One good test—

—of the purity and stability of a motor oil is the amount of carbon it forms.

Zerolene forms, on an average, 30% less carbon than other oils. The carbon is soft and fluffy and most of it blows out with the exhaust. For this reason the Zerolene-lubricated automobile may be driven from 25% to 50% farther without having the valves ground or the cylinders rebored.

Zerolene forms less carbon than any other motor oil known to us.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less. Ask for it by name—Zerolene.

ROSEBURG WILL PLAY SUTHERLIN

The Roseburg baseball team will cross bats with the Sutherlin aggregation at Laurelwood field next Sunday afternoon for a fight to the finish, according to the manager of the local team. The match has been called for 2:30 and it is expected that a big crowd of fans will be present to boost the local team when they mix with the Sutherlin players. Sutherlin is reported to be determined in an effort to defeat Roseburg and is said to be lining up the most formidable string of players for the Sunday game. Although that team has not a very high standing in the league for the season, baseball fans who have seen their playing assert that the team is very strong in its class. With several additions to the regular lineup the Sutherlin pill twirlers will make the game interesting for the local team.

The Roseburg team is to line up about the same as usual, with Pruitt in the box, and with the same infield and outfield. The local boys say they don't plan a defeat at the hands of the Sutherlin players and expect to wallop them good. Several other home games will be played this season before the team packs away its suits, and despite the fact that it will be impossible to gain a close hold in the league championship, interest in the local team is for an active pennant.

MUCH INTEREST IN ESSAY CONTEST

INDIANAPOLIS, June 26.—(United Press.)—The second annual American Legion essay contest for school children throughout the country will close October 17, it was announced at Legion headquarters here today.

It was estimated by officers of the Legion that 250,000 children will compete this year. The subject for the essay is, "Why America should prepare for an indemnity for a period of five years."

The children of the nation will compete by a method of elimination. Co-operating with educational officials in every state, the Legion has made it possible to have county and city school heads pass on the best essays submitted from their schools and send them to the state committee.

There competent judges will pass on the essays and award silver and bronze medals and certificates of merit to winners of first, second and third places in each state.

The best essay of each state will then be submitted to the national committee composed of educators of national prominence. They will consider each essay for thought, style, originality of treatment, spelling and penmanship in determining rating of contestants.

When the committee determines the winners, special awards will be made, first in amount $250, second $500, and third $750, all of which must be applied on scholarship expenses at any college or university designated by the winners.

Last year's contest, in which honors entered were won by Ah Hon Chung, Chinese lad of Chinese extraction, who is now finishing preparatory school with Thomas Thurston, in Columbia, as second, and Joseph Giandimaro, Bridgeport, Conn., who submitted his essay in blank verse, was third.

Essays are limited to 500 words, written on one side of the paper, with name, address and age of each contestant attached. A short pledge is signed by the writer that the essay is entirely his or her own work. Age limits are from 12 to 18 years.

ASSOCIATION TO INCREASE STOCK

Umpqua Savings and Loan Association to Be Million Dollar Concern

EARNINGS WERE 9 P. C.

Stockholders Pleased by Fine Showing Made in Past 12 Months — Directors for Ensuing Term Chosen

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Umpqua Savings and Loan association was held at the Douglas Abstract office last night. There was a good representation of the stockholders present and all were well pleased with the reports which were given.

The Umpqua Savings and Loan association was started in 1917 with a capital stock of $200,000. It has been instrumental in the construction of a great number of homes and business buildings in the city and at the present time has 104 loans in force. During the past year the association has made 57 loans amounting to $74,000, all money being loaned on Roseburg property. Loans have been made on the construction of 15 new homes in Roseburg and for the erection of two large concrete business buildings.

The association, soon after it was started, was forced to start arrangements to increase its capital stock, which was finally made $500,000. Nearly all of this stock has been sold at the present time, and it will be necessary before the end of the present year to increase again to $1,000,000. The per cent of increase in resources during the past twelve months was between 45 and 50 per cent, and the earnings on the money invested was over 9 per cent.

The stockholders last night elected Glenn V. Wimberly, H. O. Pargeter and W. F. Harris as directors to serve for a term of three years. Following the stockholders' meeting, the directors met for a short time and organized the board, E. N. Ewart being chosen president; B. W. Bates, vice president; H. O. Pargeter, secretary; and Glenn Wimberly, treasurer. Appraisers appointed were M. E. Ritter, W. F. Harris and Guy Cordon.

FEARS ANOTHER WORLD CONFLICT

British Writer Says Nations of World Are Getting Ready to Fight Again

U. S. HOLDS SEA POWER

Great Britain No Longer in Control of Seas—France is Strongest Military Power in the World

(International News Service.)

LONDON, June 28.—"Where are these militarists leading the world? The country with the biggest battleship power is the United States. France is the greatest military power, with the strongest standing army in the world. Germany is supposed to be unarmed.... But that Germany intends to strike at the first opportunity there is no shadow of doubt. ....Russia is an enigma.....A large army congregated on its European and Asiatic borders. What for?"

These are questions raised by Sir John Foster Fraser, noted British writer, who asks whether world peace is not menaced more now than it was ten years ago.

"All the world is talking bout the necessity for peace," says Sir John Fraser, "and none of us has any stomach for another war. But if patriotic passion were again aroused as it was nine years ago, I suppose we would all rush, hot-blooded, into the conflict.

"It is enough to make the angels weep that after the greatest tragedy the world has ever known the nations should be showing their tooth more in 1923 than they did in 1913.

"Yet we British, while hoping for the best, are not preparing for the worst. We have reduced our army until it can almost be regarded as insignificant. We have scrapped our warships so that our boast about our naval superiority is an absurdity. There is a flutter of alarm about our deficiency in air defense.

"We tell ourselves, and hope that other nations are listening, that we have deliberately reduced our fighting strength because we hoped to set the other nations an example—although the real reason is that we really cannot afford the money.

Have "Fulfilled Pledges"

"At any rate we have carried out our pledge to the Washington Conference. America has not done so because, as she richly points out, France has a greater power today than in pre-war days and has not ratified the proposal to disarm.

"But what is quite certain, notwithstanding the Washington Conference, the United States, having seized the mastery in sea strength, will not relinquish it. Any plea that we may put forward that ours is a far-flung empire, scattered all over the earth, and that it is necessary to have the sea open for our commerce will go for no avail.

"There is no disputing among our own people that we should embark in a cut-throat competition with the United States in the building of warships as we formerly did with Germany. From a financial standpoint we have no chance of keeping pace.

"France is the strongest military power in the world today. She has the greatest standing army. Whilst her navy is not great, she is busy building submarines, and her enormous increase in provision for aerial warfare is causing many dignitaries in Whitehall to wonder what it all means, although they do not put their thoughts in words.

Cites French Preparedness

"Whilst the United States dumped its surplus ammunition in France into the sea, and we have broken down hundreds of tons of shells and returned the metal to industrial purposes, France has collected all her shells and they are stored in arsenals today.

"Though Germany is supposed to be unarmed—any navy has certainly gone—all the evidence is that the revival there is burning strongly on the banks of the Rhine. Speeches by German leaders that the growing youth of the Fatherland must be trained to release the mishap of 1918 are greeted vociferously.

"Evidence comes surreptitiously out of Germany that preparations are in progress for war, though when she will be able to strike, or how, we know little. But that Germany intends to strike on the first available opportunity we have no doubt whatever.

"France knows this. Though from an economic standpoint we may criticize the stranglehold that France has on the Ruhr, if we were Frenchmen we should probably do exactly what the French are doing.

French Fear Germany

"Dread and not militarism is the motive behind all the actions of France at the present time. She is holding the Ruhr, ostensibly to compel Germany to disgorge, but really because France wants the coal fields will in a few years Germany becoming powerful and she is not a little bit afraid such a nature will result in Alsace-Lorraine straight vengeance stalking in the wake.

"There are plenty of people in avid calculation, believing a clash between the United States and Japan is inevitable. I hope it is wrong. But if you ask me, though America would be perfectly in strength, I would hold most of the strength.

"Anyhow the world does seem to have learnt much which the ghastly years of 1914 to 1918 brought home to us. Some rankling wounds in the hearts of nations are more healed today than they were before the conflagration of the armistice five years ago."
