Grove Vicinity Rodent Control Supervisos Appointed By Court

Last Monday the county court appointed 78 rodent control supervisors to lead a campaign against gray digger ground squirrels in 1938. The appointments were made on recommendation of O. S. Fletcher, county agent, in accordance with chapter 127, general laws of Oregon enacted in 1919. Seventy-six of these supervisors were nominated by 21 granges that are cooperating in the campaign.

All of Lane county is in a gray digger control district in accordance with the law mentioned above. While rodent control supervisors are expected to secure voluntary cooperation in exterminating diggers wherever possible, they have authority to go upon neglected land and poison the squirrels at the expense of the owners.

Rodent control supervisors appointed for territory tributary to Cottage Grove, the number of the school district for which each is to serve, and the granges that nominated them are as follows: Creswell (Creswell grange, Dist. 2, Harry Lower; Dist. 40, Frank Russell; Dist. 41, Ralph Wright; Dist. 80, Lawrence Porter; Dist. 162, Riley Petty; Dist. 178, H. A. Howe; Dorena (Dorena grange), Dist. 24, Ben Layng; Dist. 84, J. F. Conklin; west one-half of Dist. 93, Louis Dodge; east one-half of 93, J. H. Spahr; Dist. 177, John Carr; Lorane (Lorane grange), Dist. 36, Tom Kerns, Eldon McKay, Ralph Lynch, M. Gillespie; Dist. 184, M. Gillespie; Silk Creek (Silk Creek grange), Dist. 34, W. A. Hemenway; Dist. 48, I. S. Curtis.

Poison barley has been placed in the hands of 34 dealers in all parts of Lane county, stated Mr. Fletcher. It is available in Cottage Grove at C. A. Beidlers store and the Farmers' Uunion; Creswell, Creswell Feed & Exchange; Lorane, Addison's store.

The Elephant-Shrew

An elephant-shrew is an insect-eating mammal resembling the rat. The popular name alludes to its peculiar, elongated nose, which looks like an elephant's trunk. The hind legs are long and out of all proportion to the forelegs and fit the animal for jumping. Elephant-shrews are confined to Africa.

American Colonial Furniture

American colonial furniture compared favorably with the best of English manufacture, as by 1750 there were many excellent cabinet makers in America.

London Has Ghost Bells

London's ghost church bells have been augmented. Tradition has it that on certain occasions the bells of the old church of St. Andrew-by-the-Wardrobe ring without human aid. To these have been added three of the chimes of the village of Avenbury, which also have a reputation of going on their own. Gabriel Andrew, the largest of the three bells, is reported to have tolled of its own accord when two vicars of Avenbury died. No one pulled the rope, declare the parishioners, yet the entire village heard the chime.

Call of the Quail

Sylvester D. Judd in "The Bobwhite and Other Quails of the United States," says that the call "bobwhite" is the nuptial call; the male uses many other calls, imitating other birds and animals. This call is not generally used after the breeding season. The answer of the female is a single clear whistle.

Long-Distance Race Unsuccessful

The first long-distance automobile race, New York city to Buffalo, 500 miles, was run in 1901. Of eighty cars entered, forty-two reached Rochester, where the tour was abandoned.

Cotton From Trees

Much of the cotton of South America is produced by woody trees, 10 and 15 feet high, which fruit for 10 years and more.
