Legion In This State Will Have 'Horse In Derby'

MARSHFIELD, Ore. (Special)—Ben S. Fisher, department commander of the American Legion in this state, will be furnished soon with the name of the horse which will represent the legion and legion auxiliary of this state in the forthcoming Kentucky derby membership race which will get under way Jan. 2. The name of the horse will be that of one of the winners of the Kentucky derby which has been run every year for more than half a century.

The idea for the contest results from the fact that the 1929 national convention will be held in Louisville, Ky., where the historic derby is held. The race was endorsed both by the legion and auxiliary at conferences just closed at national headquarters in Indianapolis.

Plans for the contest provide that each department of the legion, and its auxiliary department, will be assigned the name of a horse that has won the derby. There have been fifty-four annual Kentucky derbies and this approximately represents the number of legion departments. The horses will be assigned to the departments probably in alphabetical order. Reigh Count was the winner of the last derby.

The 54 entries will be assembled at the barrier at 2 p. m. Wednesday, Jan. 2. Their positions will be determined by the standing of their membership at that time, based on nationally assigned quotas. The department having the best joint percentage of quotas will take the pole position while the department showing up most unfavorably in this respect will take the rail position. The horses will be brought down the home stretch at 2 p. m. Saturday, May 11, the actual day and hour for the 55th annual Kentucky derby at Churchill Downs, Louisville.

SKUNK MAKES MEAL ON ARIZONA BEES

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Beekeepers in Arizona are convinced that a skunk couldn't have any other name and be what he is.

One bright moonlight night, in an apiary where bees were mysteriously disappearing, guards were posted. Out of the shadows came a skunk, to tap on the front of the hive with his feet and claws. The bees, cold and sluggish, came out to investigate and the intruder lapped them up.

GOVERNMENT STEEL PLANT

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A state-owned steel plant having an annual output of 150,000 tons, or about half the present imports, is being developed in Africa. Production of 500,000 tons is contemplated as the market grows. Plant equipment will be purchased from American, British or German manufacturers in open market.

In Memphis a girl was arrested for trying to kiss a man. Something has to be done to protect the world's future fathers.
