CARBON MONOXIDE HITS PASSENGERS

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

YREKA, Cal., Jan. 24.—Sixteen passengers of a Portland-bound Pickwick stage were treated at Mt. Shasta for carbon monoxide gas poisoning. The fumes were discovered leaking from a heater attached to the motor exhaust pipe. All but one passenger was able to resume the journey after three hours delay.

Stricken Girl Aided

A nine year old girl today stood an excellent chance of recovering from a five-day attack of pneumonia after medical science and aviation combined last night to save her life in a snowbound village on an island in the mid-Columbia river.

Informed that June McGilvray, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McGilvray, Longview, Wash., was seriously ill on Puget Island, between Cathlamet, Wash., and Westport, Ore., the Oregonian arranged with Tex Rankin, Portland aviator, to take Dr. Ernest L. Boylen, Portland physician, to the island by plane.

With intermittent snowstorms hiding the contour of the land and with temperature slightly above the freezing point, Rankin and the physician flew the 80 miles from Portland to Puget Island where they made a safe landing on dangerous ground.

Dr. Boylen remained on the island when it developed that other persons were in need of medical attention.

Puget Island has been isolated since great cakes of ice blocked the Columbia river and thwarted attempts of steamers to call with supplies. Yesterday store keepers said there was a shortage of food, but supplies were understood to have been brought in today by a tugboat.

As Viewed From Plane

By JACK BONDURANT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 24.—From a plane—the only method of contact—food and fuel have been dropped for the first time to some of the more than 200 families held prisoners by flood and ice in the inundated Big Lake area of northeastern Arkansas.

And through crude signals arranged by notes attached to blocks of wood and hurled down at cabin doors we learned that the families face near starvation unless help reaches them soon.

In the ship there were sacks of charcoal and small sacks of flour, bought at Blytheville when we learned we couldn't reach the Red Cross food supply yesterday.

Fuel, Food Dropped

A house where no smoke was seen coming from chimneys was aroused by diving low and raising as much racket as possible with the motor.

Persons appeared at windows and doors and we dived low in front of them. Down went the first note which read: "If you need food wave something white. If you need fuel wave something dark."

Before we had time to circle they were waving both white and dark cloths.

The last of the flour supply was dropped at a cabin that seemed to be housing at least a dozen persons, some of them children. In a small area that we were able to cover closely in the next few minutes we counted 27 houses that showed signs of life.

Far to the north and south we could see scores of other cabins, all of them cut off from the outside by ice and water and some of them half submerged.

At Red Cross headquarters in the Big Lake zone reports of illness among the marooned families were received.

Raw Meat Eaten

One rescue crew in a boat, found 39 persons living in a one-room cabin. A half dozen children were among them. They were eating the last of their food supply—a small strip of raw meat.

On either side of the swollen Roseland ditch could be seen cabins, in sight and yet out of reach of the boats. Three miles below Red Cross headquarters, ice blocked the boat. Two crews were chopping lanes through the ice.

But almost as fast as the lane was opened, floating ice rushing down the ditch would block it and the crews would be forced to turn and chop their way out.

Barrier of Ice

About 100 feet above the Red Cross headquarters is a break in the levee. Water rushes and boils through it against the main bridge of the Blytheville-Jonesboro highway.

To the east the highway is blocked by a wall of ice. To the west water is rushing over it at a depth ranging from two to eight inches.

And the water still is rising in some places.

Indians Town Safe

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 24.—Another over the flood situation at Griffin, Ind., which has been inundated by the flood waters of the Wabash river, was ended today when word came over Illinois Central railroad telegraph wires that the town is in no danger.

H. L. Young, station agent at the town, said that some families in rural districts north and east of Griffin are still marooned but there is no suffering in Griffin. The flood waters around the town are receding, Young declared.

presence of naval experts, however, Secretary Stimson keeping the principal decisions in the hands of the delegates.

Italy's Desires Told

In conferences today, notable among which was that with Premier Macdonald, Foreign Minister Grandi insisted that Italy was willing to reduce as low as anyone else but on condition that she could build equal to any other continental power. He declared this proviso was not directed at France, pointing out that Russia is building a new fleet and that Germany also has done wonders with the 10,000 ton ship limit allowed her under the treaty of Versailles.

The Franco-British report considered at today's meeting between the British and French, concerned a possible compromise system of measures which would satisfy French demands as set forth in the celebrated December memorandum. It was said in French sources afterward that some slight progress had been made and the two experts asked to submit an additional report to the Anglo-French delegations meeting on Monday.

The expert's report also dealt with the possibility of a general non-aggression pact dealing with the Mediterranean. The French likewise have indicated a desire to exclude from the negotiations entirely small types of ships including the smallest submarines. It is understood the Japanese are favorable to this step.

Brains Better Paid.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—In all the present welter of high diplomacy, pageantry and banqueting here, a new and unexpected problem of parity cropped up in the American delegation to the naval conference.

Ten stalwart marines who came over with the delegation have been allowed room and breakfast and also 14 shillings and eight pence (about $3.55) a day for other meals. The marines look enviously on the girl stenographers who besides their room have $8 a day for expenses. Unofficially, they think the situation offers opportunity for application of the principle of parity, but Mr. Stimson is busy, the marines are busy and no one seems to know whether anything can be done about it.

French Craft Fastest.

L'ORIENT, France, Jan. 24.—While there is talk in London of scrapping various warships, France came forward with a claim to possessing "the fastest warcraft in the world."

The destroyer calmly made 39.85 knots in speed tests in the Atlantic off this port yesterday. The former record of 39.15 was credited to the destroyer Verdun some months ago.

ORCHESTRA COMPOSED OF INDIANS EXCLUSIVELY

The "Musical Redskins," who are playing dances at the Wigwam Tavern, twice each week, are said to be the only fullblooded Indian dance band in the country. They have been on the road continuously for the past two years, playing in the western states. They are members of the Umatilla, Nez Perce and Blackfeet tribes. Chief Big Boy, the leader, is a member of the Umatilla tribe and a graduate from Chemawa Indian school.

ber of commerce adopted a resolution protesting against employment of Filipinos and calling upon state and federal authorities to deport them.

Charges that Filipino workers have deprived white men of jobs in the fields were said to have contributed to the ill feeling.

Of the seven whites charged with rioting only one, Fred Majors, was released. He furnished a $2,000 bond. The other six, R. Smith, Georges Barnes, Ramon Davis, Georgie Sias, Charles Morrison and Ted Spanger, were taken to the county jail.

Filipino Comments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Pedro Guevara, Philippine resident commissioner, said on the floor of the house today that clashes between Filipinos and Americans in California proved "that Filipino-American relations under the same flag are on a false basis for which the only cure is Philippine Independence."

"If similar mobbing and killing of Americans occurred in the Philippines," Guevara said, "there is no doubt the American government would send battleships and armies to meet the situation. The Philippines cannot do the same for obvious reasons."

He asserted that while "we are under the American flag we feel entitled to come here and engage in the same kind of work in which Americans engage, and we will expect the fullest protection of American law."

"The lives of the ten thousand to twenty thousand Filipino workers on the Pacific coast are in daily danger," he asserted.

penetrated the frozen regions near the poles.

There was no cause for alarm, he said, even if the expedition found itself marooned on the ice barrier until next year, adding, that while it might be a bitter disappointment to men anxious to get home, it would afford an opportunity for further scientific observation.

He cited his own experience in 1917 when he was held until the next year north of Prince Patrick is land in the Arctic and the experiences of Roald Amundsen, who, with a fleet of New Bedford whaling vessels, was caught in an ice pack near King Williams' land.

It happens occasionally, he said, that an expedition's ship is trapped in the ice for two years, but even then if good judgment is used there is no excessive danger. The loss of 22 members of the Greeley expedition in the early eighties he said was because they abandoned their food supplies and set out in small boats. Only seven survived.

British Boat Stands By

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The British whaler Southern Princess is standing by in Antarctic waters waiting for an opportunity to get in touch with the expedition of Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, held in by pack ice in the Antarctic.

The Liverpool owners of the whaler received a request from Ambassador Dawes for assistance, and immediately sent instructions to the master to take whatever action he could.

An official of the American embassy said the Southern Princess was in Antarctic waters, but outside the Ross sea, whereas Admiral Byrd is inside.

The Southern Princess is not an icebreaker and cannot break through the pack ice, but she is standing by and will presumably be able to help Admiral Byrd later.

The embassy official added there were other whalers in the neighborhood including one or two Norwegian ships inside the Ross sea pack ice.

Norway Promises Aid.

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 24.—Replying to a request through the United States Minister for Norwegian whalers to assist the Byrd expedition in the Antarctic, the Norwegian government today informed the American government it would do its best.

The Norwegian reply said the government had approached the whalers' association which had expressed the opinion that the ice barrier cutting off Byrd's camp from open water and his supply ships, will break up as it has done in previous years.

The association, however, stated that if Admiral Byrd were short of provisions a whaling factory ship would be sent in an effort to give assistance.

Olympic Star Sued by Wife

Mrs. Helen M. LeGendre, wife of Robert L. LeGendre (inset), famous Olympic athlete, has instituted suit for divorce on grounds of alleged misconduct. LeGendre, now a lieutenant in the U. S. navy, was one of the greatest athletes ever turned out by Georgetown University and in the 1924 Olympics broke the world's record in the broad jump vent. The couple were married at Cumberland, Md., in July, 1921.

CRAZED MAN TRIES LEAP FROM WINDOW

James Neil, local restaurant employe, was today committed to the state insane asylum after creating considerable disturbance last night at the Star rooming house. Neil, clad only in his underclothing, attempted to leap from his bedroom window on the second story. Officers were called to restrain him, and he was placed in the county jail overnight, where he went into a raving condition. His condition is thought to be the result of a "canned heat" spree. He will be taken to Salem tonight.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 24.—Ralph Douglas, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Douglas, died in the Pierce county hospital early this morning from concussion of the brain sustained in a basketball game between the James P. Stewart and Allen C. Mason intermediate school teams in the Stewart school gymnasium yesterday.

Douglas crashed into one of the players on the Mason team, fell and struck the back of his head violently against the floor. His condition at first was not believed serious.

TEACHERS TO HEAR PROF. A. S. TAYLOR

According to word received by Mrs. Edith Ackert, county school superintendent, Arthur S. Taylor, instructor in the Southern Oregon Normal school, will address the teachers' local institute at Canyonville Satpurday of this week. Editorial

The "unusual" weather has been the chief topic of conversation for the past two weeks. Before many days everything will be normal. We will be planting garden and the early spring flowers will be blooming.

McCormick - Deering disc harrows are made in offset and cover crop types as well as regular. See these three kinds on our floor.

There was a young fellow named Pratt, Who stopped near a mule for a chat; When he woke up in bed, A day later, he said: "Well, I sure got a kick out of that."

A new Meyers self oiling power pump and McCormick-Deering engine were installed at the Glide school this week.

They say that Boston is noted for its boots and shoes, and Chicago for its shoots and booze.

We now have a complete stock of fresh garden and flower seeds. Make out your order early and avoid the rush at planting time.

Mark your sheep and other stock with ear tags with your name and address. The kind we sell punch the ear and clinch the tag at the same time.

Customer: Say, have you got any good cheap skates here?

Clerk: Yes; just a second I'll get the boss.

We sell Cooper's capsules to rid sheep and other stock of stomach worms. Cooper's products are sold all over the world.

City Guy: Why do you always hit your horse on the right side?

Farmer: Because if I get the right side working, the other side is almost sure to follow suit.

We sell Myers and Hardie sprayers and repair parts.

There is a century of service back of every McCormick-Deering farm machine—it goes free with the purchase.

Farming is the most important industry in the world, and supplying the tools that make farming profitable is nothing to be ashamed of, either.

Try Lilly's life insurance feed for starting baby chicks and your loss will be less. It is a cooked dry food.
