Install Screens To Protect Fish From Machinery

Portland, Ore., Oct. 11. (AP)—Action toward protecting commercial and game fish at Oregon City and at Savage rapids on the Rogue river was taken at a joint meeting of the game and fish commission today.

One resolution directs that manufacturing interests at Oregon City be directed to install proper screens to keep fish out of their machinery. The motion was made by W. H. Finley, of the game commission, and was adopted by both bodies.

The game commission voted to spend as much as $5000 as its share in erecting screens in front of the turbine wheels at the Savage rapids dam. No promise to cooperate in the project was made by the game commission because of shortage of funds.

Under the law the money would have to come from district No. 2, said John C. Veatch, chairman of the fish commission. If the tithing bill goes through a hatchery would have to be closed down to obtain money for participation in the plan.

Robert MacLeay, of the MacLeay Estate company, who operates fisheries on the Lower Rogue, actively supported the screening project. He offered to donate money toward it and said he believed he could get contributions from sportsmen in Portland and the Rogue river valley.

CASE TRANSFERRED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP).—The case of Frank Rossi, Silvio de Santo and Charles Carr, convicted in Washington state of violating the national prohibition law, today was transferred by the supreme court to the ninth circuit court of appeals for review.

FRESH EGGS ARE IN GOOD DEMAND

Prices Expected to Work Higher in Portland —Butter Weak

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11. (AP).—Fresh eggs of good quality continue firm and in demand in the local market although prices are unchanged from last week's close. Portland remains the low market on the Pacific coast, naturally affording a good shipping outlet. With other markets advancing, prices here expected to work higher.

There is plenty of good butter now and the local market is none too strong. With most of the trade well supplied, cube values are anticipated to take the downward trend.

Live poultry and country dressed meat arrivals were moderate along the street today and prices remained nominal at Saturday's close.

Constance, Husband Will Be Divorced

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—Constance Talmadge, screen star, and her Scotch husband of seven months Captain Alastair William Macintosh have separated. Miss Talmadge is on her way to Hollywood and Captain Macintosh is about to return to England.

The separation, the screen star's friends say, is amicable but permanent and will be followed by a divorce equally friendly just as she divorced her first husband, John Pialoglou, a wealthy New York importer. The reasons she gave for that divorce were that she wished to continue her screen career and found she could not do so successfully while wedded. The same reasons influence her again friends say.

Miss Talmadge and Captain Macintosh met in Paris four years ago and then were married last Feb. 17. In June they went to Europe on what they called their honeymoon tour. They returned in August. Rumors then they were to separate were denied.

Can Society Make Us Abolish Marriage and Morals?

Four writers—one a woman of exalted social position—another an internationally famous judge—the third and fourth the greatest social novelists in America—give their authoritative answers in the four greatest literary features that have ever been published in a single magazine.

JUDGE BEN B. LINDSEY on The Moral Revolt
MRS. PHILIP LYDIG on The Tragedy of Gilded Youth
OWEN JOHNSON'S GREAT STORY "Children of Divorce"
RUPERT HUGHES' LATEST NOVEL "We Live But Once"

IN a democracy the mass of the people are given to imitation of the few. The few in America are the idle rich, who, in their search for new sensations, flamboyantly place themselves not only above the law but outside the moral code that society has evolved for its own discipline and salvation.

What once were secrets held inviolate are today openly discussed; habits of life once surreptitiously indulged are today boasted of; customs that have their roots in the safety of society are boldly being displaced by a code that justifies "anything you can get away with."

Whence came this amazing change in our manners and customs, no one knows. One declares it to be the direct result of the unbalancing of society by the Great War; another traces its origin to the possession of more wealth, almost overnight, on the part of vastly more people than ever before.

And no one is better placed to produce actual evidence of the change than Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the internationally famous Family Court of Denver.

A tolerant man, an understanding man, but, more than all else, a brave man, he is presenting that evidence—and his conclusions—under the startling title, "The Moral Revolt," in the frankest series of articles that have ever appeared in a magazine.

Case after case from his own Court, related in all their illuminating details, are offered by him in support of his belief that a new code of morals, particularly in relation to sex, is being evolved under our eyes today.

And in further support of Judge Lindsey's belief, Mrs. Philip Lydig, all of whose life has been spent in the world of fashionable society here and abroad, comes forward with an article entitled, "The Tragedy of Gilded Youth," in which she too cites case after case of youthful destruction as a result of young people growing up in the atmosphere that surrounds their rich and idle elders.

Nor is that all. For in the fascinating form of the novel, Mr. Owen Johnson and Mr. Rupert Hughes, themselves familiar with all strata of society, present dramatic pictures of just what is proceeding on the inside of that society. Their novels, "Children of Divorce" and "We Live But Once," are written with no less frankness and first-hand knowledge than the articles by Judge Lindsey and Mrs. Lydig.

In addition to these contributions of the deepest human interest, the same magazine offers, in its November issue, the best and latest work of the most popular novelists and short-story writers—among others, Struthers Burt, Robert Benchley, Arthur Mason, James Hopper, Virginia Dale, Margaret Culkin Banning, and Samuel Scoville, Jr.
