King George May Seek Job in This Country

BUCHAREST, July 13, (AP)—King George of Greece, throneless and jobless, soon may go to the United States to seek work.

Since his forced abdication in 1923, the young sovereign virtually has been living on the charity of friends and relatives. He, and his pretty wife, Elizabeth, the eldest daughter of Queen Marie of Rumania, lived until recently in two small rooms of the Royal Palace at Cotroceni, near Bucharest.

They did not eat with the king and queen of Rumania, but had their meals alone in their modest apartment and generally lived in the most frugal way.

Funds Give Out.

Now, however, their funds have given out, and the former king of the Helenes says he must find a job. Friends in the United States have urged him and the former queen to go there, promising both of them remunerative positions.

But Elizabeth, who is a retiring girl, is afraid they will not be able to stand the commercial and social pace in America.

La Grande Theatres

Colleges by the Dozen in Newest Conway Film

Dozens of the most important colleges in the United States and one English university are represented in the production of "Brown of Harvard," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, which is coming to the Sherry theatre today.

First of all, of course, there is Harvard. Many of the scenes of the picture were taken in and about Cambridge, Mass., and shots of the 1925 football game between Harvard and Yale have been incorporated in the released version.

Then Yale comes in for a bow in the person of Donald Ogden Stewart, who worked with director Jack Conway on the comedy construction of "Brown." Stewart is a graduate of Yale. Seton I. Miller, who plays a small part in the picture, is also a Yale man, having finished last year.

For the freshman crew as depicted in the production, the University of California crew doubled for both Harvard and Yale. These scenes were photographed in San Francisco.

Then the Univeristy of Southern California football team, played for the closeup shots of the Yale-Harvard game, with William Haines, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., Guinn Williams and other members of the cast appearing with the team.

The Southern Branch of the University of California served as backgrounds for several sequences. Jack Pickford and Mary Brian appear in these scenes.

Among the boys who were under contract to play "bits," during the making of the picture, were representatives of Penn, State, Columbia, Dartmouth, Missouri, Washington, two Princeton students, and one who has attended Oxford.

Berkova Productions To Be at Arcade Tomorrow

Have you ever wondered how you would look in motion pictures? Most all of us have and now the opportunity is almost at hand.

The Berkova Productions of Hollywood will start a two-day engagement at the Arcade theater on Wednesday, and will take actual motion pictures on the stage before the eyes of the audience. Several comedy bits are to be filmed and the cast of which will be selected by the director, his actors being people in the audience. Anyone who is at all interestted in how they will look on the screen is invited to be on hand at the Arcade theater and come up on the stage when called. There the director will take motion pictures of you and the completed film will be shown the following week on the same day as that on which it was taken.

After taking several scenes on the stage the entire audience will be filmed and everyone in the house will be afforded the opportunity of seeing themselves on the screen.

Many of Hollywood's most illustrious stars were discovered by some such method as this, many being selected by beauty contests, screen tests or other means of bringing themselves before the public's eye. If there is any young man or woman in La Grande who thinks he or she would make a good screen type, do not hesitate to be on hand and have yourself photographed. You might be fortunate enough to be a distinct type and be much in demand among motion picture producers.

In Hollywood screen tests cost from fifty to one hundred dollars, please bear in mind that the tests taken on the stage of the Arcade theater cost nothing.

Buck Jones, star of the Fox Films production, "The Cowboy and the Countess," at the Star Theatre today and Wednesday has never had a better vehicle in which to display his wonderful skill in roping and riding.

As Jerry Whipple, handsome young owner of the Boot Jack Ranch, he is seen first at his ranch where he gives practical demonstrations on his own stock. Then later in the picture he shows some fancy tricks, while touring Europe with his band of cowboys in a Western Rodeo.

The story of "The Cowboy and the Countess" has a highly original plot, dealing with the adventures of typical western cowhands in Europe. Their trip across is filled with uproariously funny situations and their adventures after they arrive are equally exciting.

Lovely Helena D'Algy plays opposite Jones in the role of Elsa Verlaine, the daughter of a Belgravian nobleman whom Jerry follows to Europe. It is not until the very end of the picture, however, that Jerry's love-affairs look even half-way hopeful, but eventually things straighten out in a most unexpected manner.

Others in the cast include Diana Miller, Harvey Clark and Fletcher Norton. R. William Neill directed the production.

A comedy is also being shown.

Kansas City cats are happy. About 500 dogs killed in rabies scare.

Comedy, Thrills And Mystery in "Black Paradise"

Romance, Thrills, Comedy and Mystery—all these are incorporated into "Black Paradise," the Fox Films production featuring Edmund Lowe, Madge Bellamy and Leslie Fenton, which comes to the Arcade theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

It is something new in the way of a story, something that is not purely a detective yarn, nor yet the story of a crook, but into which each element is blended in a way that will hold the attention of the audience from start to finish.

The plot centers around a beautiful young girl who discovers her fiance has broken his word to her and gone back to his profession as a burglar on the morning of their wedding. He comes to her apartment, while escaping from the police, and she becomes implicated in the affair through shielding him.

They escape to a sailing vessel, one of a fleet of rum runners, followed closely by the detective. Once aboard the boat the captain proves friendly to the young couple, and the owner of the boat and the contraband liquor enterprise turns out to be an old enemy of the detective.

From that moment on the action becomes more and more intense working up to a totally unexpected and unusual climax and ending.

Edward Piel, noted for his ability to portray sinister characters, is cast in the heavy role with Paul Panzer aiding him in his villainies. Harvey Clark, Dore Lloyd and Sam Blum complete the cast.
