SIMPLICITY IS AID TO SAFETY

Motor car purchasers, careful to consider safety elements in automobile construction, are giving more and more attention all the time to ease in which the operations necessary for proper control in traffic are reduced to a minimum, states the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co., local ford dealers.

Several reasons lend utility appeal for this, principal of which is that the more complicated the construction or the more complex the operations necessary for control the greater are the chances for human lapse and even danger in operation.

All of which makes more for fact that nothing contributes a greater element of safety in motoring than the utmost simplicity in those parts of the car upon which the control depends, thereby freeing the driver from as much exertion and distraction as possible.

A notable example of how this can be successfully carried out is found in the design and operation of the control of the Ford car which gives the driver exceptional command in traffic, in sand and mud—in fact in every place where traffic is realized is all important.

The short wheelbase and small turning radius insure easy turning of corners and convenience in maneuvering in and out of parking places.

There is no excessive motion of the steering wheel and action, being direct, gives the driver the "feel" of the road and facilitates steering.

In shifting gears, the driver's attention need not be distracted from the road ahead, as the shifting is made by his feet on the pedals and soon becomes automatic, and his hands are at all times on the steering wheel. In the Ford transmission there is no danger of clashing gears and it is impossible to fail in accomplishing a gear shift. Further, the shift is made silently.

The all important brake, chief element of safety, is an outstanding feature of Ford control. Operating then the foot pedal with but little effort, it exerts a quick grip and permits immediate stopping of the car. The action is simple. It is transmitted from the pedal directly to a drum on the driving shaft, giving the Ford owner a powerful, positive brake. Equalization of the braking effort is accomplished through the drive shaft, insuring even braking on each rear wheel.

An emergency brake, operated by a hand lever and acting on the drums of the rear wheels, also is provided. Construction of this dual brake system is of such simple and direct design that adjustment is seldom necessary and the safety factor is always at the highest.

United States Drops to Sixth Place in World Shipbuilding

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States has dropped from first to sixth place among the shipbuilding powers of the world in the last four years the Department of Commerce states. Not only Great Britain and Germany but also Italy, France and the Netherlands are building more tonnage than the United States, according to returns for the quarter ended with September. World construction at the close of that quarter was smaller than at any time since the war and represents a decline of 166,000 gross tons in comparison with the quarter ended with June.

Dresses Trimmed With Own Materials

Many of the new frocks have no trimming except their own material deftly used. Some like the ruffled frock sketched, use pleated flounces and extra trimming of many tiny ruffles. Others, more tailored in their lines are trimmed with a jabot. The ruffled frock sketched would be an appropriate dancing frock for a young girl.

Flash Red Lands in Face; May Cost Victim

ST. LOUIS, Mo., (INS)—One of the freakish accidents in the life of Missouri citizens may cost the president of Dr. Max C. Starkloff, City Health Commissioner.

Dr. Starkloff was shooting ducks near St. Charles when a flock flew over his head.

The commissioner shot one duck and was aiming at another when the first bird fell on him striking him squarely in the face. The wing feathers of the duck pierced one of Starkloff's eyeballs and a hemorrhage in the eye followed.

Attending doctors hold out slim hopes that the eye may be saved.

Justice Halts Trial to Perform Nuptials

LIMA, Ohio, (INS)—A wedding may be more important than a trial. This, apparently, is the judgment of Justice of the Peace William H. Gaylon.

A jury case was in progress in Justice Gaylon's court. It was halted, however, by the squire until he performed the ceremony uniting in wedlock Miss Edna MacKite, 19, and Walter Martin, 29, carpenter, in the presence of attorneys and jurors as spectators.

If only we could bear one another's burdens as cheerfully as we bare one another's faults.
