BUSINESS REVIVAL HERE.

Call it "psychological" if you will, but signs are multiplying that American business and industry are already beginning to enter on an era of renewed activity. Reports gathered by government experts confirm this, although not in so many words, perhaps. Even those who are skeptical of the judgment of official "experts" must credit the facts as they are disclosed. The unequaled resources of the government for searching out the facts of trade and industry afford a sure basis for judgment that shall influence action. General confidence is all that is needed to expedite the return to a larger degree of commercial normalcy on which the country will thrive. With strengthened faith, the people need no longer postpone replenishment of supplies and the repairing of properties. A dollar wisely expended will start a train of commercial and industrial operations that will result in astonishingly widespread business revival. One of the most commendable of all our practices is wise economy. It is upon it that ultimate prosperity is founded, since it provides the essential to reviving the fires of commercial activity that sometimes are permitted to die down. Those who now have a few dollars with which to supply their wants will give to general trade just that degree of stimulant that is needed. [illegible] increase that demand for goods which results in the reopening of factories and the recalling of transportation crews to service, that reaches back to the producers of raw materials and compels activity in every commercial and industrial enterprise.

"If parents sold their children by the pound as a farmer feeds his hogs, there would be fewer stunted children. It is ridiculous to say that a child takes after its parents and is thin because the latter is thin. Imagine a farmer saying that about his pigs! Children are not getting enough food." This is the opinion of Miss Marian Moseley, a welfare worker of Chicago. There is food for thought if not for the children in what she says. Unfortunately there is no such simple solution for undernourishment in children as selling them for so much per pound on the hoof. It is pity that some equally effective system cannot be devised to convince parents who fail to be roused by more ethical reasons of the direct financial gain represented in healthy, well-nourished children. If they could be brought to see the reduced expenses for illness and the increased potential producing power of the healthy child, the battle would be won. Present methods of education are not without result, however. Great gains have been made in the care and feeding of children in the past few years. This education must proceed until every child in the nation is assured proper nourishment.

Many a man starts out to do something "like a house afire," and then somebody turns the hose on him.

SHOWING THE PROPER SPIRIT.

County Judge Stewart and Commissioners Weaver and Long are showing the proper spirit in reference to furthering the highway program to be carried out in this county during the present year. These gentlemen are ready and willing to undertake any legitimate means whereby the future road building proposed for this section of the state may be augmented to that degree that no other county in the state will lay claim to a greater spirit of progress.

With the assurance of the support of the Taxpayers' League, the Chamber of Commerce, and hundreds of influential business men of all parts of the county, that now is the time to act and assemble funds to carry on this county's share of the highway program of the state, the county court feels they have the right kind of support to back them up in a sound, conservative and well managed road-building program for the present year.

While there is a shortage of funds at the present time to apply on the roads in this county and only one course left to pursue, that of voting a bond issue, it is the opinion of those most familiar with road activities of this section that no time should be lost in bringing a well defined, broad and constructive highway program before the taxpayers for their approval. There must be quick action, and, in its endeavor to carry on this very important step in the progress of the county's affairs the court should have, and will expect, the closest co-operation of the great majority of the people of this county.

The tourist travel is no small item during the summer months. It's outside "velvet" going and coming, and it's worth a good deal of attention from any live community. Right now is the time to prepare and arrange accommodations for this class of business and exert every possible energy and inducement to make Roseburg the logical stop-over point for tourists.

Hit her up for a season of constructive road building. This old county is "some goer" when the occasion demands—and the demand is right now.

A good, old head of broccoli looks mighty fine to the farmer when there's nothing else in sight in the way of farm products.

Snow in March would be very unusual for this county. But the unusual sometimes happens when least expected.

Any ordained minister can tie the marriage knot, but it takes a judge and a lawyer or two to untie it.

It is not so easy for figures to lie since diaphanous clothing has been adopted by so many women.

The "flower of the family" sometimes looks as if she had been dipped into a flour barrel.

Some folks are willing to be on the level, but they want to fix their own level.

Distillate Coming Back on Market

Engine distillate, a fuel used largely by farm tractors and marine motors, will be put back on the Oregon market in the latter part of June or early in July, according to an announcement of the Standard Oil company. No intimation as to what the price will be was received locally, it was stated, although it will be, of course, cheaper than gasoline.

Placing of the distillate upon the market will mean a more economical fuel for food production, officials of the Standard Oil company explained, as the distillate is used when available by practically all farm tractors and by the fishing vessels on the rivers. For nearly a year distillate has been unavailable here, and those equipped to use it have been forced to use gasoline.

"Never Has to Call a Doctor---Bathes Internally"

Mr. J. E. McNeil, P. O. Box 217, Globe, Ariz., writes to Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute:

"I have been using 'J. B. L. Cascade' for the past twenty-five years and call it our cheap family physician for the reason that I have never had to call in a physician to treat one of the family. What a pity more of the human race are not acquainted with the virtues of the Cascade in a family."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the lower intestine its entire length and keeps it always free of poisonous waste.

Thousands testify that Constipation, Sick Headaches and all the many serious Headaches and all the many serious troubles which they cause are absolutely relieved and prevented by this Nature Treatment.

Nathan Fullerton, at the Rexall Store, Perkins Bldg., Roseburg, will be glad to show you the "J. B. L. Cascade," explain its simple operation and will give you, free on request, an interesting little book by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, a noted specialist on Internal Bathing for 25 years in that city. Clip this out as a reminder to ask for the booklet at your first opportunity.

LANE FARMERS FAVOR RECALL.

EUGENE, March 12.—A body of about 200 rural telephone users of Lane county met this afternoon in the chamber of commerce, with determination if not blood in their eyes, and without a dissenting vote passed a resolution declaring it to be the sentiment of the meeting that they should cut off connections of all rural systems from the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph system rather than to pay the proposed advance in rates. Along with this motion went an emphatic endorsement of the movement to recall the members of the Oregon public service commission.
