ENGLISH VII CLUB MEETS

The English VII Club of the Roseburg high school held its regular club meeting Friday, the 12th. At this meeting the newly-elected president, Camille Patterson, took the chair. Audrey White, the secretary, being absent the president appointed Robert Sherrill to act as temporary secretary.

After the disposal of the regular business of the club, the program was taken up. Roll call was answered by the members naming and describing their favorite motion picture. After the roll call, the club adjourned to the biology laboratory where slides of Poe's "Raven" were exhibited. These were explained by Delorne Parrott, George Singleton, Leona Parker and Ford Singleton. After viewing these slides and hearing the explanations the club have a picture of "The Raven" that will never be effaced.

As there was no further business the club adjourned to meet on Friday, April 28, when a program featuring Oregon writers will be given.

ASSEMBLY TUESDAY

A short assembly was held Tuesday morning. The reports of the delegates sent to the Oregon Journalistic conference were heard. All these delegates reported a good time while gone and expressed their delight in the entertainment given them while visiting in Eugene. They report that much good along Journalistic lines was received from this conference, and state that they gained many new ideas on how to publish an annual as well as a school newspaper. Those who made the trip were Iris Rice, Miss Lewis, Audrey White, Maurice Newland, Volney Crouch and Glenn Radabaugh.

The debate team was called upon to make a report of the debate held in Eugene last Saturday night, and had much praise for their defeated opponents and for the sportsmanship shown by them after losing the debate. The debaters who represented the R. H. S. were James McCulstock and Delorne Parrott. Miss Ruth Hollopeter, their able coach, made the trip with them. The trip was made by car, Mr. Hamm driving down Saturday morning.

FAMOUS MEN RECEIVE SCRUBBING.

Two famous men, Lincoln and Shakespeare, yesterday received a genuine bath at the hands of Mr. Boyce, our janitor. Considerable excitement prevailed when it was announced that two gentlemen were seen in the hall. For years these gents have avoided bathing, but it was finally decided that some action was necessary. To Mr. Boyce fell the task, which, by the way, he did in fine shape. Before the operation the gentlemen had turned the complexion of the burnished inhabitants of the south, but at the completion of their first bath they blossomed out as fair as the proverbial Apollo. From now on the busts will be kept in a clean condition it is reported by the authorities.

UMPQUA COMPLETED AND HANDED TO THE PRINTER

The Umpqua is now complete and in the hands of the printer. The last copy presented is to him last Monday afternoon, thereby lifting a load from their own shoulders. Much work has been put in upon this year's publication. The best of photos are a feature of the book this year. The engravers have made a fine set of printing plates, and the printers promise that, all in all, the plates will show up better than ever before. A special press will be used in the printing of the annual. This type of press is made for jobs of this kind, and the printing end will, no doubt, equal the literary work in the book. The books will be distributed, if nothing happens, on the 12th of May.

QUESTIONAIRE IS CIRCULATED

Superintendent Hamm issued the annual of his annual questionaires Tuesday. This questionnire is a list of questions which Mr. Hamm asks directly and personally of the students. The questions deal with the student's life in the school and subjects which he finds most advantageous and beneficial. In this way one is enabled to get views from students which he could get in no other way and is able to see things from the student's viewpoint. Most schools at any size this same thing is done, and it has been found to be highly successful in gaining cooperation between the students and the faculty. It also enables the school board to see just what is and what is not needed in the school and guage their actions accordingly. Some of the questions answered individually and in writing by the students are as follows: From what subject have you received the most good this year? From what one the least good? What is your reason for attending high school? What proportion of your educational expenses is gained through your own effort?

H. S. NEWS BRIEFS

Miss Mildred Sinclair is reported to be quite ill of the scarlet fever.

The last bi-weekly grade sheets of the six weeks period were posted Friday.

The Girls' club held a short meeting Thursday to discuss matters of business.

Miss Gladys Rounds is absent from school on account of severe illness. It is hoped that she will soon recover and return to school.

The "R" club held a business meeting Thursday noon. Several urgent matters were discussed.

Mr. Elliott, of the state department of education, visited in the school Thursday. Mr. Elliott expresses confidence in the Roseburg high school and greatly compliments its faculty and students.

BIBLE TRAINING EXAMINATIONS TO BE HELD MAY 5.

The examinations in Bible training in both the New and Old Testament will be held at the high school on May 5th. These examinations are for the benefit of the student who takes this course in his Sunday school. A full credit is given to those who pass the examination. Many have found it advantageous to take this course both in gaining a credit and in gaining a knowledge of the Bible.

One of the most important class meetings for the year was held for the junior class Wednesday afternoon. At this time the classmen held solemn pow-wow to consider the coming senior banquet, which is always considered the biggest social event of the year for the high school students. For years, in fact ever since high school was established, this munction has been one of the traditions which is made big in the social life. All other socials and banquets fade into mere insignificance beside this. This year there will be no falling away from traditions. The banquet will be put over with the same success—we hope. And there is little reason to fear that it will be otherwise, because the junior class has proven that it really can work.

The committees appointed were as follows: Program, Glenn Radabaugh, chairman, Mary Reams, Grace Carrol, Roland Schwartz and Frances Humphrey; date and place, Clarence Searing chairman, Lucien Cobb, Elza Webber, and Kathleen Bonebrake; decoration, Vivian Orcutt, chairman, Ford Singleton, Grace Wickham, Ray Parslow and Lillie Christopherson. These committees, with the help of the whole class intend to put the banquet over in fine shape.

TICKETS ON SALE FOR OPERETTA

Tickts for the annual Glee club operetta, "The Bells of Beaujolais," to be held at the Antlers theatre on April 26th, were placed on sale yesterday. They may be secured from any member of the cast or from the box office at the Antlers. Reservations are also on sale at the box office. Prices without reservations will be 35, 50 and 75 cents.

In seeing this splendid little two-act musical comedy one has a double advantage. First, one is privileged to hear and see local histrionic talent at its height and second, one hears and sees the production of two artists of wide repute. The celebrated David Stevens is responsible for the unmatchable libretto and Louis Adolphe Caerne wrote the music. Both libretto and music are of an exceptional quality and when presented by the club will probably surprise more than one person.

CONTINUED MONDAY

Because of lack of space it was found impossible to print all of the school news today. News from the grade schools will be printed in Monday's issue.

Home Dressmaker Can Get Individuality With Handstitched Pattern on New Frocks

IT IS the handwork on a dress that raises it out of the wholesale class and puts it into a class by itself. It is the handwork on a dress that raises its value far above the level of machine-made things—and it is the handwork on a dress that gives it its individuality. Therefore, if you would have a unique dress, see that there is a touch of handwork on it.

Above are three dresses each with a handstitched pattern worked out on it in silk. Each pattern is small and simple, and polka-dots the whole dress. This is a stunt that the home dressmaker can do—she can select, or design, her own motif, and then apply it to the dress, thus stamping it with individuality.

In the upper sketch to the right, a simple wheel motif was chosen. It dots the whole dress at distant intervals, and is consequently very effective. The dress, by the way, is a simple chemise model, with a deep bertha with inserts of accordion pleats over each arm, matching the skirt panels at the sides. The pleatings are plain.

In the lower sketch, a cubist design was selected. It is made up of two squares of different colors with a wiggly little line below. This design is on a pongee dress, and is also on a pongee "chinky" parasol to match.

A dahlia design was worked out on the dress in the photo, with the result that it was found pretty enough to be put in the movies and worn by Agnes Ayres, Paramount star, who will be seen with Jack Holt in William deMille's latest picture, "Bought and Paid For." The skirt was polka-dotted with this motif, but the waist was left plain—the motif only bordering the neckline, and appearing in a group of three over each elbow. A ribbon of a dahlia shade circles the waist and hangs below a deep hem.

Forum Luncheon Tickets Going

Tickets for the second Forum luncheon are going as satisfactorily as were those for the first luncheon. The Forum committee reports the sale of 60 tickets today and a good many have made requests that tickets be held for them. The South Methodist church guarantees a first class luncheon, but they must know how many to prepare for and there is only a limited number of tickets to be sold. See the committee for your tickets at once or call at the chamber of commerce and secure them, as the sale must stop when 125 are reached.

The candidates have been responding nobly and will be on hand to present themselves for your inspection, and you will have the opportunity to give them the once over before deciding for whom you are going to vote. The Forum chairman announces a representative of the legislative tax commission will also be on the program.

Be on time, because the song leader hits the ball at 12 o'clock sharp.
