18, 1905, the defendant ceased making payments.
