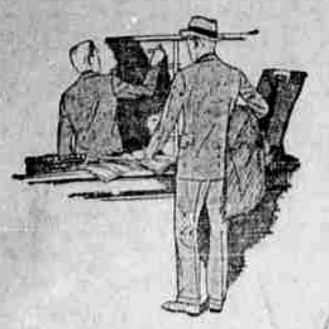
IT'S THE CUT OF YOUR CLOTHES THAT COUNTS



Service

Service is not an extra that we throw in because we are so good natured. We give you good service because it's good business. We want you to come back, and we know you won't unless the purchases you make here continue to please you after you have left the store.

The things a man buys at a store like this are very personal. If he invests in a suit that doesn't wholly satisfy him at the time, it's certain he will think less and less of it—and of us—every time he wears it.

When we sell you a Society Brand suit, we know perfectly well that three months from the day you bought it you will like it even more.

Amateur Actors Prepare To Invade Real Theaters

LONDON (AP).—London's 20,000 amateur actors will try this winter to get into the professional class. The 200 societies to which the amateurs belong have banded together and rented a West End theater where they will stage the best they can produce.

They will open the "season" about the first week in November with a gala performance organized by many different societies. Afterwards the societies will each take over the theater for a week and, should any of the productions prove popular, arrangements will be made to produce them at another theater.

DAWES AVERS WEST AROUSED

G. O. P. Nominee Declares Women of the Country Alert to Menace of Radicalism.

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Declaring the west was aroused and the women of the country were generally alert, Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for vice president, speaking here Thursday night called on the men of the east "to awake to a recognition of the vicious attack being made on the American constitution."

Mr. Dawes urged the voters of the eastern states to "do your duty in this fight for they'll do their duty in the great northwest where they realize that there is an issue at stake."

"There is one class of citizens that is awake to the great issue and that is the American woman," he declared. "She realizes this issue — this attack on the constitution by a mobilization of extreme radicalism—comes close to the home.

"The pinheads of the political committees have been advising me to preach one thing in one section of the country and another thing in another section, not to speak in Colorado on irrigation as an economic factor in the settlement of agricultural questions for fear of losing votes and not to discuss this and that thing here and not something somewhere else. Not so with the women in this campaign. They are not putting votes above principles."

Speaks to Crowd.

Mr. Dawes made his address, which was devoted entirely to an attack on the La Follette candidacy, to an audience that jammed and overflowed the Queen theater where John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate for president, spoke three weeks ago.

He arrived in Wilmington late in the day after a stop at noon at Lancaster, Pa., where, in a rear platform talk, he assailed the La Follette movement.

Leaving here early Friday Mr. Dawes will turn northward to make two speeches in the New York district, one Friday night and another Saturday night in Brooklyn. The nominee will spend the next three days mostly at the home home in Montclair, N. J., of C. A. Hanna, an old friend, resting as much as possible.

DAVIS STRIKES HARD

PUBLIC AUDITORIUM, Cleveland Ohio (By the Associated Press)—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for president, stood Thursday night on the platform where President Coolidge was nominated by the Republican national convention and interpreted what he said was the one issue of the presidential election contest—"the record of the Republican party during its present lease of power."

The candidate began his analysis by referring to the control of the legislative power which he declared was assumed by the Republican party in 1918.

Mr. Davis, however, was not permitted to proceed far before a heckler in the audience demanded to know what his attitude was in regard to the Ku Klux Klan.

"I cannot believe," Mr. Davis answered, "that there is any man or woman in the United States interested in the outcome of this election who does not know my position."

Makes Stand Clear.

For the information of the questioner, though, Mr. Davis departed from the subject he had been discussing and said:

"I stand for the fundamental guarantees in favor of religious faith and practices in the United States and against any threat to diminish the right of any man because of his choice to adopt the religion he learned at his mother's knee."

"If ever the time came when he would not be willing to speak in defense of these principles, Mr. Davis said: "I hope my arm will fall palsied to my side and my tongue will cleave to the roof of my mouth."

The candidate said he was a member of two secret organizations, the Masons and the Elks and asserted "if the day should ever come that they seek to enter the political field I would feel it my duty as a man and a citizen to sever my connection with them instantly."

Replying further to the questioner, Mr. Davis added:

"I do not believe, and in my judgment history will bear me out, that any lasting good ever can be accomplished by the inclusion into politics of any secret order whatever."

HUGHES SPEAKS FOR PRESIDENT

BALTIMORE (AP)—A sweeping defense of the foreign policy of the Coolidge administration was delivered here Thursday night by Secretary Hughes.

In a campaign speech answering one by one the criticisms made against his department by John W. Davis and Robert M. La Follette, the secretary of state denied that "secret commitments" had been negotiated abroad; declared there had been no trend toward a foreign policy based on imperialism; asserted that those who attempt to belittle the work of the arms conference only belittle themselves; insisted that the league of nations was not a campaign issue; and reaffirmed the desire of the administration to take every practicable step for world cooperation.

Screen Lessons Planned For Farmers of France

PARIS (AP)—The cinema world has offered its services to aid in the campaign against the high cost of living now being made by the French government. The president of the association of cinema directors, Leon Brezillon, has offered the use of 3,000 screens to educate the farmer and convert him to improved ways of raising food-stuffs.

Mr. Brezillon, as an example of what might be done, suggests that the poor ear of corn as raised in the eastern provinces of France, which counts hardly 50 grains, might be contrasted on the screen with those from the Beauce country, which have three or four times as many. He would show also the latest forms of machinery for cultivation, and the most profitable methods of raising poultry.

English Fruit Growers Adopt American Methods

COTTENHAM, Eng. (AP)—The first fruit-grading and packing station on American lines, to be established in this country, was inaugurated here last week. It is the property of the ministry of agriculture, which makes a standard charge for each box of apples graded and packed. Heretofore there has been no grading of apples in the Cambridgeshire fruit growing district, but with the application of the present American idea growers will be able to make a much better market. A similar station is planned in connection with the Herefordshire orchards.
