4-H'ERS BACK FROM LIVESTOCK TOUR

Twenty-six 4-H Livestock club boys under the leadership of C. D. Talcott, club leader of Glide; H. W. Grow, Smith-Hughes instructor at the Roseburg high school, and E. A. Britton, county club agent, returned home after completing an interesting livestock tour in Marion, Polk and Benton counties. This tour was known as the Lan- interesting livestock tour in Marwas sponsored by Stanley Lapham of Lanham Motors, Roseburg.

After staying all Sunday night at the 4-H club dormitory at the state fair grounds, the Douglas county boys met with over a hundred other livestock boys from ten other counties and were shown through the Valley Packing company plant at Salem. Stock judging on the tour included South down sheep, Hampshire and Duroc Jersey hogs, Hampshire sheep, Jersey and Guernsey dairy cattle and Hereford beef cattle. The boys were privileged to look at six world champion Jersey cows while on the L. A. Hulbert place near Independence.

RECREATION NEWS

Douglas County Conditions Summarized in Forestry Service Bulletin.

With the pall of smoke which has overhung the forest for the past two weeks now partially dissipated, prospects are somewhat brighter for pleasant conditions in the great Umpqua recreational areas. Lookouts, however, report that visibility, while improving, is still below normal and forest officials warn that fire danger is still very real, and that great care must be used with fire.

Of particular interest this week is the report that steelhead fishing on the North Umpqua is the best it has been for several years.

Bohemia District: Reports from this district are discouraging insofar as trout fishing is concerned. Due to the extremely low stage of the streams the city of Cottage Grove has found it necessary to draw water from Layng creek into the city water conduit, which normally is supplied from Dinner and Prather creeks. This reduces Layng creek to a point where the fish are forced to congregate in the large holes. It is expected that there will be a fair crop of huckleberries this year, with a small picking possible this week-end, and the bulk of the crop two to three weeks later. The Brice creek road to Fairview lookout is in fair condition, and 226 visitors have driven up to the lookout station since it opened on June 27. It is advised that those making this trip avoid the Sharps creek road, as it has been cut up rather badly by logging operations.

North Umpqua District: From the North Umpqua the news of greatest moment to sportsmen is that the steelhead are biting. Experienced river fishermen report that the great ocean-going trout have been striking flies the past few days at a thrilling pace. One expert went so far as to assert that fishing is better than it has been for several years, and a late report from Idleyld stated that a fresh run is now coming up the river. Favorable reports cover all the steelhead water from Rock creek to Steamboat. The North Umpqua road is in fair condition but is closed from 8 to 12 and from 1 to 4 in the vicinity of Williams creek.

South Umpqua District: Stream fishing is reported to be fair with all streams clear and low. A Friday morning radio report from Fish lake stated that there are very few fishermen now at the lake, and that good catches are being made. The water in the lake is now quite clear, and the eastern brook trout are fat and full of fight. The resort stated that best results are obtained with trolling, and the trout are now taking flies.

Diamond Lake District: Lake fishing at Diamond lake continues to be moderately good with the trout-oreno the favorite lure. Stream fishing is good in all streams, best results being reported with the use of brown flies. While the mosquito nuisance is somewhat abated, vacationists should visit the district prepared to protect themselves. Blackberries are more abundant than usual, and the huckleberries give promise of a good crop. An unusually large number of fawns are to be seen this year, indicating that the past mild winter was kind to the deer. Bear, too, are plentiful.

SEARCH FOR LOST CLIPPER GIVEN UP

MANILA, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The giant Hawaii Clipper and her 15 occupants were logged as victims of a mystery air disaster today by the United States navy which ordered searching vessels home from a fruitless hunt across 100,000 square miles of ocean and shoreline.

For nearly six days, warships and planes combed the Pacific stretch- over 500 miles east of here where es in all directions from a point the flying boat radioed her last position a week ago today.

Naval officials said Pan American Airways, operators of the luxurious $450,000 clipper, would decide whether to continue the hunt with private means.

cinct committeemen in meeting, to see the committeemen.

Reports were Lee Combs went up to the meeting for a short time and came down the stairs. A little later he came back to the foot of the stairs with his brother and they started up again but were stopped by Sheriff Deaton. It was then that the shots rang out.

Sheriff Deaton at the hospital in Lexington said after a Barkley meeting broke up Lee and Lewis Combs came to the building, and, with drawn guns, started up the steps. The sheriff said he stopped them and attempted to dissuade them from violence. Deaton said the two men ran up the steps and a moment later shots rang out.

Deaton said he did not see who fired the shot that hit him or the shots that wounded Lewis Combs and killed Lee Combs.

New Deal Faces Test

The tragedy in "bloody Breathitt" county today marked primary eve in Kentucky where President Roosevelt's party leadership faces a nationally-important test at the ballot box.

Overshadowing all other issues—and many were tossed in during the terrific heat of the campaign—is that of the new deal, made when the president definitely placed his support with Senate Majority Leader Barkley as the man he wanted nominated.

Both Senator Barkley and his smiling, jovial opponent, Governor Chandler expressed their beliefs in success at the polls.

Political observers are treating the outcome of the primary as meaning a definite upswing for Roosevelt'an policies and theories or a serious setback to his influence with the electorate and a back lash at his practice of seeking to help his supporters in their home states.

Louisville headquarters of Senator Barkley claims he will win by approximately 75,000 majority. The Chandler forces estimated a victory by more than 30,000 votes.

SPREE, BAD CONDUCT JAILS CCC MAN

Herbert R. Patterson, 21, of Mill City, Oregon, employed in the CCC camp at Reedsport, was brought to Roseburg last night to serve 10 days in the Douglas county jail. He was sentenced in the Reedsport justice court on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct, it was reported by Sheriff Percy Webb.

JAP-SOVIET PEACE PROSPECTS BRIGHT

recognition of the border as established by maps attached to the Russian treaty with China on June 26, 1886.

It was considered here Litvinoff gave Tokyo a chance to withdraw, without loss of face, the troops he said were occupying the Changkufeng heights by referring to them as "remnants of Japanese forces which may still be left" on soviet territory.

Guns Still Roar

After the diplomatic exchange, sharp fighting began and since Sunday it has been almost continuous. (Tokyo dispatches said soviet artillery was shelling Japanese positions about every half-hour today, and that Japan had made a new protest to the soviet charge d'affaires.)

The present dispute is one of many since Japan's conquest of Manchuria, and Litvinoff emphasized Russia did not regard that conquest as valid reason for altering the frontier.

Confidence in Army

The strong tone of Litvinoff's reply was regarded in foreign circles to mean Moscow was convinced of the legality of her claim on the basis of the old treaty, and that she was confident also of the red army's ability to repel any frontier attack.

Poets, cartoonists and various workers' groups, continued to attack "fascist aggressors."

A red army unit in the Ural mountains adopted the resolution that "the soviet people are strong enough to annihilate not only the frantic gang of Japanese invaders but the whole international pack of fascist dogs as well."

tional problems, studied the advice of Charles P. Taft II "We offer the right program" to win back those "who voted for Roosevelt in 1936 with their fingers crossed."

"Don't worry about the purchase of the election through the expenditure of government money." Taft told the committee at an open forum last night. "Its effect in a general election has been exaggerated. Such purchase cannot be accomplished against a united conservative party. Our main problem is intelligent union."

Taft, a member of Cincinnati's city council and son of the late president, said the republican party had two tasks.

"The first is to show the people exactly what the spoils system means to them in money and in government service they do not get. The second is to demonstrate their own good faith and to convince the people that when they get into power they are going to enforce the merit system."

Fame's Cost Narrated

Jackie, who has had hit-and-miss picture work in recent years, and is married to Actress Betty Grable, went back to his childhood career for incidents to show the cost he paid for fame.

"They told me my dog had died when they wanted me to weep before the cameras!" Jackie blurted.

"I told my father that 'I don't see why you had to do this to me' and he replied:

"'Now look, son. This is a heart-breaking business, but what comes out of it is all for you. When you come of age, it's all yours. You will be able to retire and live on the interest, or do just what you please.'"

The govenor's term is for two years, the senator's for the four years remaining of an unexpired term and the utilities commissioner's for six years.

Joseph W. Byrns Jr., son of the speaker of the national house of representatives, won the nomination to the congressional seat his father held for more than a quarter a century, defeating Rep. Richard M. Atkinson.

Both Browning and Berry retired last night without making any statement. Cooper said his nomination appeared assured and that he felt confident of victory in November. Republicans will nominate an independent to oppose the democratic nominee.

Despite the bitterness of the campaign, which included a threat by the governor to send national guardsmen to Memphis and a federal injunction against such action, the balloting went off quietly.

A man was stabbed to death at Englewood, but Deputy Sheriff Tom Tallent said this had no connection with the election.

In Memphis, R. S. McCann, associated with Governor Browning in an effort to cut down the registration lists, was jailed without bond on five misdemeanor charges. Sheriff Joyner said McCann's arrest was due to his "interference" at a polling place.

McCann denied charges placed against him, but commented: "I guess they'll keep me in here until after the votes are counted."
