STATE COOLIDGE MANAGER IS HERE

Senator I. L. Patterson Spends Day in Roseburg Laying Foundation for Campaign.

CLUBS TO BE STARTED

Southern Part of State to Be Organized First and Then Start Work in Willamette Valley.

I. L. Patterson, state manager of the Coolidge presidential campaign, reached Roseburg today on his trip into the southern part of the state for the purpose of starting the campaign for Coolidge's nomination. Mr. Patterson states that it is his plan to organize the southern part of Oregon, then the Willamette valley, and then eastern Oregon. Starting in Roseburg today he plans to lay the foundation for the organization of a number of Coolidge clubs. These clubs will handle the local side of the campaign, distributing literature, arranging meetings, and otherwise aiding in the effort for the nomination of Calvin Coolidge for president.

Mr. Patterson states that he is meeting with leading and active republicans all over the state, and finds the sentiment for Coolidge to be growing daily. The president's firm stand on national matters, coupled be his foresighted policies, is winning him strong political friends each day, and his nomination in this state is practically certain.

After meeting with the leading republicans of Roseburg and laying plans for the campaign here Mr. Patterson will go to Ashland, Grants Pass and Medford where he will confer upon the organization of the Coolidge forces. He will stop in Roseburg on his return from the south. After the week is concluded in the southern part of the state organization work will be undertaken in the Willamette valley and eastern Oregon in turn.

The political differences which have split Oregon in the past do not appear to be affecting the coolidge situation, Mr. Patterson stated. The state in the recent election has been hotly divided over politics and factional issues, but in the present time these lines are appear to be this situation relative to the coolidge candidacy, and it is believed that partisans of this persuasion will enter into the promotion.

MEXICO TROUBLES NOT YET SETTLED

Brownsville, Texas, received reports that the garrison at Monterey, capital of Nuevo Leon, in Northwest Mexico joined the rebellion.

Rebel forces claimed the capture of Celayo, cutting off the federal army at Guadalajara (western front) from Mexico City.

Reported occupation of Guadalajara by federals still is unconfirmed, but capture of the city is believed by Tampico to be imminent.

Revolutionists advised American Consul Wood at Vera Cruz of their decision "to raise the blockade of Tampico."

The rebel occupation of Claduade, Victoria, was brief, according to Tampico, the revolutionaries evacuating the city capital of Tamalpais, (eastern front) on the approach of a federal contingent.

Federals claimed the capture of Zacamiztla and petroleum camps nearby.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Mexican revolutionary leaders have advised Consul Wood at Vera Cruz of their decision "to raise the blockade of Tampico."

Consul Wood reported the announcement to the state department today but did not see definitely whether the revolutionists' decision was to permanently raise the blockade, or whether it was of a temporary nature as had been previously reported. He asked for further information.

The chief of the federal garrison has issued a public proclamation giving rebel sympathizers 72 hours to leave the city. The commander also offers them facilities for joining the insurrect forces. The departure of of this element, it is believed, will put a stop to the many alarmist reports.

Military activities in the oil region resulted yesterday in the capture by federal forces of Zacamixtla and Petroleum camps nearby.

Revolutionists who had gained control of Iradio Victoria, the capitol of Tamalpais, evacuated the town upon the approach of a federal contingent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—As another step in its efforts to aid the Obregon government, the United States has ordered discontinued the sending of mail by steamer to the Mexican states of Vera Cruz, Campeche and Yucatan. Hereafter the mail will be turned over to the Mexican federal postoffice authorities at Laredo for disposition or delivery.

The action was taken by the postoffice department on request of the state department. It will further isolate the revolutionary area since reports have indicated that there is no way of forwarding mail from federal to rebel territory in Mexico.

HAT SHOP SOLD TO MRS. M. SAUL

Mrs. M. Saul, of St. Helens, today purchased at Hat Shop from Miss Letilia Abrams. Mrs. Saul has been conducting Milady's Shop at Portland, and recently disposed of that business and is moving to this city to reside.

She expects to continue the business under the same name, at least for the present time, but in addition to the millinery will install a modern hemstitching department, and an exclusive line of ladies' wearing apparel. Several improvements are underway in the building occupied by the Hat Shop and as soon as these are completed Mrs. Saul expects to have a good stock of ladies' wearing apparel on hand.

Miss Abrams, who is retiring from the business, has not yet announced her plans for the future.

Miss Ethel Webb the proprietor of The Art Shop will continue to conduct her art needlework and baby goods department in the same location.

CHOICE CUTS OF MEAT PREFERRED

National Livestock and Meat Board Try to Educate Housewives.

MUCH MEAT CONSUMED

Increase in Meat Consumption Should Bring About Greatly Improved Conditions.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SALT LAKE, Utah, Jan. 23.—Housewives these days are ordering more of the so-called choice cuts of meat such as sirloin, tenderloin, porterhouse and lamb chops, and the National livestock and meat board is trying to convince them that cheap cuts should also be bought as they are just as appetizing, nutritious and palatable.

This was the information conveyed to delegates attending the annual convention of the National Wool Grower's Association here today, by R. C. Pollack, managing director of the board.

"Consider the vast volume of business conducted by the industry during the year of 1923 just closed," he said. "In the previous year of 1922, a record had been set for meat consumption in the United States, but 1923 came to the front and snatched the honors of consumption by a wide margin.

"While complete official figures are not available for the latter year, it is estimated that the American public consumed in excess of 17,500,000,000 pounds of meat. This tops the figure of 1922 by approximately 1,500,000,000 pounds and represents a marked increase in the demands made on livestock production.

"An increase in meat consumption such as has occurred in recent years, if continued, should bring about greatly improved conditions in the livestock industry. It is shown that the industry is winning its battle against cranks, fadists, and other radical factions that have been a menace for years with their insidious propaganda against the eating of meat."

DOUGLAS COUNTY TO HAVE EXHIBIT

Captain A. E. Burchduff, state game warden, spent last night in Roseburg conferring with local sportsmen regarding the Oregon Outdoor Life exposition to be held at Portland on Feb. 18 to 21, inclusive. L. L. Crocker, of this city, one of the officers of the local Rod and Gun club, is a member of the advisory committee, and Mr. Burchduff spent considerable time talking over with him the matters pertaining to the coming exposition.

As Douglas county is the leading game county in the state, and has more to offer than any other county, it is desired to arrange for a big exhibit. The local sportsmen are very anxious that this section of the state shall be well represented, and hope to have a big booth with an attractive and interesting display. The run club has agreed to pay the cost of the crane for the exhibit, the Chamber of Commerce has agreed to furnish booklets and other necessary publicity material, and L. L. Crocker has agreed to donate his time and expense in going to Portland and managing the exhibit. It is probable that other residents of the city will be called upon for small amounts to aid in defraying the other expenses which will be incurred in collecting and shipping the exhibits from this county.
