BAND VOD-VIL MAKES HIT LARGE AUDIENCE

The outstanding home talent entertainment of the past year was the band's vod-vil given Tuesday night at the Arcade theater. The show house was completely filled and the musical organization netted a neat sum for expenses.

The program, each number of which was outstanding, was as follows: Band concert; dance, Jackie Morton; vocal solo, Chester Wheeler; impromptu dialog, E. H. Luce and Francis Horn; clarinet special; tumbling act by Eugene talent; tap dance, Audrey Hunt; rube act, Robert Lowry; saxophone quartet; band concert.

Statutory Charge Is Placed.

Glenn Smith was arrested Tuesday on a statutory charge preferred by a woman of this city. Smith was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Dan Johnston at Eugene. He demanded an examination, which was set for 1:30 today, and bail was set at $2,500.

Wrote "Star-Spangled Banner"

Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star-Spangled Banner," was by profession a lawyer, and for many years served as district attorney for the District of Columbia. He also wrote a number of other poems besides "The Star-Spangled Banner." He was born in Frederick county Maryland August 9, 1780, and educated at St. John's college, Annapolis. He died at Baltimore, January 11, 1843.

Buried All That Was Left

Boiling metal engulfed the body of Pete Bormann, a foundry worker of Oberhausen, Rhineland, Germany, burning it to ashes in a second. When the metal was later run out of the furnace, a small block was made and engraved with the victim's name. This was placed in a coffin and has been buried with due ceremony.

True Exchange

THE false belief that matter is substance underlies the error of hoarding. Those who accept this false concept are afraid to spend the money they have for fear they will not get more. During times when there has not been much money in active circulation, people have in some instances resorted to bartering. The farmer who had potatoes, if he needed sugar, took his potatoes to a grocer, who gave him sugar in exchange; and thus one individual supplied another's need and in turn found his own need supplied.

Christian Science reveals that God, divine Love, is the only substance. Our part, then, in true exchange is the expression of love in helpful service. When we render helpful service to another we are certain to receive good in exchange. If we meet someone who seems discouraged, we may try to cheer him, and in a measure succeed. Perhaps all he may say is, "Thanks for cheering me up." It may have seemed that we did not get anything in exchange for the service rendered, but the feeling that one has helped another is a wonderful reward. Each act of loving service expresses the law of divine Love, which is operating always to bless. We should not do something for others simply with the expectation of getting a material reward or with the hope that the law of Love will operate in our behalf, for that would show that we were not animated by divine Love, and therefore were not conforming to the law of Love. We should understand that, when we are disinterested and, animated by divine Love in doing helpful things, we are obeying the law of Love which ever operates to bless.

The Master said: "Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again." Keeping this admonition before us we shall be careful how we think and act. Thinking loving thoughts and doing loving acts bring them back to us, "pressed down, . . . and running over."

The highest reward one can receive is described by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, when she states that "the spiritual recompense of the persecuted is assured in the elevation of existence above mortal discord and in the gift of divine Love" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 98). This reward comes in exchange for the constant desire and effort to be of true service to others. If we earnestly entertain this desire, we have taken the first step toward gaining the reward. True desire is prayer, and true prayer never returns void. The earnest and steadfast desire that we may be of service to others steadily increases our opportunities in this respect. Many have been helped in their effort by starting the day with the prayer contained in one of Mrs. Eddy's poems (Poems, p. 13):

"My prayer, some daily good to do
To Thine, for Thee;
An offering pure of Love, whereto
God leadeth me."

Christian Science points out that the real governor is divine Love, for divine Love is the only Mind, the divine Principle of true being. If we accept this fact and try to realize the ever-presence and omniactivity of divine Love, the one real Mind or Principle, we shall think lovingly of all and shall be inspired to do and say helpful things. This Science teaches that the real man is the reflection of divine Love. Accepting this real man as our true selfhood and holding to this truth, we shall express tenderness, gentleness, forgiveness, tolerance, unselfishness; and great will be the reward which obedience to the law of Love will confer upon us.

When we accept the fact that divine Love is substance, we have no thought of hoarding, for we see that unless we manifest this substance—reflect divine Love—we do not have real substance. This is the source upon which we can and must constantly draw for the benefit of all with whom we come into contact. The reflecting of divine Love is the true medium of exchange, and it must be kept constantly active. The more we express of the divine nature the more we have of real substance. In the measure that we realize and reflect divine Love we have the sense of joy and completeness which this realization brings.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Early Opening Fishing Season Is to Be Asked

Opening the fishing season in this district on April 5, instead of April 15, and closing it 10 days earlier in the fall will be asked of the state game commission as the result of an action taken at a meeting of the South Lane Sportsman's league held Monday night.

The organization will endeavor to raise funds for the construction of a pheasant shed, to be located inside the city. Chicks would be received from the state game commission and kept in the shed until they reached maturity. It is said that 600 or more birds could be secured by this method, as the game commission hasn't the sheds in which to care for the birds. By the old method, under which chicks were released on game preserves, large numbers were killed by hawks and predatory animals.

The league secured over 300 pheasants last year and 100,000 trout fingerlings.

GOLF CLUB TO STOP DAMAGE DONE BY BOYS

What action to take with youngsters who maliciously or innocently injure greens of the Cottage Grove golf course was the subject of some discussion at the annual meeting Monday night of the Bennett Creek Holding company, owner of the course. One fine of $25 has been paid by a boy for his depredations and it was the concensus of opinion that the same punishment would have to be meted out to others.

It was practically decided that as soon as a regular caretaker is employed for the summer no one but players will be permitted on the course. Most of the damage has been done daytimes by youngsters permitted to wander over the grounds.

R. S. Trask was elected president to succeed William Zimmerly. Mr. Zimmerly was elected vice president and Elbert Bede was elected secretary to succeed H. W. Lombard, who had served since the company was organized.
