Tea for Mrs. J. W. Hamilton

Mrs. J. W. Hamilton of Roseburg, wife of Judge Hamilton, house guest of Mrs. John A. Carson, was the inspiration for the tea which Mrs. Carson gave Friday afternoon, and which called together a small group of matrons. Mrs. Hamilton will go to Corvallis shortly to visit at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Clark, and before returning to Roseburg will again be the guest of Mrs. Carson in Salem.—Salem Capital Journal.

New Idea Club Has Annual Picnic

The annual picnic of the New Idea club of Edenbower was one of the enjoyable Fourth of July events this week. The picnic was held on the lawn at Laurelcrest, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Stewart. The members of the club, their husbands, and families, and a number of guests, including Miss Saunders of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. G. Sinniger, of Edenbower, and Dr. and Mrs. George Houck of Roseburg.

The lawn was very festive with flags and bunting, and the long table under the trees combined the patriotic motif with clusters of pink roses and sweetpeas. Dinner was served at six, and was followed by a short patriotic program arranged by the club. A display of fireworks and a social get-together time filled the evening. There were forty-three present.

Wedding Announcement Is Received

Announcements were received by friends here during the past week of the marriage of Charles C. Zweigart to Alice Cecila Buerger. The ceremony occurred at Seattle, Thursday, June 28. Mr. Zweigart will be remembered by many here, having been connected with the law office of O. P. Coshow. He spent two years in the army, and returned here following the war, staying but a short time. He is now in business in Seattle. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Buerger of Seattle, and they will make their home at 132 Melrose Ave. North, Seattle, after July 20.

100th Anniversary Is Celebrated

Friends and relatives of Mrs. Sarah Helmick gathered yesterday at her home at Seventh and Baker streets in honor of her one hundredth birthday anniversary. The guests were served with luncheon which was followed with a program. A basket of 100 roses was presented by the Modern Travelers. Mrs. Sarah Helmick requested that a part of the flowers be taken to the local hospitals.

The members of the Grace Presbyterian church presented Mrs. Helmick with a cake with 100 candles. The program was carried through as announced and included music and a reading by Mrs. Charles Childs. School children sang old songs.—Albany Democrat.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Clifford plan to leave Salem Sunday for Roseburg. They will motor out to "Mont Alto," one of the largest and most interesting ranches in Douglas county, situated upon the North Umpqua. Mr. Clifford will return to Salem after the Fourth, to join Mrs. Clifford, who will remain there, later, both to be away for several weeks' outing.—Salem Capital Journal.

It is time to drop the handkerchief! Aren't we getting just a little weary of the handkerchief trim? Dresses with handkerchief collars, hats with handkerchief drapes, blouses made of handkerchiefs, sashes made of handkerchiefs, bathing suits made of them. Isn't it time to "drop the handkerchief?" Let it go back to its old original duty!

Youngs Surprised in New Home

Surprising Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Young, who have recently moved to their new bungalow on South Main street, a gay group of their friends called on them Thursday evening. The new home was inspected and several tables of bridge were made up. The guests brought with them a delicious luncheon which was served after bridge.

Those who surprised Mr. and Mrs. Young were Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Allan, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Swaney, Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ockelman, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kellington, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Conlee, and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McElhinny.

For a year's study in France and a tour of European countries, Miss Jeanette Calkins, and Miss Catherine Dobie left yesterday afternoon and will sail from New York on July 11. In Portland they were joined by Miss Mary Townsend who will accompany them on the trip. They will take the Canadian Pacific route east, stopping for a short time at Lake Louise, Banff, and other points of interest.—Eugene Guard.

Lucille Redmond Announces Engagement

Miss Lucille Redmond, who taught in the English department of the Roseburg high school for two years, has announced her engagement to Walter Weech, of Helena, Montana, according to word which was received here this week by friends of Miss Redmond. A bridge tea, given by a friend of Miss Redmond recently, announced the engagement, the wedding to take place in the early fall. Miss Redmond resides at Redmond, Oregon, and Mr. Weech is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Weech of Billings, Montana. He is at present connected with the state highway department at Helena, and she has been teaching in the Billings high school for the past two years. Miss Redmond is a graduate of the University of Oregon, and also spent a year at the University of California.

Entertains for Mrs. Woodruff

Mrs. Ronald Woodruff of Reedsport was the honor guest Friday evening at a dinner sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wimberly. The dinner guests were Mrs. Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Whipple, Miss Lucetta Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wimberly. Additional guests were invited later to make up four tables of bridge, high honors falling to Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Whipple, and low to Jack Wharton and Miss Dixon. Those coming in later for bridge were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McElhinny, Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wharton, and Miss Dixon of Drain. A delightful profusion of Dorothy Perkins roses, Shasta daisies and cornflowers made the rooms very fragrant and attractive. The same flowers were used at the table.

Bridge Luncheon Complimenting Visitor

Mrs. Fred Schwartz invited the matrons belonging to the Friday Afternoon Bridge club at her home for a one o'clock luncheon Friday, complimenting Mrs. Ray Freeman of Madras, Oregon. Nasturtiums and snapdragons, in brilliant colorings, centered the table, and additional clusters of them were used about the rooms. Seated at the luncheon table were Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. A. J. Hochradel, Mrs. J. R. Farrington, Mrs. B. W. Bates, Mrs. Irvin Brunn, Mrs. Clair K. Allen, Mrs. Victor Peterson, little Shirley Mae Brunn, and Mrs. Schwartz. Bridge honors for the afternoon fell to Mrs. J. R. Farrington, and consolation to Mrs. Clair K. Allen.

Fourth of July Picnic at Winstons

Of the many Fourth of July festivities none was more entertaining, or more enjoyed than the picnic held at the W. C. Winston home at Winston. Long tables under the trees were piled high with delicious refreshments, and the afternoon was spent with swimming, games and other outdoor amusements. Ice cream and cake were served on the river late in the afternoon. Many motored out to the picnic from Roseburg, and other parts of Douglas county.

Rev. Alleeson and Wife Are Guests Here

Rev. and Mrs. T. R. Alleeson and three children of Seattle are welcome visitors here this week. Rev. Alleeson was formerly rector of St. George's church here. They are accompanied on their visit by Miss Wing, Mrs. Alleeson's sister. They are guests at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Carrick, and will visit numerous other friends while in Roseburg. On Tuesday, Miss S. Smith entertained informally for them, inviting several old friends to spend the afternoon.

Among the many gay Fourth of July picnic parties was that of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Finley and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wimberly, who with their families motored to North Deer Creek, and spent the day camping in that beautiful spot.

Mrs. George Kilburn of Roseburg, passed through Ashland Saturday going to Dunsmuir to visit her mother who is ill. Arline stopped off here to visit Juanita Ross and Alden in the guest of John and Mark Koehler.—Ashland Tidings.

Mrs. J. A. Zburlek and three children who have been guests at the Columbia for the past several weeks, leave for their home in Roseburg tomorrow.—Ashland Tidings.

The Barker camp on North Deer Creek has been opend for the summer, and has been christened "Brookside," by Mrs. Barker. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Broadway, and Mrs. Louis Jones and little son of Portland, are already at "Brookside." They are planning on having many guests during their sojourn in the beautiful spot.

Miss Helen Grae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Grae of Wilbur, has departed for an extended trip east. Miss Grae will stop in Washington, Montana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and may attend school in Chicago next year.

J. H. Pounder of Long Beach, California, is a guest at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pounder. He will make an extended visit in Roseburg.

Mrs. T. E. Grae of Wilbur has had as her house guests during the past week, Miss Ruby Lokeh and Miss Alice Lokeh of Friesland, Minnesota. Miss Ruby Lokeh is principal of a school at Friesland. They are making an extended trip through the west, visiting Yellowstone park and other points of interest, and will stop at Seattle for a short time before leaving for Minnesota.

Dinner for House Guest Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Waite entertained informally at dinner Sunday, honoring their house guest, Mrs. Sarah B. Childs, of San Francisco. Seated at the table were Mrs. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dunn, Harry Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Waite, and Miss Kathryn Waite.

A picnic party composed of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Whipple and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McElhiney and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wharton and Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton, spent the holiday this week in the woods, enjoying an outdoor gathering.

Mrs. A. J. Hochradel has as her house guest this week her sister, Mrs. Ray Freeman, of Madras, Oregon. Several informal social affairs are planned for Mrs. Freeman during her stay here.

Mrs. Ronald Woodruff, of Reedsport, who has been the guest of her cousin, Carl Wimberly, and of Mr. Lucetta Smith, for the past week, has been the inspiration for several social affairs. Mrs. Woodruff will be remembered as Miss Lola Kent, and taught at the Benson school in Roseburg, prior to her marriage.

Mrs. D. P. Fisher and aunt, Mrs. Letia Abel, of Lincoln, Nebraska, are attending the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs convention at Portland. Following the convention Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Abel will visit with relatives in Portland, Corvallis, and other points. Mrs. Abel is a prominent resident of Lincoln, and has property interests at Florence which she will attend to while in Oregon. Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Abel will return to Roseburg before Mrs. Abel's departure for Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bradburn of Winston, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Dunham, of Marshfield, have returned from a months visit in California during which they toured the southern part of the state by automobile. Mr. Bradburn looked after oil interests while in California. Mr. and Mrs. Dunham returned to their home in Marshfield Thursday.

Mrs. Sarah B. Childs, of San Francisco, is a house guest at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Waite. Mrs. Childs is spending the summer with the Waites and has inspired numerous social functions during her visit here.

Miss Elizabeth Parrott, who has been visiting in Portland for the past month, returned yesterday.

Mrs. J. Ted Smythe left this morning for Portersville, California, where she will visit for several months.

Dress Notions For Vacations

No girl wears her heart on her sleeve these days. But the practical girls wear her cute little handkerchief on her sleeve. She has a tiny pocket made in the sleeve of her crepe de chine dress, a dress whose chief attractions are solid, short sleeves, between neck and full skirt gathered into an elastic waistband.

Color has taken possession of the tennis court, as white has been declared taboo because it is unbecoming to most girls and because it gets so easily. The head bandeau matches the shade of the tennis frock this year and no hats are worn except, now and then, a soft little affair of white felt. Yellow, jade and old blue are favorite colors of the tennis girl.

Few years ago no one would have planned a trip without first planning the traveling suit and providing several white blouses. While the traveling suit is still worn by winter sojourners it has no place in the wardrobe of the summer traveler. Nothing will be more uncomfortable than a tailored suit when a white blouse for traveling is worn under heat. The wash blouses with loose lines and soft sleeves keep at the armpits and the dark monotone dress has lost all their traditional terrors. Of course there must be an accompanying lingerie, a short sack or a topcoat as the weather permits.

For an extra blouse I should recommend a tailored, tub dark green one of silk crepe and one of light weight cloth material, two dinner dresses of lace or some equally washable material, a dancing frock and two sport ensembles with separate skirts for morning wear. This list can be expanded according to one's pocketbook but it should prove adequate for any woman, except of ten days.

Felt hats are considered quite as smart if not smarter than straw hats this summer, but if the warm days continue it is hoped that we will see less of them. Any hat that heats the head is undesirable, as nothing does more toward making the hair fall out. We are all inclined to lose hair more freely in summer than in winter months and we should do all that we can to prevent unnecessary falling of the hair.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

by MRS. ELLSBURY

(Address all communications to Mrs. Ellsbury, care of News-Review.)

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury:—I am a young man of 18, and engaged to a girl of 22. We have been engaged to each other for several months. Lately she has been very friendly with a new comer here, about 28 years old. He is a nice fellow, and they are very congenial and seem to be very happy together. I have nothing at the present time, and we could not be married for at least two or three years. I really love her, but I am almost sure that she is in love with this other man and only going with me because we are engaged, and she is too good to break the engagement. What can I do? I have thought of going away, and I had a good opportunity at least better than I have had here. Shall I take it, and what shall I say to her?

TRUTH TELLER.

Truth Teller:—I think you have shown a very fine spirit toward the girl, and have proven yourself to be a gentleman. Yes, I think it would be good for you to go away, especially if you have an opportunity as you said. Tell her when you go that although you love her you do not feel that you should bind her to a long engagement, especially as your prospects are not the best. Tell her that you do not wish to bind her, and for her to go ahead and have a good time. Perhaps things will come out all right, and you both may find that you love each other. If she is really in love with the other man, she will feel free to do as her heart dictates.

MOVIES

Liberty Theatre

Thrilling events and equally thrilling a thing—these are the dominant notes of "The Girl I Loved," the second of Charles Ray's features for United Artists, at the Liberty Theatre tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday.

The inimitable Ray is a new artist to many of his admirers in this memorable chapter from real life, in which he impersonates the poet James Whitcomb Riley, in a dramatic revival of Riley's own personal love story as it was related by him in the little-known but authentic verses bearing the same title as the photoplay. This intimate fact that the spectator is actually looking into the heart of one of our great Americans is its vastly to the appeal of the picture.

No masculine heart could wish for more virility and punch than there is in "The Girl I Loved," and no woman could think with kindlier heart response than is possible in this romance, for Ray embodies that appealing ardor that all the fair sex sin said to dream of as a part of the ideal lover.

Antlers Theatre

A romance across South, colored with satire and humor and sprinkled with mystery, furnishes the basic story behind the new John M. Stahl production, "Our Dear Girl," at the Antlers Theatre Sunday. Produced by Louis B. Mayer and released through First National, it is taken from the widely read novel of the same name by Frances Simpson Gerard.

Among the leading characters are Alex Hamilton (Milton Sills), a young surgeon of great skill and high ideals; Faith (Claire Windsor), a beautiful, charming girl, past twenty, who is the talk of the town within a few weeks of her arrival; Henry Garrett (Henry B. Walthall), owner of the Owl Cafe, a gambler and general ne'er-do-well, admired by all but Hamilton until just before his death when he proves to be a real hero; Maggie Thornton (Jessie Ralph), a young woman whose kindness constitutes a haven of refuge for everyone in trouble. In the balance of the cast are Doris Pawn, Shannon Day, Donald Macdonald, Faith Taylor, Joseph Depew, Anne Sin, Fred Kelsey, Nick Thoter, William Marion, Stanley Walbridge and Albert Macquarrie.

Antlers Theatre

As the heroine of the story of "Hard Boiled," her latest Paramount picture shown at the Antlers Theatre, Miss Dalton falls from a big pedestal down "Broadway" that she is sitting at a horse show. Miss Dalton as Rose Rutherford, is strong and artistically natural. The opening scenes showing Rose's rise to an Deception screen Mohamed Ali which provide a brilliant contrast, make up an interesting and utterly unsentimental.

The story was written by Edmund Goulding and directed by Victor Fleming. In the supporting cast are Robert Ellis, Jane Rubes, Ellen Cassidy, Pat Earrigan and Warren Cook.

Turkish Trousers Are Boon To Woman Working in Home

FOR the woman who sews at home, for the girl who studies at home, for the artist, writer, or professional woman who works at home; for the woman who does her own housework—there is nothing like donning a pair of Turkish trousers to do it in, according to Anna Q. Nilsson, featured player in Paramount pictures.

The material, and the decoration thereof, and the pattern of the accompanying coates or robe, depend on what's to be done in the costume. For housework, for instance, trousers and coat should be of the plainest and most practical pattern to allow perfect freedom for wielding the broom or pushing the vacuum cleaner and getting back into the corners of the room after the dust.

So much for the housework. It is not with that trousered costume that we are concerned. It is with the silken outfit, the kind that Miss Nilsson wears in the new picture, "The Ruffle of Silk." And the suit that started this article and led to an interview. The lovely actress asserts that for the intimacy of the boudoir there is nothing more appropriate for lounging, than the silk bloomers fashioned after the manner of those of the Turks. She is shown wearing them in the photo above. You'd hardly know it, for the robe of grey crepe de chine that costs it is quite long. It is slit up the centre, and shows the black trousers. These are bound in silver ribbons about the ankle, the ribbons being about two inches in width, and tying. The beadwork on the coatee is done in steel beads, and a leafy design is followed out. From this robe, at the shoulders floats a long "cape" of orchid chiffon. This is very beautiful, but more decorative than practical.

A similar costume is shown in the sketch to the right. This also has the bloomers and the coatee. But this latter is fashioned very much after the style of the frock of the day. It fastens over to one side under a cabochon, and then hangs in a plain shirred skirt, slit up the left side.

And, oh, yes! Imagine a housework in gingham! Blue plain trousers and blouse in matching blue and white check!
