SOMETHING WRONG?

OH! MY BACK!

Aching Backs Make Life Miserable For Many La Grande People

It isn't right to suffer day in and day out with dull, aching backache. Or be utterly miserable with sharp stabs of pain whenever you stoop or lift. But chances are you will suffer these tormenting aches and pains as long as your weakened kidneys are neglected. You may have headaches, too, spells of dizziness and urinary disorders. Then use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Experiences of La Grande people prove the merit of Doan's.

Wm. Winn, 2202 N. Fir street, La Grande, says: "My kidneys troubled me for a long time. The least cold I took caused me to suffer with severe backache and such a soreness over my kidneys, I could hardly do any stooping or lifting. My kidneys acted frequently. I used Doan's Pills from the Red Cross Drug Store. They helped me by relieving the aches and strengthening my back and kidneys."

La Grande Theatres

"Womanhandled" Is Answer to "Manhandled"

"Womanhandled," the answer to "Manhandled" by the same author, is the feature today and Thursday at the Arcade theater. Richard Dix is starred, with Esther Ralston; Margaret Morris, Edmund Breese and Ivan Simpson in the supporting cast.

Directed by Gregory La Cava as his first picture for Paramount, "Womanhandled" tells a story of modern western ranch life—a farce comedy in which the star, as Bill Dana, a eastern "softy" hies himself to the wild and wooly west to make a real man of himself. There is, of course, a pretty girl behind it all—Miss Ralston who greatly admires men of "the great open spaces." The picture is taken up with how the star goes about winning the girl's heart when he arrives on his uncle's ranch in Arizona and finds that the west of yesterday and the west of today are entirely different.

How he goes about rearranging things, digging up "atmosphere" so as to make the ranch look like "the real thing" when the girl arrives to see her new-made hero is a big laugh. And it's a riot when the girl sees through the scheme and prances off in a huff to "home and mother."

Rapid-fire comedy, warm romance and plenty of rousing action pack every foot of "Womanhandled." The title alone ought to be enough to get you in and, believe us, the picture will surely make you mightily glad you went.

"Womanhandled" is the type of clean, keen, wholesome material the whole family will enjoy.

Luther Reed wrote the screen play from Arthur Stringer's Saturday Evening Post story.

A two real comedy featuring Charley Chase and Mildred Harris and a special song novelty make up the balance of the program.

James Oliver Curwood Story Coming to Star Thursday

"When the Door Opened," a story filled with action and thrills, adapted by William Fox from the James Oliver Curwood novel, will be shown at the Star theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

This picture was made under tremendous difficulties and at huge expense in the Canadian mountains. In one sequence a whole river had to be dammed and the moat of a huge old castle built in the middle of a dense forest so that the log wood scene—the thrilling climax of the story could actually be filmed.

In another place an exciting runaway almost proved disastrous and endangered the life of the two leading players, and the entire company spent days in camp in the mountains, far from any settlement, to get some of the most beautiful "shots" in the picture.

Jacqueline Logan and Walter McGrail are cast in the two leading roles. Miss Logan plays the part of a winsome little girl who has been reared in a massive old chateau by a crabbed grandfather. She has never been allowed to associate with any of the villagers and knows nothing of the world outside.

Walter McGrail is Clive Grenfal, a young American who comes to Canada to forget his past, and to escape punishment for a supposed crime. He saves the lovely Teresa's life, is nursed back to health by her and falls in love with her.

Her grandfather (Frank Keenan) objects and Clive himself tries to forget Teresa because of his ever-present conscience. Then Henry Fredricks appears on the scene, recognizes Clive, and the story begins to move more rapidly.

The big climax comes with the breaking of the huge dam above the old chateau—the tremendous flood—and the discovery by Clive that Fredericks is the man who broke up his home.

The end is different and unexpected—and the solution of the mystery which runs through the story is entirely new.

Robert Cain, Margaret Livingston and Ray Laidlow also appear in prominent roles. Reginald Barker, famous for his outdoor productions, directed the picture.

"Black Lightning" Is Unusual Story With Dog Star

A throbbing and tense dramatic story is involved in a way that is bounded by realism and color in the big production, "Black Lightning," at Sherrys tonight.

The film is away from the stereotype features both in its height or romantic construction and cast which is headed by "Thunder"— The Marvel Dog and includes such players as Clara Bow, Harold Austin, Eddie Phillips, James Mason, Joe Butterworth, Mark Fenton and John Prince. It was directed by that well-known director, James P. Hogan.

Many thrilling scenes and big climaxes are staged in "Black Lightning," with all of the action taking place in the hills of the Kentucky Mountains, centering around a bloody feud which has been raging for years. It is a picture that has a modern love story and will appeal to all lovers of good films.

"Black Lightning" is realistically and thrillingly told amid the proper environments with the cast doing splendid work in its portrayal of the different characters.

Too much cannot be said for "Black Lightning" for it is real motion picture entertainment. It is clean throughout and the action is swift with a thrill in every scene. It is a human heart interest story that tugs at the heart strings and reveals a series of unusual situations that sustain the interest from the beginning until the final scene.

Comedy showing "Over There Abouts."
