Hearse Stuffing New College Fad

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI) —Fifty Colorado State University students have put a new, pensive twist on a college craze to stuff something with students.

Last weekend all half-a-hundred of them were jammed inside a 1941 hearse at the same time. Thursday they challenged anybody to break the record.

The owners of the hearse — which, by the way, is a Packard — are ten CSU freshmen who each plunked down $12.50 for the near-relic.

The CSU Collegian, the student newspaper, said the hearse stuffing idea was derived from telephone booth stuffing which spread across many campuses a few years ago.

But students thought the new idea was better: More persons can participate, and the prestige is higher.

The owners of the car also may start another craze — a five-way double date.

Joe Dent has returned to his home here, following a few days in Portland attending the State School Board Association meeting.

Mrs. J. Jarvis Robertson, who underwent major ear surgery in St. Vincent's Hospital in Portland this week, arrived back at her home here Thursday night and is now convalescing at her home.

Boy, 4, Survives Nine-Story Fall; Hurts Are Minor

SWANSEA, Wales (UPI) — Four-year-old Anthony Davies looked up from his hospital cot and said: "I flew like a bird, dad."

He did, too—nine floors—and suffered only minor chest injuries in the fall.

Women saw him plunge 100 feet from his parents' bedroom window like a bundle of rags and bounce on the sloping lawns below the apartment house.

Two men told his mother: "We're afraid your little boy is dead." She collapsed.

Anthony was not dead. He was alive and crying for his mother.

Doctors who were awaiting him were astonished when he arrived at the hospital. The boy was conscious and suffered no broken bones.

By MRS. KARL HUMMEL

James Dodd of Yoncalla has returned home from Cottage Grove Hospital where he underwent minor surgery.

Charles Emery is still a patient at Douglas Community Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allen are preparing to move out to the Earnest Warner farm and Mr. and Mrs. Tyrell Wise will move into the Allen house. The two families plan to complete their moving over Thanksgiving week end.

Officers of the Halo Squaws are planning a Thanksgiving dinner for members and guests to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 19, at the City Hall. The Rev. E. J. Aschenbrenner will visit the Yoncalla Methodist Church on Dec. 8. This will be a family potluck night and the regular board meeting will be held in the afternoon. Air Base Gets Rocket Scare

PORTLAND (UPI) — The colonel took a dim view of things after getting a letter from a Canby high school boy.

The letter from Greg Rousett, 16, said he had built an 18-inch rocket that would fly more than a mile high. He said he planned to fire it at an 80-degree angle toward the general direction of the base.

The youth went on to request the colonel for any information he could provide as to its peak altitude and "in any case tell your radar operator so he will not be alarmed if he picks it up."

Col. Alfred Johnson, the base commander, asked the sheriff's office to look into the matter. It did and found out that Greg has been making and firing rockets for four years, that the current one was made in the high school chemistry class and will be fired with his instructor on hand.

The air base relaxed.

Computer Wins At Blackjack

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A $21,500 computer picked up an easy $360 at blackjack this week.

The 80-pound "LGP-21" computer was carted into the Hotel Tropicana's gambling casino Wednesday afternoon. Fifty minutes later, it was $360 ahead of the house and called it a day.

Emmett Hutchins, 29-year-old research programming director at General Precision Co. in Los Angeles, handled the computer chores and Sam Radan, unruffled by the 3-foot-high mechanical brain, dealt for the house.

The computer decided whether or not to draw a card — or "hit" as it is termed in gambling circles — and how much to bet (from $2 to $42) on the basis of information fed to it on each play.

Blackjack, or "21" as it is known here, is a card game in which the dealer and player attempt to get a hand totally as close as possible to 21 without going over that number.

Hutchins would indicate to the machine on each play what his two cards were and what card the dealer was showing in his hand. If nothing happened, this meant not to draw a card. But if LGP-21 flashed a green light, it was time to take another card.

Commented dealer Radan: "The machine had a run of luck."

ASKS PERJURY COMPLAINTS

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Night club comic Lenny Bruce has asked that perjury complaints be filed against some members of a jury that convicted him of narcotics possession, he said recently.

Bruce, known for his so-called "sick" jokes, contended that some of the jurors who heard his case last May have committed perjury by saying during pre-trial examinations they did not know he had been arrested as a narcotics user.

He said he had hired a private investigator who learned that at least six jurors later said they did know of his arrest.
