U. S. Wheat Crop Poorest Recorded

Prospects in Ohio Indicate Larger Yield Than in Years 1926-1930.

Prepared by Ohio State University Agricultural College Extension Service. WNU Service.

Prospects for the winter wheat crop in the United States are the poorest on record, while the crop in Ohio promises to be better than average, according to crop reports received by the department of rural economics at the Ohio State university.

No other important winter-wheat growing state has prospects approaching the average for the years 1926 to 1930. Estimates place the Ohio crop at 31,650,000 bushels, which is 4,500,000 bushels larger than the average for three years.

Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma, the three leading winter-wheat producing states which produce nearly half of the total crop, report prospects of a one-third average crop. These three states together expect to harvest less than 100,000,000 bushels. Their average harvests totaled about 200,000,000 bushels.

Crop reports estimate the total crop for the country this year at 334,000,000 bushels. Average crops in the period of 1926 to 1930 were 500,000,000 bushels.

About two-thirds of the total wheat crop in the United States is winter wheat. Spring wheat makes up the other third.

Brighter Outlook Now Seen for Corn Market

United States corn will meet less active competition in world markets this year because of prospective short supplies of Argentine corn and the market reduction in the South African crop, it is expected by the bureau of agricultural economics.

The Argentine corn crop is forecast at 204,000,000 bushels, against 295,000,000 bushels produced in 1932, and the record harvest of 420,000,000 bushels in 1931. Stocks of old corn are low, with supplies for export estimated at approximately 8,000,000 bushels as of March 1, says the bureau. Shipments during March were about 7,500,000 bushels.

The bureau says shipments during the next Argentine corn crop season will have to be drawn principally from the new crop. The quality of the crop is reported as satisfactory, although rain interrupted harvesting in some areas. Supplies of corn in the United States are reported as materially greater than a year ago, although farm consumption is reported heavy.

More Milkings

When Jersey cows are milked three times daily in place of twice daily, they show a greater increase in production than do Holstein cows subjected to the same change. When Jerseys and Holsteins are milked four times daily instead of three times, the Holsteins show the greatest production increase.

These results were secured in a study recently completed at Iowa State college.

The study revealed that Holsteins milked three times daily increased their fat and milk production one-sixth over their two-time records, and when they are milked four times instead of twice, their fat production is increased a little less than one-half.—Wallace's Farmer.

Indiana Erosion

Destructive soil erosion is not confined to any one section of the country, the United States Department of Agriculture says. In one of the best southern Indiana counties, which originally contained large areas of fine limestone soil, a survey made by the state in co-operation with the federal government showed that approximately 30 per cent of the total area had been abandoned because of soil erosion. In many places the erosion had stripped both the surface soil and subsoil to bedrock.

Farm Hints

There are more cows on farms in the United States now than ever before.

On the Illinois soil experiment fields manure has returned an average of $12.50 an acre on all types of soils. Greatest return was obtained from but four per acre over 10 years on the average.

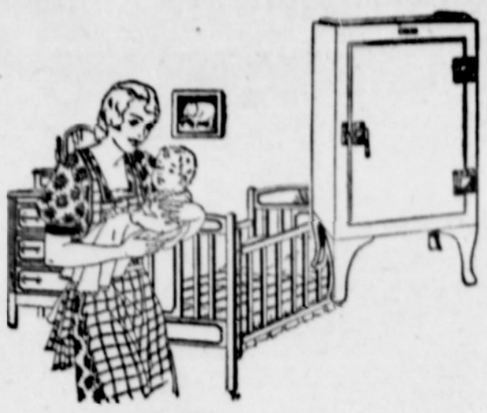
Bright Woman Lost 20 Pounds

Feels Much Better

"June 28th, 1932, I started taking Kruschen Salts. Have lost 20 pounds from June 28th to Jan. 10. Feel better than have felt for four years. Was under doctors care for several months. He said I had gall stones and should have operation. Kruschen did all and more than I expected." Mrs. Lute Bright, Walker, Minn. (Jan. 16, 1933).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at Cottage Grove Pharmacy—but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar. (3)



KEEP HIS FOOD SAFE

If you really knew the facts you would own an electric refrigerator. The food saving alone will pay for the refrigerator and electric refrigeration is the one sure way to keep the baby's milk clean and pure. No chances must be taken with his food and grown-ups live better and healthier if their food is also protected from moisture, germs and dirt. Invest in an electric refrigerator.
