FARMS! FARMS!

One of the finest grain farms in Grande Ronde valley. Well improved, on line of paved road; price $140 per acre. This property will come to a little better than $10,000, and it will take at least $15,000 to handle it. In the best part of the wheat belt; good for 40 bushels.

Fifty-five acres of fine farming land on the Sandridge, at $115 per acre. There are no buildings. This would be a splendid investment for someone, as the income will amount to more than interest, and besides, the land will sell for more money within another year.

We have a fine farm not far from Alicel, consisting of 440 acres. The improvements are good. Nearly all of the land is under cultivation. A small amount of it to hay along the river bottom, and the balance to grain. Land in this locality is selling for better than $100 per acre, and there is no reason why this property shouldn't sell for that amount next year. The price just now much lower. Good reason for selling, and the best of terms.

We have a fine residence property just out of city limits, one acre. Nine room house, near new, modern, and only $2500. Only a small amount of cash required.

MUSCLES WERE TIED IN KNOTS

That is the Way McCoy Says His Rheumatism Made Him Feel

"Tanlac put me back on the job again and I'm ten pounds heavier than I was when I started taking it," said R. McCoy, a well known plasterer living at 606 Sixth Avenue South, Seattle, Wash.

"Stomach trouble and rheumatism had kept after me for six years until I had to quit my work entirely," he continued. "From the back of my neck down into my arms and shoulders the pains would strike me and it seemed that all my muscles were tied in knots. I couldn't lift my hand to my head and instead of getting relief I got worse all the time. In my right hip the rheumatism settled and I got so I couldn't move without being in such pain that big beads of sweat would form on my forehead. I would take a catch in my neck and for days I wouldn't be able to turn my head, and whenever I had to look to one side or the other, I would have to turn my whole body. My stomach was in a terrible shape. After every meal, my food would sour and form gas which crowded up into my throat and choked me until I couldn't get a deep breath and my heart would skip and flutter until I was afraid I had heart trouble. I was dizzy all the time and my head would skip and flutter until I was along the street without holding on to something. I was half starved because I couldn't eat anything to build me up and was going down hill all the time.

"I actually believe Tanlac has saved my life, for I couldn't have kept up much longer like I was. I saw Tanlac advertised in the papers and started taking it and commenced to improve before I had finished the first bottle. I have taken eight bottles so far and am back on the job feeling fine. I can do more work in a day now than I have been able to for years and am just like a new man. My meals are a pleasure to me for I can eat anything I want—and I sure want for my appetite has come back in full force. The fluttering spells with my heart have disappeared, gas does not form in my stomach and I haven't a pain left. I can almost run up a ladder when I am at work, for my arms and legs are as good as new since the rheumatism has gone. I can swing my arms in a circle like a school boy at play and never feel a catch or a tingle of pain and am just simply a well man, so it's no wonder I praise Tanlac, for it's the only medicine that ever helped me."

Tanlac is sold in La Grande by Silverthorne drug store; in Union, by L. A. Wright; in North Powder, by L. Russell; in Elgin by Scott E Harris, and in Telocaset, by Telocaset Grocery Store.

EMIGRATION IS A PROBLEM IN GERMANY

Correspondence of the Associated Press

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—The question of emigration forms a puzzling problem in Germany, all the more so because of the high taxation that is planned.

The empire is divided into two unequal camps—those who favor the emigration of between fifteen and twenty million Germans because they feel that Germany can only recuperate if it has a smaller population to nourish and support, and the vastly larger group that feels that emigration must not be allowed because the forces are needed here to take part in rebuilding and in paying taxes.

Financial experts estimate that a man represents to Germany a capital of 20 times his annual earning. As the average German workman now earns 2,000 marks, his capital would be 40,000 marks. If 20,000 emigrate each year as has been suggested, then the Fatherland is eight millions poorer each year, say the experts, and that much intrinsic capital is permanently lost. As the workman is the richest economic property Germany still possesses, emigration is a life and death question for Germany.

Judge Bamberger of Aschersleben, one of the many who have been discussing the emigration problem recently, declares that the new emigration bureau of the government must restrain each would-be emigrant at least six months, not only so that his case may be investigated but that he may have a chance to change his mind.

FORERUNNERS OF SICKNESS

Medical authorities agree that indigestion and constipation are the forerunners of half the ills of mankind. Don't [illegible] a bad digestion, dizziness, gas, bloating, sick headache, sour stomach, bad breath, coated tongue. Foley Cathartic Tablets, a wholesome physic, thoroughly cleanse the bowels without griping or nausea, sweeten the stomach and invigorate the liver. Sold Everywhere.—Adv.

WHITE PLAGUE IN RUMAN DISTRICT

BUCHAREST, (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The tuberculosis death rate in the Balkans is the highest in the world, asserts the medical staff of the American Red Cross headquarters. This is based on reports from Red Cross workers in Rumania, Serbia, Albania and Montenegro.

The distressing factor is that the countries are almost wholly without sanitoriums for the treatments of tuberculosis. Red Cross relief is temporary and it is considered beyond its province to found sanitoriums on the scale that would be needed.

Miss Viola L. Bohr, of Ripon, Wisconsin, a nurse who for many months had been treating patients in all parts of Albania reports that she found tuberculosis in almost every Albanian family. The percentage has been placed at about 80 percent.

Dr. Geraldine F. Watson, of Brooklyn, N. Y., reports: "Thousands of children are dying of consumption in Montenegro. The percentage of tuberculosis in children is fearfully high. The probable source of infection is the milk of tubercular cattle with which the country is overrun."

Dr. Margaret W. Johnston, formerly the superintendent of the Chicago hospital writes:

"Tuberculosis in its many forms is most prevalent throughout Serbia. The people are not educated so that trying to instruct them through interpreters is slow work. Only a graphic campaign with posters showing cause and effect has any value here who where ignorance of sanitation, diet and even household remedies is universal.

EASIER THAN LATER

It is easier to break up a cold or check a cough now than it will be later. Persistent bronchial coughs that "hang on" all winter pave way for serious throat and lung disease. L. W. Day, 65 Campbell Av., E. Detroit, Mich., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar relieves one of bronchitis very quickly. I hope never to have it again." This reliable family medicine for the relief of coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, etc., contains no opiates. Children like it. Sold Everywhere.—Adv.

Of 4000 schools in the state of Oregon, 150 have been unable to open this fall on account of lack of teachers, in spite of an increase of approximately 30 per cent in salaries.

PAULINE FREDERICK STARS IN "WOMAN ON THE INDEX"

When Miss Frederick as the heroine, happily married to a diplomat, is introduced to a friend of her husband she imagines that all is lost. This man she recognizes as a former detective. Now he is chief of the Secret Service. At once she knows he will reveal to her husband the fact that she is "the woman on the index"—that her name appears in the police records. But he does nothing of the kind. He is truly her friend.

He only asks that she encourages the attentions of a distinguished foreigner who is suspected of a connection with a threatened Bolshevik movement. The woman must carry on an intrigue with him, must deceive her husband—must lose his love, if need be. He appeals to her patriotism. What he asks is for America and only she can do it, for the suspect already is at her feet. The woman consents. What she endured while carrying out her promise, how she suffers and what it costs her, and what the amazing climax is, will be seen when the drama comes to an end.
