1928 PASSES

Nineteen twenty-eight's dead:
Cold in the hose on the stone.
Place a flower at his head,
But—leave well enough alone.
Don't disturb a single bone;
Let all vain post-mortem cease
Down the wind as tears blow—
Let the old year rest in peace.

Past and present can't be wed,
Vain it is to grieve or moan,
Fate tomorrow's toll tolled—
Never more the sun may burn
Days and doings that have flown,
Each new dawn our needs increase,
Each new day new lights are sown—
Leave the prior year in peace.

Good Friends:

For the moment let's lay aside the formalities of business and, figuratively speaking, give each other a not-too-gentle wham on the back and a hearty handshake.

The loyalty of friends such as you, in our modest opinion, is the most cherished possession one could have, and we want you to know that your generous support, your friendship and your willingness to read our efforts to amuse you, have helped us greatly.

May we wish for you and yours a very successful new year—a year which we hope will bring to you all the good things that make life and working a worthwhile joy.

OUT OF THE MOUTH OF BABES

Dec. 2 — who is superintendent of the Sunday school in a small village, asked one of the boys this question: "Andy, will you tell me what we must do in order to get to heaven?"

"We must die," said the boy.

"Very true," replied the doctor, "but tell me what we must do before we die."

"We must get sick," said Andy, "and send for you."

AT THE THEATERS

"Take Me Home" Now Showing At Star Theater.

"Off to Buffalo" means more than appears on the face of it, Bebe Daniels found out recently.

"Off to Buffalo" is a term used in the dancing profession and it denotes a peculiar little foot-crossing hop that chorus ladies sometimes use to make their exits while in line, shoulder to shoulder.

Bebe had to learn to set "Off to Buffalo" in her new starring picture "Take Me Home," which is a dramatic romance spiced with plenty of comedy dealing ith the back stage life of a Broadway musical comedy theater. The Paramount star plays the role of a chorus girl and spent several weeks under the tutelage of Fanchon, noted west coast originator of dance ensembles, who is the first half of the well known team of Fanchon and Marco.

Bebe was not alone in her studies, for Neil Hamilton, her leading man, also had to learn a difficult routine of dance steps for his part of the picture. Lilyan Tashman and Doris Hill are featured in support of Miss Daniels and the production was directed by Marshall Neilan.

"Take Me Home" is now showing at the Star theater.

Real Gang Fight In "Me, Gangster" At Star Tuesday

When "Me, Gangster" is seen on the screen of the Star theater Tuesday picture fans will see, in one sequence, a gang fight that is nothing else but the real thing, with no punches pulled, a perfect Raoul Walsh bit of directing.

When this particular scene was made it called for Don Terry, playing the leading role, to be set on by his former companions in crime and beaten in an effort to make him divulge where some swag was hidden.

On the floor below is the apartment of Ivan Linow, the giant Russian who won fame in "The Red Dance." The struggle in the apartment above wrecks his ceiling and he goes upstair with murder in his eye. Linow battles the outfit to a finish.

In the making of this particular scene Walsh worked the old double cross, for he told one of the gang, secretly to sail into Linow, smother him with punches. It was okay with Ivan, for he could take plenty. Then Walsh told Linow to pull no punches and fight his way through.

It surely made a glorious scene.

"Me, Gangster" is a Fox Film picturization of Charles Francis Coe's widely-read story with Don Terry and June Collyer in leading roles and Andrés Randolf and Arthur Stone heading the versatile and brilliant supporting cast.

Richard Dix In "Warming Up" At Arcade Today

If you are, in any sense, a baseball fan, don't miss Richard Dix in "Warming Up," the Paramount star's latest photoplay, which opens today at the Arcade theater a run of two days only.

If you like your entertainment in the form of romance, the same tip holds good.

Dix came to the Arcade theater in a screen story which, from all appearances, will be ranked alongside of "The Quarterback," one of his best. In "Warming Up," he is the same athletic, lovable Dix but this time his toe is in the pitcher's box.

The story concerns a young rookie whose troubles are not confined to the diamond and particularly to a jinx which seems to have settled on his trail for good. There is also a delicate and charming little love theme which runs through the production.

Jean Arthur, playing opposite Mr. Dix for the first time has a chance to prove whether the star cannot be blamed for wing her. She is quite pretty and capable.

Many colorful figures of the diamond are seen in sport of Richard Dix including Mike Donlin famous Giant of olde days, Mike Ready, the oldest ling professional, Chet Thomas Wally Hood, Truck Hannah, Ira Murray, Joe Pirrone and many others.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
