M, Ore., July 15.—The high- mission today awarded the for the construction of the le river bridge at Albany nion Bridge Co., Portland on f $245,306 submitted June the terms of the cooperative t, the county of Linn, pays $112,500, the city of Albany $35,000 and the state the balance, excepting approximately $2,000 assessed by the public service commission against the railroad companies as their share of eliminating the grade crossings on Water Street. This bridge consists of four 200 foot steel through truss-spans with reinforced concrete viaduct approaches on each end.

Construction will start at once and will be rushed through to completion. It is expected that the new bridge will be open to traffic October 1, 1925.

GUARANTORS BEHIND

The guarantors for the 1924 chautauqua have been forced to make up a deficit of about $300 on the contract for this year. This was done by each guarantor purchasing two extra tickets. The guarantors are now disposing of these extra tickets at a price which is reduced in proportion to the numbers already given. Persons who still desire season tickets are asked to procure them from the guarantors in order to keep the loss as low as possible.

W. L. Cobb Buys Ranch—
W. L. Cobb returned home yesterday after spending the past two weeks in eastern Oregon. While on his trip Mr. Cobb purchased an 80-acre sheep ranch in Lake county which he will develop in the near future. He reports that the cattle and sheep business is on a slump at the present time on account of the extremely dry weather, but that the lumber industry seems to be especially good.

Famous Men Visit Roseburg—
Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the University of New York, whose criticisms of the Volstead act last spring shook dry circles to the foundation, returned to Roseburg late today with the William H. Crocker motor party and will leave tomorrow for the coast country. Dr. Butler is one of the foremost educators of the country and has been identified closely with republican politics, being vice-presidential candidate in 1912. William H. Crocker, California multi-millionaire, has long been identified with politics and banking on the Pacific coast. The distinguished pair spent Sunday night here and left yesterday for Crater Lake. They avoided newspapermen, stating that they were not seeking publicity but merely on a pleasure jaunt.

Boosting For Reedsport—
"It's a wonderful country, just wonderful. Trees big and straight and more trees there than in any other part of the United States, I'm told. And milk and cream—say, the cream is so thick it will scarcely run. The cream you get in Portland is like skimmed milk by comparison. The country is marvelous. A big river and shipping—say, you should see steamers sailing out to the ocean with a million feet of lumber for a cargo. And everything is green, no snow and no cold weather. Ideal dairy conditions. The whole country, including Coos Bay, has a great future. And there are potatoes, right out of the ground, at 5 cents a pound by the sack. Saw a man sell ten sacks, $50 worth, Saturday afternoon. Put anything in the ground and it will grow." Arthur Baines, formerly in the city hall but now a resident of Reedsport, Ore., is speaking. Mr. Baines has lived at Reedsport for the past nine months and is so enthusiastic over the country that he talks like a chamber of commerce booler. Reedsport has never had a more fervid advocate. Time was when Mr. Baines liked to talk politics, but now his entire conversation is centered in the lower Umpqua territory.—Portland Oregonian.

Wilsons Return to City—
Mr. and Mrs. Horace G. Wilson and daughter, Ellomay, returned to Roseburg today from Bandon where they have spent the past few days. They returned to Oregon from Long Beach, California, last week and will reside in Roseburg for several months. The Wilsons have always claimed Roseburg as their home and say that they are very glad to again be back among their old friends.

Letter Is Published—
A facsimile of a letter written by Will E. Holbein, secretary of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce to A. E. Dodley, manager of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, lauding the activities of the state chamber in Douglas county, is published in this month's issue of "Oregon Business." The letter thanks the state officers for their cooperation which resulted in bringing twenty four bona fide settlers to Douglas county.

Aiding District Attorney—
A. F. Pederson, secretary to Assistant Superintendent D. S. Wier, of the Southern Pacific, is working temporarily in the office of Guy Cordon, district attorney. Mr. Pederson's position was withdrawn during the slack season, and rather than go to Portland where he could have continued his work, Mr. Pederson chose to remain in Roseburg, as he has his home here. Because of poor health, Miss Clara Patrick, who has been employed regularly in the district attorney's office, has been forced to quit her work for a time, and Mr. Pederson is working in the position for the time being.

Kiwanians Meet Today—
The Roseburg Kiwanians were disappointed today in not hearing the scheduled speaker, Ralph Bingham, chautauqua lecturer, who was unable to make train connections and arrive here in time for the noonday luncheon. Mr. Bostwick, director of the local chautauqua, made a talk in which he outlined the service to a community rendered by his fine programs brought here under the management of the Ellison-White circuit. He received the closest attention and it was quite evident that the Roseburg Kiwanians were very interested in the future of chautauqua in this city. Saturday afternoon is Children's Day at the Chautauqua, the local Kiwanis club will be host to children of Roseburg who are unable to attend. Kenneth Quine, John Farrington and Tom Ness is the committee appointed to take charge of the distribution of the free tickets and those knowing of children who will be unable to attend are requested to get in touch with them at once. The Kiwanians also voted to go to Sunset Beach near Marshfield on July 27th to meet with the Marshfield and Reedsport Kiwanians. On Friday night at 6:30 the local club members will go to Hanan Field and clear it of rocks. The field will also be marked at that time so that airplanes can be safely landed there.

NEGRO'S DEATH IS SAID TO BE MURDER

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

MARSHFIELD, Ore., July 15.—That Timothy F. Pettis, negro bank janitor whose mutilated body was found in Coos Bay last Saturday came to his death at the hands of some unknown person or persons was the verdict returned by the coroner's jury at the conclusion of hearing of the testimony.

There was nothing in the evidence to indicate who might be responsible for the man's death. The investigation by the officials will continue and the case will be taken before the next grand jury.

NARCOTIC CARGO CONFISCATED

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

ABERDEEN, July 15.—One thousand tins of narcotics valued by dealers at $85,000 were confiscated at Chehalis, Wash., aboard a train bound for San Francisco, Calif., after it was smuggled off the Steamship George Allen here, according to United States Deputy Collector W. A. May, who made the seizure and who arrested Robert N. Samuels and two Chinese.

AT THE THEATRES

Liberty Theatre

Richard Talmadge in "Let's Go!" which will be the main attraction at the Liberty theatre for two days, the latter part of the week, is a combination of romance and thrills which makes for the highest type of screen entertainment.

The story revolves about the ne'er-do-well son of a wealthy business man who is literally forced into his opportunity for making good. After having detoured around all the policemen he could think of in his speedy roadster, the young man is confronted by one who had followed him to his father's office. To escape he actually jumps from the third story window of an office building directly into an automobile below and makes good his escape. From that point on starts the most amazing series of death-defying stunts ever shown in a motion picture.

Richard Talmadge, the star, performs every stunt himself without the aid of dummies, doubles or trick photography of any kind. Every thrill in "Let's Go!" is an honest-to-goodness thrill. Among others there is a fight depicted between the star and two characters which continues uninterrupted over a distance of about two miles.

Antelers Theatre

Remember "Passion," "Mad Love," "Shadows of Paris," and the other big successes with Pola Negri?

Remember the promise made the picture public that in her next picture Pola Negri would absolutely return to that kind of role which first made her the internationally-famed dramatic actress she really is?

Well, the picture that fulfills the promise is here!

It's "Montmartre," and Ernest Lubitsch production for Paramount, which comes to the Antlers theatre tonight and Wednesday.

In "Montmartre," Pola more than just returns to that type of part in which the public first remembers her. According to those who have already seen the picture, Pola gives a far more finished performance than in any of her earlier productions, whether they happen to be European or American made.

The Philosophy of Two Men!

JOE thinks dressing up is bunk. He supposes that a man who wears attractive clothes is a dude. Joe seldom buys a new suit—there's always room for another patch on his old one. He doesn't put on a clean collar every morning. He wears one necktie until it wears out. Frayed cuffs don't worry him a bit. He should worry about clothes.

FRANK thinks clothes play an important part in business. He always dresses well. He selects his clothes with care. He treats them right. He isn't extravagant, but he doesn't practice false economy. He looks keen and clean, for he is a keen dresser.

JOE is thirty-seven now, and he's making thirty-five dollars a week. He's been at the same job for six years—a steady old horse, of course, but slow and old-fashioned.

FRANK is twenty-nine. Already he's well on the road to success. He gets more than five thousand a year, belongs to a good club and has a lot of prosperous friends—all well dressed.

Clothes helped Frank to succeed. Clothes held Joe back. Clothes stamped Frank as a success. Clothes plainly showed Joe to be a failure.

DRESS WELL AND SUCCEED!

FIREFIGHTER IS OVERCOME BY HEAT

Harley Troxel, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Troxel, was overcome today while fighting fire near Brockway. A fire started on the Ed Zachary place and a number of neighbors responded to the call for help. Troxel was in the thick of the fight and was finally overcome by the smoke and heat and collapsed.

He was carried out and placed in an automobile and rushed to this city by Marion and Elbert Hixon, and was taken to the office of Drs. Sether and Stewart where he was given attention by Dr. Stewart. His lungs were full of smoke and he was scorched about the face and head, but it is not believed that he will suffer any permanent effects from the accident.

RAISE IN PAY IS GRANTED OPERATORS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, July 15.—The United States railroad labor board today granted 1,921 telegraph service employees of six railroads increases in wages aggregating $8,422, monthly or $101,064 yearly. The increases, effective tomorrow were denied to agents at small non-telegraph stations and to telegraph employees of one road. The employees were represented by the Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

The roads on which increases were granted include: Missouri, Kansas and Texas, one cent, and Oregon Short Line, two cents.

The board held that no general increase should be made at this time, but that "certain inequalities" should be corrected.

Several rules were prescribed for the roads and also for the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company.
