REV. J. R. LAMB, OF SUTHERLIN, NAMED PRESBYTERY HEAD

Rev. W. C. McCullagh Put on Body to Choose Site for Young Folks' Conference.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

MEDFORD, Ore., April 15.—The presbytery for the southern Oregon district, in session at Central Point, closed last night with the election of the Rev. J. R. Lamb of Sutherlin, Oregon, as the moderator. The Rev. Joseph W. Angell of Glendale, the retiring moderator, was elected a ministerial commissioner to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church to be held in Baltimore in May. The other commissioner chosen was Elder John S. Bonar of Phoenix, Ore.

Rev. E. Iverson, transferred from the Wisconsin conference, was named Sunday school missionary for Douglas, Josephine, Jackson, Klamath and Lake counties.

A fund was started for the erection of a memorial at Jacksonville for the Rev. Moses A. Williams, a pioneer Presbyterian minister of southern Oregon, whose efforts were instrumental fifty years ago in the establishment of five of the now leading churches of the district.

The Rev. E. P. Lawrence of Medford; A. L. Rice of Klamath Falls and W. S. McCullagh of Roseburg, were named a committee to select a scenic site for the holding of a young peoples conference this summer.

NATIONAL RELAY CARNIVAL OPENS IN QUAKER CITY

PHILADELPHIA, April 15—With the largest entry list in its history, the thirty-second annual Pennsylvania relay carnival will be held here tomorrow and Saturday.

More than 500 universities, colleges, preparatory and high schools from all sections of the country are entered in 96 events. There will be one Canadian participant, Hamilton Collegiate Institute of Ontario. The carnival will bring more than 3,000 athletes to Franklin Field.

Five members of the Western Conference have made entries and the Pacific Coast and the Rocky Mountain district also are represented.

The decathlon championship, which carries with it the national collegiate title, will be run off tomorrow morning. Twelve men have entered.

PROHI AGENT HAS NO FRIENDS, SO HE QUITS

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., April 15. — Declaring he liked friends and that prohibition agents didn't have them, William Cole, for the past year state dry agent in this section, today resigned and left on the noon stage for Portland. He will go to Alaska as a mining engineer, he said.

"The excitement is all right, but from bitter experience I know the minute you put on a prohibition star you lose friends," Cole declared.

ILLNESS FORCES COOLIDGE TO GIVE UP ENGAGEMENTS

WASHINGTON, April 15—President Coolidge cancelled his engagements today because of illness.

The President retired to his quarters in the White House, but it was indicated that his indisposition was not serious.

Pending a visit by Major Coupal the White House physician, however, no definite statement of the President's trouble was given.

At the executive offices it was said he was not feeling very well yesterday, and that after spending a couple of hours at his office today he decided that it was wise to rest the remainder of the day.

For a number of years Mr. Coolidge has suffered from throat trouble, and there have been indications that the cold spring weather of the past week had not been beneficial to his condition.

LUTHER BURBANK LAID TO REST IN SIMPLE MANNER

Lebanon Cedar Tree Is His Monument—Big Throng Witnesses Quiet Ceremony.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., April 15.—A cedar of Lebanon across the road from a vine covered cottage in the midst of a garden had taken on a lasting significance to the citizens of Santa Rosa today.

For under its protecting branches, Luther Burbank, friend of every living thing, was laid to rest when the sun sank behind the green hills in the west last night. No monument marks the spot where the great horticulturist found his sylvan couch, for Burbank asked that a growing tree be his only head stone.

The burial was simple as the funeral of the poorest of unknown paupers, yet Burbank's fame went out to the ends of the earth. The trees and plants that produce better fruits and flowers because of his efforts speak even where his name is unknown.

Burbank was borne to his grave by old workers and lifelong companions down a pathway strewn with flowers. His widow, his sister, Mrs. Emma Beeson, and a few close friends followed the casket. No widow's weeds were worn by Mrs. Burbank and the coffin was the only visible evidence of the bereavement, but the tears of mourners testified to the love for the dead.

The voice of Dorothea Reaghan Talbot singing "Silver Threads Among the Gold," was all that was heard by most of the men, women and children who crowded the fences of the Burbank yard to observe the burial.

Traffic policemen and Boy Scouts kept back the crowds as the sorrowful little procession moved from the Burbank house to the grave under the tree. The Rev. Caleb S. S. Dutton of the First Unitarian church of San Francisco uttered a brief prayer. Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, spoke a tender eulogy of the dead, and the burial was over.

Hundreds of persons from Santa Rosa and from all villages and cities far and near attended the public memorial exercises at Doyle Park two hours before the burial.

Judge Lindsey spoke in defense of the unorthodox opinions of Burbank, uttered shortly before his final illness, which evoked much comment.

"The fanatical intolerant orthodoxy of a darker age would have regarded his creations as an impertinent interference with the laws of God," Judge Lindsey said of his accomplishments in the culture of plants. "But we have made progress and now he is to be known and never to be forgotten as one of the world's greatest benefactors."

Reading of Ingersoll's famous oration by Wilbur Hall, author and close friend, songs by school children of Santa Rosa and brief eulogies by old acquaintances concluded the memorial services.

NORTHERN LIGHTS DAZZLE RESIDENTS OF GRANDE RONDE

LA GRANDE, Ore., April 15—Residents of the Grande Ronde valley were treated to the most gorgeous display of northern lights witnessed here in many years last night between 8:30 and 10 o'clock. The aurora borealis was first noticeable when shooting shafts of light from the north became discernible. Shortly afterward, two shafts, one from the east and the other from the west, made a cross formation. The phenomena died down about 10 o'clock and then arose from a balloon formation directly north.

Northern lights are rarely seen from eastern Oregon points.

The aurora exhibition in climax here yesterday afternoon, registered a new high mark of 82 degrees, the highest mark for April 14. Clear weather prior indicate an entire afternoon day.

EDWARDS LOSES TO THYE; VERDICT ON HEADLOCK LATER

PORTLAND, Ore., April 15.—A Thye, Portland Heavyweight, defeated Billy Edwards of Kansas City in two straight falls here last night. The first fall came after 12 minutes 45 seconds and the second in 3 minutes. Thye won.

A committee of four, including the chief of police, a municipal judge, the city health officer and a physician appointed by the mayor to pass on Edwards' use of his chiropractic headlock throughout a brutal, wearisome bout. The committee said a written report would be submitted to the mayor today. The prevailing opinion in the ringside was that no action would be taken against Edwards.

News About Women in Europe

LONDON, (A. P.)—Miss Betty Baldwin, the debutante daughter of the British statesman, is almost as attractive politically as her brother, Oliver, who is decidedly socialistic and shocks conservatives by his speeches.

Miss Baldwin's political efforts are largely confined to advancing the conservative party through social organization. She is an active worker in the Young Conservatives Union and at present is engaged in organizing a ball which the union will give at Claridge's hotel.

The purpose of the ball is to bring the younger members of the party into more intimate association with young folks who lead less prosperous lives that there may be a better understanding of the needs and desires of young people of limited means.

HULL, England, (A. P.)—Bobbed hair is bad for poise in the opinion of Miss Helen Drummond, physical culture instructress at the Osterberg Training College for Girls at Dartford. In a lecture on athletics in girls' schools Miss Drummond advised against short hair for young women in training because it was opposed to good posture.

"Bobbed hair results in uncontrolled movements of the head as the bobbed girl is forever throwing back her head to keep her hair from her face," she said.

PARIS, (A. P.)—The queen of France is to be elected next June.

This announcement by the president of the festival committee of Paris, caused no excitement in political circles because the queen will not preside over the destinies of the country.

She will simply be the play queen chosen to take the leading role in various celebrations and festivals. Twenty six cities and towns have agreed to furnish candidates.

ABERDEEN, Scotland, (A. P.)—The Bishop of Aberdeen and Orkney has come out in defense of modern girls, asserting that they now dress more sensibly than any girls have done for a thousand years or so.

"The girls do their hair in such a fascinating way which I think would even convert St. Paul from his views," said the bishop, adding, "They also show more fearlessness than in olden days."

LONDON, (A. P.)—The number of medical practioners practising in London is 7588 and of this total 12 per cent are women, according to the public health department of the London county council. This number of women is not due to economical reasons for both men and women receive the same remuneration. The only difference is that if the women marry they have to resign their appointments.

INNSBRUCK, Austria, (A. P.)—The advocates of bobbed hair have been defeated in a conflict between the mayors of the North Tyrol communities and the hairdressers. The mayors decided to impose a tax on any woman having her hair short and against this the hairdresser protested vehemently.

To this protest the mayors replied that the Bible contained a definite ruling on the subject in the first Epistle of St. Paul to the Corinthians (Chapter 2 verse 15), in which it stated:

"If a woman have long hair it is a glory to her, for her hair is given her for a covering."

The hairdressers now have abandoned their opposition.

LONDON, (A. P.)—Miss Gladys Lane, one of Britain's women athletes has submitted herself to a series of tests by medical experts to see an industry, who are considering what standard of fitness should be demanded of women sports.

Miss Lane volunteered for examination at the request of the Women's Amateur Athletic Association.

"I found the test rather a stiff one," she said. "I went through several severe nerve tests, one of which was to stand as long as possible on one leg without wobbling. I had to hold my arm in front of me, with fingers stretched out to see how steady they were, and I was also told to hold my breath as many seconds as possible."

BELFAST, (A. P.)—Mrs. Chichester, member of the Ulster Parliament for County Derry, has broken the fashion set by the duchess of Atholl in the British parliament, and appears in the Ulster house without a hat.

Well her shingled couture and sporty yet very coat-like presents a serious image.

The only other woman member, Mrs. McDonnie still wears her ornamental street co-name while attending the house.

LONDON, (A. P.)—Dogs in the Southampton Studio Kennels which are soon to be taken across the Atlantic Ocean in spite of good advice, which have been received from the United States. It is the student wish of King George that he or the dogs should be disappointed and in this, it is understood he is only fulfilling his mother's desire.

The canine five dogs which were in the kennels are to remain at Sandringham with the exception of one, a bitch, which at the request has been given to a lady who was a personal friend of the queen.

ATHENS, (A. P.)—Greek courts are up in arms over a recent pronouncement by the president of the Greek Essential who expressed a wish that Greek women be more scarcely dressed in order to advance the sports.

"We are already sufficiently handicapped by too much talking. Are we now to be pestered by female tongues?" the council remarked.

Since then the "female tongues" in Athens have been wagging with a vengeance and have made the life of the gallant president scarcely worth living.

PARIS, (A. P.)—Recent bestowals on a goodly number of women of the coveted cross of the Legion of Honor have served to bring to light the first case of its kind.

The first woman to be so decorated was Marie Schellinch, who might be well described as the Molly Pitcher of France. She volunteered in the armies of the republic in the "year II" of the revolutionary era, was wounded at the battle of Jemmapes, promoted sergeant and cited in dispatches before Arcola, wounded again at Austerlitz and at Jena. When, in 1808, she came up for decoration, she had conquered the stripes of a second lieutenant.

WARSAW, (A. P.)—Polish women have been very slow in succumbing to bobbed hair just as they always refrained from any extensive use of rouge. Young women with their hair dressed as Joan of Arc wore hers only became sufficiently numerous last fall to be noticed, and the shingled or boylike cut has not yet been ventured upon. Polish girls have naturally long and beautiful hair which is worn traditionally in two long braids, a style that suits their native beauty and makes the Polish girl slow to have her hair cut short.

SELBY, Yorkshire, (A. P.)—Mrs. Parsons, the wife of the head master of the Selby Abbey soccer team, has proved herself to be an excellent football trainer. Her team has played fifteen league games and won them all scoring a total of 90 goals against eight by their opponents.

"I took up the boys," said Mrs. Parsons, "because they virtually were left to themselves. My husband wanted the lads to win something big so I told him to let me train them. Two of the lads are in the county team in my first seasons training and the team is in the semi-final of another competition."

READING, England, (A. P.)—Milking, butter making, cattle raising and gardening have become established occupations for women and most farmers and horticulturists prefer them for the work, announces the women's farm and garden association.

Most of the girls who want to become real milk maids or expert gardeners undergo a course of from one to three years at a recognized college, such as Reading University college, and begin as dairy assistant or under-gardener. The girls earn 3 to 4 pounds a week.

DUBLIN—Irish women to a large extent nowadays wear crepe de chine, taffeta and other foreign fabrics, and their frocks, despite an import duty of 15 per cent, are almost all made up outside of Ireland. On this account the Irish Industrial Development Association has started a movement to revive the demand for all Irish woolens, linens and poplins.

MURDERER'S LIFE NOW IN HANDS OF GOVERNOR PIERCE

Decision to Be Made Today in Case of Archie Cody, Sentenced to Hang Tomorrow.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SALEM, Ore., April 15.—Not until late today is Governor Pierce expected to announce his decision whether Archie Cody will die on the gallows at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. This was indicated after a hearing in his office yesterday in which friends and relatives of the family and social workers from Portland made a plea for the man's life. Cody was convicted of killing Sheriff Goodman of Harney county.

The argument for commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment was based mainly on the question of mentality. It was declared that Cody's mentality is about that of a child of 15 years. Twenty-one persons made the plea for the slayer's life. Of these 13 said they were opposed to capital punishment while eight believed in it in extreme cases. The Prisoners Aid Society, Womens Advertising Club, Womens Protective association and Central Labor Council, all of Portland, were among the organizations represented. Barney Cody, father of the slayer, and Mrs. Grace Wick Merritt, formerly a social worker of Medford, were present.

SALEM, Ore., April 15.—After interviewing Archie Cody personally at the state penitentiary today, Governor Pierce said he would not reach a decision until late in the day whether he will commute Cody's sentence from death to life imprisonment. W. A. Delzell, the governor's private secretary, and Warden J. W. Lillie were present at the interview. They reported that Cody is bearing up bravely.
