DAILY DEVOTIONAL

DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

"Sell all that thou hast, and give to the poor and thou shalt have treasure in heaven." We have had an ancient human interest story, a leading citizen a rich man, engaged the Master Teacher in earnest conversation. Those who stood nearby were hopeful that a new convert of many interesting possibilities was about to be won. Perhaps Jesus was not so optimistic as were some of the disciples. He understood the dangers when anyone becomes too much interested in money. Doubtless this young ruler had been carefully reared by devout parents. He had been instructed in the principles of religious education. There had been developed within him a reverent attitude for the deeper things of the spirit—but he loved money. What a pity that money got in the way and blurred even his vision of the Christ. How tragic was the loss of such a follower. Jesus could have used him but for this one fundamental spiritual defect. In our day also there are marvelous possibilities for the divine human partnership, built upon the dedication of human resources to divine direction. Jesus desires the discipleship of those who will trust Him with the direction of their motives, interests and ambitions. Amen.
