WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT DECLARED CONSTITUTIONAL

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The woman's suffrage nineteenth amendment was declared constitutional today by the United States supreme court.

The woman's suffrage or nineteenth amendment to the constitution was challenged in the supreme court in proceedings instituted by Charles S. Fairchild of New York, for himself and in behalf of the American Constitutional League, to enjoin the secretary of state from issuing and the attorney general from enforcing a proclamation declaring the ratification of the amendment, and by Oscar Leser and other citizens of Maryland, constituting an organization known as the "Maryland League for State Defense." The former proceedings were based on the ground that the amendment had NOT been validly adopted, and the latter that the amendment was unconstitutional.

Seven years of war and revolution including three years of blockade, stripped Russia of all surplus food, then a long drought burned up the harvest in a number of provinces. This is what caused the famine.

Washington Cops Have Credentials

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—(United Press.)—Is a man showing you a green card on the highways of the state of Washington desires to pinch you for any reason, go with him. If he wants to take you in and cannot show the green card, soak him on the jaw but don't block traffic with too long a fight. Better still, turn the man over to a peace officer.

Such are the instructions emanating from the headquarters of the state highway patrol.

Complaints have been made to Major Louis M. Lang that many motorists have been stopped by "fake" patrol officers, who have sought to coerce them for not having their cars equipped with new 1922 license plates.

Major Lang pointed further that no patrol officer is empowered to collect fines or bail money, merely issuing summons.

Children Brave Zero Winds Minus Dress, Dubbed a Habit

By E. M. ALLENDER,
(International News Service Staff Correspondent).

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 27.—Persons who are accustomed to shiver at the thought of a cold shower, even in a heated bathroom; mothers who "bundle up" their children when sending them forth into the crisp winter air; geographers who write in their school books that people in the frigid climates require warmer clothing than the denizens of the tropics, prepare to shiver.

That "clothing is "pretty much of a habit" is the contention of the Connecticut tuberculosis commission, and to illustrate and prove its claim the commission recently brought four near-naked kiddies to the annual state industrial exhibition in this city, the youngsters romping through the snow-covered streets of the city, evoking awe and amazement as they trotted along with no clothing but abbreviated trunks and sandals.

Find Air in Armory Is Too Warm.

It was the first public exhibition in the state of the wards of the state commission, who are being treated with unqualified success, for pulmonary and bone tuberculosis by simple means, namely, rest, fresh air, good food and sunlight, with the emphasis on the last named ingredient.

Two youngsters came from the sanitarium at Meriden, where the pulmonary type of the disease is treated, and two from Crescent Beach sanitarium on the sea shore, where the bone type of the disease is being cured.

To the astonishment of the hundreds of visitors to the state armory exhibition the youngsters' only complaint was that the air in the armory was too warm. On three near zero days during their stay they went outside to play in the snow and ice on the grounds of the state capitol.

At the respective sanitariums no clothing but the trunks and sandals is worn. The kiddies play, sleep, eat and attend school in this costume, and in addition to being freer from coughs, colds and childhood ailments than "coddled" children of the same age, about 95 per cent of them are being permanently cured of tuberculosis ailments.

Suffer Less From Lung Ailments.

During the winter months the youngsters are exposed in their scant attire for at least four hours per day, playing in the snow, skating, tobogganing and sliding, just as other kiddies do in regular clothes. And they suffer less from the cold than those protected by heavy clothing, according to their own statements and those of their teachers.

Connecticut is the only state in the union that has established children's sanitoria to cure tuberculosis. There are beds at Seaside for fifty-five suffering from bone and glandular cases and room for 200 at the Meriden sanitarium for kiddies affected with the lung form of the disease.

The commission proudly avers that in spite of the outdoor life at Seaside and Meriden there has not been a single case of pneumonia, or a severe case of croup, bronchitis or diphtheria. And while the normal youngster gains an average from four to six pounds a year, the children at Seaside gain an average of eleven and one-fourth pounds annually.

Changes Made In Grazing Fee Law

Forest Supervisor W. F. Ramsdell today received notification that a change has been made in the requirements regarding the payment of grazing fees and that stockmen will be allowed to pay fees in two equal payments instead of thirty days in advance as formerly. In previous years the forest service has required that all grazing fees must be paid thirty days in advance of the date the stock is to be placed on the range. Last year, however, because of the financial condition of the stockmen the law was changed so that payments could be made on or before December 1st. This year, however, it is urged that wherever possible the fee be paid at any time on or before the time the stock enters the forest but the provision has been made that wherever the financial condition of the stockmen is such that it would benefit him he may submit his fees in two equal payments, one-half before the stock enters the forest and the balance by December 1, 1922, without interest on the deferred payment. These provisions are being made because of the financial condition existing among stockmen, the government recognizing that at the present time many of the small stock owners who are badly in need of the range have not the funds with which to pay the fees and consequently the government is willing to wait for the fees until the stockmen have disposed of some of their stock and are able to meet the amount required.

BIDS WANTED.

Tenders will be received up to noon of Wednesday, March 8, 1922, for the erection of a two-story concrete building for Knights of Pythias Lodge Number 47, of Roseburg, Oregon. Plans and specifications may be seen by applying to the undersigned at the office of the J. G. Flook Company.

The owners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

FRANK E. ALLEY.

Moonshine Loosened Prohi Cop's Teeth

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 1.—(United Press.)—The State Law Enforcement bureau has lost its teeth—at least, so far as its chief investigator, Joseph Jerome, is concerned.

Jerome's job was that of official sleuth. Of course, he had to taste the drinks before he could swear they were liquor. Then he'd spit 'em out—he says.

Now, he says, his teeth began to loosen from the effects of the "moonshine." Then one by one they dropped out. Such is the potency of San Francisco's "cooking whisky."

Now he wears a set of false teeth. And he's filed a claim for compensation with the state compensation insurance commission. He wants to be paid for the teeth he lost in the good cause.

Sale Light Wines Favored by Labor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Repeal of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act and substitution of a measure permitting the sale of light wines and beer was urged today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in a statement which called upon all citizens to join with the labor organizations in a campaign with those objects in view.

The statement denounced the Volstead act as "a moral and moral failure" and "a dangerous breeder of disrespect and contempt for all law."

The council, which concluded a week's session Saturday night, previously had announced its intention to participate in the congressional elections through a non-partisan campaign committee, which will indorse and oppose candidates of major political parties or enter independents if that course is considered most effective.
