RECALL OF PICKETS ENDS DOCK TIE-UP

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—(AP)—San Francisco's latest dock tie-up, which had baited negotiations for a new coastwise waterfront agreement, was ended today when the CIO Ship Clerk's association agreed to call off its pickets at the Panama Pacific company dock.

Meantime, CIO longshoremen asked Wayne L. Morse to return as Pacific coast maritime arbitrator, a post he resigned Monday after longshoremen had refused to pass the clerks' pickets to unload the City of Newport News, Panama passenger and freight vessel.

Employer spokesmen called the ship clerks' action, voted last night by the membership, "a real benefit" to shipping. Definite peace, however, still was a long way off on the waterfront because of the necessity of negotiating a number of new contracts.

The clerks' demand, which resulted in the picketing, is for a single contract covering both daily and monthly clerks, instead of the old system of dual contracts.

Morse, dean of the University of Oregon law school at Eugene, Ore., said he would "take under advisement" a reappointment as arbitrator if conditions he laid down Monday were complied with.

Daily Devotions
DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

Perhaps the most crushing disappointment which life can bring to us comes when we are forced to admit that we have been betrayed by our own ideals. A man is not surprised when he is betrayed by his worst self. However clever his defenses he knows quite well that if he builds his life on an edifice of dishonor and evil he is courting disaster. But when a man gives himself with great enthusiasm to what he believes to be the noblest of ideals and finds that these have betrayed him, he comes upon one of the bitterest experiences of life. There may be many disappointments in life, but the hope which is based upon the character of God as we have seen that character in Jesus Christ remains secure. Whatever life may do to us, our last action is saved from frustration and disillusionment when it is founded upon profound personal faith in the God who is revealed to us in Jesus Christ. Help us, Dear Father, that in all the vicissitudes of life we may look to Thee, the author and finisher of our faith, knowing thou art ever faithful to Thy children. Amen.

AIR STEWARDESS DIES IN AUTO FIRE

OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 11.—(AP)—The body of Lorraine Rosemarie Goodall, 23, an air lines stewardess, was found in a flaming automobile in the rear of a service station on Grove street today.

Battalion Chief Frank Kispert of the fire department said Miss Goodall had been cremated by the fierce flames.

A gallon can was found in the coupe but Kispert said there was no odor of gasoline.

The police homicide squad reported later that sleeping tablets were found in a handbag owned by Miss Goodall. Officers said they would investigate the possibility the stewardess had taken the tablets and then dropped off to sleep while smoking a cigarette.

Officials were inclined to the theory of accidental death. Chief Kispert said he believed if the fire had been set by gasoline, it would have caused more damage to the car.

M·J·B WHY?

"I'm patrolling my beat when this explosion shakes m'back teeth..."

1 Then the Miller twins streak past me. "Playing at chemistry again," I'm thinking. "Hail!" I shout, following 'em right into the Miller's kitchen. "And what will you be wanting, Officer O'Toole?" says their maid. "A talk with those boys, M'am," I say. "It's disturbing the peace they are!"

2 "And it's disturbing your handsome face I'll be if you lay hands on those lambs," she says, her blue eyes flashing. "Forget it and pull up a chair." Before I know it I'm making the peace over a cup of coffee. "And what coffee!" I say. "Sure and it's better than you deserve, O'Toole—it's M·J·B!"

3 It's a proud and happy man I am these six months later, Mr. Officer O'Toole, drinking M·J·B every day in m'own kitchen. And her, pretty as a picture, setting across from me and smiling every time I say, "Pour the M·J·B again, Mrs. O'Toole!"
