Total farm machinery production for the year ended June 30 was 10.1 per cent behind schedule although farmers had more units of many items available than in the prewar period. Limitations have been removed from the production of farm machinery for the year beginning July 1, 1945, and manufacturers have been assured assistance in obtaining a minimum of 1,382,345 tons of steel for this purpose. This compares with 922,198 tons used in 1940 and 1,052,736 tons scheduled for use last year.
