EDUCATIONAL.

THE FINISHING SCHOOL is the title, because pupils who have devoted 3 to 6 months at a Business College or High School require a FINISH. None write without looking at their pencil, crooked fingers, and write like a rabbit eats, whereas eyes and ears should be used on the speaker. Typewriting shorthand notes direct on any make of machine does not write with shorthand, and New Zealand adopts it, for what that country thinks today America thinks tomorrow, and England a year after. Only qualified stenographers use the blind finger system, all the rest are amateurs and are worth only their salt. The Finishing School is also a BEGINNER'S school, and teaches in one month what other systems take three months or longer. Parents consider the cost for clothing, food and dress whilst devoting three months to study. In less than one week our pupils are reporting slow utterances, and in one month are able to compete against the 3-month's pupil; a challenge of $100 is open. Bad spelling is cured. The memory improved. Prof. Norton, Principal, a retired reporter in the British House of Lords and Commons and High Courts for 17 years. Address 66 6th st.
