Pendleton Paper Attacks Officers

PENDLETON, Or., Jan. 10.—Sensational charges of illegal practices in Umatilla county public offices have been made by the Pendleton Tribune and since the first explosion occurred following the report of the grand jury, the situation here has grown more complicated.

Sweeping statements have been made regarding alleged misconduct of District Attorney Keator, his deputy, Charles Randall, and the special prohibition officer, E. F. B. Ridgway. The attack on these officers led by the Tribune grows more severe each succeeding day since the grand jury reported that it had failed to find anything against the record of Ridgway. Charges of bribes have been backed by affidavits, and the charge has been made and sworn to that Ridgway, when a deputy sheriff, collected a toll of $1 per gallon on a moonshiner's entire manufacture.

May Pay Bonus With a Gas Tax

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10.—A tax of 3 cents a gallon on gasoline, to be paid by the producer, the proceeds of which would be used for a soldiers' bonus, is proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Bacharach, New Jersey, republican.

The tax, he estimated would yield from $240,000,000 to $259,000,000 annually—sufficient revenue, he said to meet cash payments to former service men provided for in the bill.

Indications were given at the White House that President Harding expects enactment of a soldiers' bonus bill at this session of congress and such a measure must provide a proper source of funds sufficient to meet the payments.

The responsibility for issuance of a large quantity of new bonds under present conditions, it was said, is not one that the executive branch of the government desires to assume.

Movie Closeups

Sir James M. Barrie's famous novel, "The Little Minister," has been picturized by Penrhyn Stanlaws for Paramount and in which Betty Compson, beautiful star has the stellar role, is the fifth of that writers works to reach the screen. It will play at the Antlers theatre Thursday and Friday.

Already the motion picture public has been given through Paramount pictures, "The Admirable Crichton," which was produced by Cecil B. DeMille under the title of "Male and Female;" "Half an Hour," with Dorothy Dalton; "What Every Woman Knows," a William DeMille production; and "Sentimental Tommy," produced by John S. Robertson with May McAvoy and Gareth Hughes as "Grizel" and "Tommy."

The story of "The Little Minister" is not only dramatic, but it has a tender appeal. The scenes are laid in Scotland about 1830 and each has a thrill of its own. Miss Compson is a high spirited girl of the nobility who adventures as a gypsy maid and who is involved in a strong love romance. George Hackathorne is the leading man and heads a supporting company of artistic players.

"Stalwart Bill" Russell, William Fox star, is playing at the Majestic theatre for the last time tonight in a lively picture called "Singing River." This is a western story about rustlers, robbers, dead beats and—a pretty girl. Russell has several fierce fights on his hands, and goes through with them in thrilling Russell fashion. In the cast with him are Vola Vale, Clark Comstock, Jack Rosdeigh, Arthur Morrison, Jack McDonald, Jack Hull, Louis King and Charles King.

The story is by Jules G. Furthman, and Charles Giblyn directed the picture.

Sessue Hayakawa will play at the Liberty theatre tonight in "Black Roses," one of his best known features. The synopsis of the play follows:

Benson Burleigh had dealt unscrupulously with the other members of a gang of polite criminals with which he had been associated. So much so that he had been able to retire to quiet respectability on a huge estate where he had all the known luxuries—including Yoda, a gardener who knew how to grow black roses. One day ten former associates of Burleigh were ordered to murder him by Blanch Devore, notorious woman leader of crooks.

By a curious chain of circumstances the three criminals were able to pin the blame for the murder on Yoda. But to close the lips of Yoda's bride, Blossom, they were forced to carry her away. While she was transported to a virtual prison in Chinatown, New York, Yoda was sent to a penitentiary for murder. There a friendly convict aided him to make a sensational escape on a locomotive. He followed his enemies to New York. Posing as a Japanese nobleman, he fought a brilliant battle of wits which ended by their arrest, his own exoneration, and a reunion with his pretty little wife.

GLENDALE NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Parks have returned to their residence on Madrone Heights, and we are very glad to welcome them home.

Mayor I. H. Smith has returned from a business trip to Portland and other northern cities.

Glendale certainly enjoyed many happy reunions over the holidays and genial and responsive good cheer was in evidence everywhere.

Beautiful sunshiny days, with vegetation taking on new life and flowers blooming are the first sweet harbingers of springtime.

The food sale of the Catholic ladies altar society, held last Saturday at the Dewey and Lestul store, proved very profitable. Mrs. M. D. Zwight was in charge.

The Ladies' Aid of Olivet church will meet Friday, the 13th, with Mrs. G. Olson. Special work is outlined, and a general attendance requested.

Mrs. Andrew Pete met with the Lutheran Aid at the Strauss home last week. Mrs. Pete was a very successful hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Based entertained over the holidays Mrs. Based's mother, Mrs. Margaret Whobrey, and her sister, Mrs. Henry Elford, of California. Miss Annie Laurie Based, who is a student at Albany this year and who returned to her studies last Monday. Mrs. Whobrey and other relatives went on to Fresno, where they will spend the winter. All were royally entertained in the Based home.

Special services at Olivet church last Sunday were enjoyed by a good attendance at each service, and a splendid sermon by Pastor Webb. Special music was a solo by Merle Wood, of our school faculty. Mrs. A. J. Brown played the accompaniment on the piano.

Most excellent results are noted in our public schools here, and there seems to be approval of the excellent management of Principal K. K. Robinson and his faculty of splendid educators. Parents who have children in school here or any where else should visit the schools and in that way realize the importance of cooperation of parents and teachers. A parent-teacher association is a necessity in all large schools.

Miss Cecelia Johnson is getting along fine with her school at Reuben and seems to enjoy her pupils as much as they appreciate her.

Mrs. Ellen Hanks, who for many years was postmistress at Perdue, is spending the winter at the home of her nephew, John Hanks, in this city. Also L. L. Perdue, who is manager at the Hanks Smoke House with his son, are enjoying the winter together, meeting and greeting old friends of other years.

Mrs. Del Carter, who has been quite ill, is now much better, Dr. Fawcett states.

This evening at Olivet church a get-together social will be enjoyed by all. A general invitation is extended to all who can come by Pastor and Mrs. M. C. Webb.
