

MORE QUARTET MENTION

The Indian String Quartet, of the Chemawa Indian School, that recently gave a concert in Rose City Park M. E. Church, is made up of Ruthyn Turney, first violin and leader; William Palin, viola; Willie Reddie, 'cellist, and Alex Melovidov, second violin. Alexander Melovidov, second violin is from the Pribilof Islands, in the Bering Sea; Willie Reddie, 'cellist is from Southeastern Alaska, and William Palin is from the Flathead reservation in Montana.

The program included classical numbers and Indian themes composed by Ruthyn Turney, first violin and leader of the quartet. Their interpretation as well as their technique, was admirable. A specially interesting number was the "First Indian Suite," which preserves the characteristic wildness of Indian music set in a beautiful harmonic effect.

Richard H. Kennedy gave a lecture on Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables." He showed unusual talent as a narrative lecturer and his dramatic account of the struggles of the hero, Jean Valjean, was greatly appreciated.—Oregonian, Portland (Oregon) November 28, 1915.

ATHLETICS IN GENERAL AT CHEMAWA

THE game was played on Thanksgiving at Albany. Victory was our aim, while revenge was their motive—(we defeated them last season on the home grounds 67 to 7). Straight football was the program on account of the depth of the mud. We did our best, but were, at times, not in tune. One of their touchdowns was the result of a blocked punt behind our goal; the other was ordinary. Our delegation totaled 20 men; Albany has a population of many hundreds. Fighting against such big odds is hard on the anatomy, so we preferred the calm attitude. Our boys returned—a battle-scarred aggregation and—received a rousing welcome. Peeled noses, black eyes, etc., are evidence of a pretty tough game, but if they can stand it we can also.

The swatfest with Albany College on Thanksgiving Day was the closing game of our football season. On account of the late start our schedule was composed of but three games, Willamette University and O. A. C. Freshies being our other competitors. We succeeded in holding Willamette team 0 to 0 on their home grounds, and as they defeated Albany earlier in the season we're not really heart-broken over the Albany game. Coach Hauser deserves much praise for the able manner in which he handled the situation. The football outlook at the
