TO APPOINT COMMISSIONS

NOTICE POMONA GRANGE

Mrs. H. F. Hebard and daughter, of Umpqua, were in this city today transacting business matters.

BROCCOLI PLANTS ARE VERY SCARCE

Broccoli planting has been the order for several days past and the work will not be completed until sometime next week. There is great demand for broccoli plants; many of the growers finding that they were short, and had not sufficient plants to complete their plantings, and the country is being combed for any that may be available. If there are any growers who have more than they need, a ready market will be found for all such plants. Some of the larger growers will put out as much as 75 acres, and in most cases they are wanting more plants that are ready for transplanting at this time. W. A. Burr and O. H. Pickens were today starting a systematic search for any surplus broccoli plants that might be found, but were unable to locate more than 5000 or 6000 in any one place. Since 4500 to 5000 plants are necessary for an acre, the prospects of increasing their acreage very materially were pronounced remote.
