Fulton Gives up Hope of Judgship.

Washington, April 8.—Ex-Senator Fulton called at the White House yesterday and placed in the hands of the President the following letter.

"Dear Mr. President: Permit me most respectfully to withdraw my name from further consideration by you in connection with the Oregon Judgship. I never knowingly allow my personal interests or ambitions to embarass my friends. Trusting that I may ever count you as a friend and fearing that my candidacy, longer continued, may become a source of embarassment to you, I have resolved on this action."

The President then asked Mr. Fulton to accept the appointment as Minister to China. That post, said the President, is one of the most important in the diplomatic service, and one destined under this administration to grow in importance. It is soon to be advanced to Ambassadorial grade, when the salary will be raised from $12,000 to $17,000. The President said he was anxious that this post be filled by one of his personal friends, with whose ability he was familiar, and for that reason he was most anxious that Mr. Fulton accept.

Mr. Fulton took the offer under advisement and will decide after he reaches home.

New York Doings.

Another biggest thing of its kind is about to appear in New York, and, for obvious reasons, to remain here. It is a four-million dollar department store which is to occupy the full front of a broadway block, be four hundred feet deep, a hundred and fifty feet high and have twenty-three acres of floor space. Aside from the cost of the building is the rental charge on the site; the ground could not be purchased, but New York shop keepers don't let a little thing like that stand in their way when they are ready to put four millions into a building. One of them is known to be paying, on a sliding scale, an even hundred thousand dollars a year for ground rent. Unlike merchants in most other lines of business, who look for a site apart where they may control the trade of the vicinity, the department store people seem to delight in getting as close together as possible, as if they were satisfied to catch the overflow of their neighbors. In the block next to the new building referred to is one of the city's newest and largest in the same line of business; on the next block to this is another, equally new and enormous, and all day long both of them are as full as men and women can move about uncomfortably in. Where all the customers come from is a mystery to city folks who are accustomed to such places, of which New York has many. Where all the customers money comes from is still another mystery. But the owners of the stores are not worrying on either subject for their patrons seem to be getting what they want and they are getting the money. Neither do they lose any sleep over the appearance of a new competitor, for they know that "competition is the life of trade," would-be monopolists to the contrary notwithstanding.

GARGOYLE.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O

CURRENT TOPICS

Editor TRIBUNE:—Mr. Whitla whose son was kidnapped is a very wealthy man, wherefore the Pennsylvania Legislature made haste to pass a bill appropriating $15,000 as a reward for the recovery of the lad and the prosecution of the abductors. Lawrence Gibson, son of a bricklayer of Pittsburg was abducted about the same time of the Willie Whitla episode, but no reward is offered for his rescue. Yes, we are all equal before the law!

Willie Whitla is in no way superior to little Lawrence Gibson, but his father is a wealthy corporation lawyer, while little Lawrence is the son of a hardworking bricklayer; and right here I am pleased to call to mind a favorite contention of Mr. Lincoln, to wit, that "Kings are made of flesh and blood and bones which are exactly alike and no whit superior to the flesh and blood and bones of the hod carrier." And the inimitable Kipling says that under her clothes, Bridget in the kitchen is the equal of the Duchess in her palace.

The other day a lady guest at a Portland hotel stepped out of her room to be absent but a few minutes leaving her purse containing $77. lying on the table, and returning, found it gone. Miss Ellen Mallory, a helper at the house, upon being acquainted with the loss, remembered that she had seen a lodger depart about the time of the theft. The lady guest who was on her way from Montana to see a sick sister in California had to borrow money to purchase a ticket, and left for the depot accompanied by Miss Mallory, who, on her way back, saw the lodger whom she suspicioned, turn into a saloon. She bravely followed him in, seizing him by the arm and led him out into the street where his captoress apprised him that he was wanted for stealing the lady's purse at the hotel. Here the captive made a desperate struggle to get away, but his captoress hung on to him until a policeman happened along and relieved her of her charge. I mention this as an Irish trait. They do things, when sure they are in the right.

Another illustration of this trait is worth mentioning. Early last week when a warrant was placed in the hands of the police to search the legal headquarters of Patrick Calhoun's law department, in the effort to recover legal documents stolen from the District Attorney's office. The squad, led by Messrs Sullivan and McGown was met in the outer office by Mr. Abbott, leading counsel for Calhoun in the graft cases, who, upon examining the copy of the writ, said it was no good, and then retired into an inner room slamming the door shut after ordering the officers out of the building. He was commanded to unlock the door and refused, when instead of parlying, or sending for further advice, Sullivan smashed the door down and his squad entered and, Irish like proceeded to do things. They broke open a number of file cases, and took possession of upward of fifty documents, the same they were in quest of. They then ordered Abbott to open a big safe, which he boisterously refused to do, and was informed that the safe would be blown open. Realizing that these officers were there to do things, Abbott opened the safe wherein was found more documents of the very first importance to the prosecution, some of them originals and others copies of originals.

And how did Calhoun's lawyers get hold of these papers? Why, a number of suspected clerks employed by the District Attorney were immediately arrested and jailed, some of whom confessed, implicating a number of go-betweens, among whom was Wm. Corbin of Curry county memory, who, upon being taken into custody, made a full confession, to the effect that he was to be paid $5,000. His part was to bribe Langdon's clerks some of whom he reached, putting them on Calhoun's pay roll at $200 per month each, and the more the pity that corporations are made so wealthy through special privileges as to enable them to bribe and debauch at will, and as a pleasurable pastime.

A conspicuous example of Irish doing and daring was furnished by about 70 Irish members of Parliment who from their seats in the House emitted three lusty cheers upon the announcement that an English Major General with his command had just been captured by the Boers. And the cry of "Treason!" was sounded from the tory benches, when, in imitation of Patrick Henry, another Irishman of an earlier date, John Redmond retorted, "If that is treason make the most of it!"

Langlois, Ore.

(Coos Bay News)

W. L. Kitsner of Coquille, has been appointed dairy inspector of Coos and Curry counties.

The schooner Chas. E. Falk, at one time engaged in the Coos bay trade, went ashore on the beach ten miles north of Grays Harbor last Friday morning.

The average annual rainfall on Coos bay is about 70 inches, but from Sept. 1, 1908, to April 1, 1909, the rainfall has already reached 60.83 inches, and we always have some rain in April, May and June, with a sprinkle occasionally in July and August.

If reports are to be relied on active work will soon be commenced on the Boise Coos Bay railroad. It is the intention to commence surveying in the near future, after which it is hoped to start grading at several different points along the route selected.

The Coquille city council, at a special meeting held Wednesday night, granted a franchise for 20 years to the Coquille Mill & Merchantile Co., for the construction and operation of an electric power plant, an electric light system and an electric street railway. The light system and the power plant are to be in operation in 15 months, and the street railway within three years.

Fashion.

Fair Eve devised a walking suit
Of jungle grasses, soft and crimpy;
She thought it rather neat and cute,
But Adam grunted, "Rather skimpy!"

A cloak of palm leaves, sought for miles,
She made, and came to be admired;
But Adam said, "The silly styles
You women wear just make me tired."

She built herself a little hat,
Of lilies (Eve was very clever),
And asked him what he thought of that!
And Adam blurted, "Well, I never!"

So next she placed upon her head
A feathered three by four creation.
The little word that Adam said
Is barred from parlor conversation.

Yet Eve refused to be a dowd,
And tied an autumn tinted sash on.
"I'll dress to please myself!" she vowed,
"For what does Adam know of fashion?

"What use to seek applauses from him?
He scoffs and says I cannot reason?
Well, then my law shall be my whim—
And that shall change with every season."

Since when, revolving cycles bring
The gayest fashions and the queerest,
And Eve declares, "It's just the thing!"
While Adam murmurs, "Is it, dearest?"

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentlemen and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

Oregon Game Laws.

The Oregon legislature, after a special session has prepared a set of game laws that will hereafter govern the sportsmen of Oregon. The following is a summary of the provisions of of the law covering local conditions:

Deer—Bucks may be hunted from August 1 to November 1, limit of 5 in one season. No female deer or spotted fawn may be killed at any time. Night hunting and sale of deer prohibited. Use of dogs, watching stands or trails and mutilation of carcass to disguise sex prohibited.

Silver gray squirrel—Open season October 1 to January 1.

Ducks—Open season September 15 to March 15; sale forbidden.

Native pheasant or ruffed grouse—Open season October 15 to November 15; limit of five birds a day or ten a week.

Shore and wading birds—Open season October 1 to March 1; limit of 50 a week.

Quail—Open season October 15 to November 15; limit of five in a day or ten a week.

Doves and wild pigeons—Open season September 15 to January 1.

Trapping, netting or snaring of game birds is forbidden, also the robbing of nests.

Geese and swan—Open season extends from October 1 to March 1.

Honker Geese—Open season extends from September 1 to May 1.

It is always unlawful—To sell, offer for sale, barter or exchange, ship, carry or transport beyond the boundaries of this state any deer, moose, mountain sheep, elk, silver-gray squirrel, swan, prairie chicken, grouse and all species of upland birds and ducks.

To hunt without a license to hunt or kill any mountain sheep or antelope; to hunt or kill any elk until August 1 1919, to kill beaver or to kill deer less than one year old, to ran down with dogs or hunt at night.

Penalties—For transporting game outside state, $100 to $500 fine and imprisonment; for violation of any game law, from $15 to $500 fine; for hunting without a license, from $25 to $300 fine and imprisonment.

To Make Cloth Water-Proof.

"Take eight ounces of sugar of lead, eight ounces of powdered alum and two and one half gallons of lukewarm water," says Woman's Home Companion for April. "Mix in a tub, and let stand for twenty-four hours. Stir thoroughly when first mixed and occasionally for the first hour, to dissolve the ingredients. Take a garment (overcoat, suit or dress, anything of woolen or cotton material), brush thoroughly, and let soak for twenty-four hours. Take out, let drip until almost dry (don't wring), hang in the air until dry, then press as usual. Water will fall off as from the proverbial 'duck's back.' One can use a suit treated in this way, on hunting trips and in a driving rain, and come home dry. It does not destroy or interfere with the ventilation or injure the fabric in the slightest degree. The quantities as given here cost about twenty cents, and will successfully waterproof an overcoat and suit, or in proportion."

"I can truthfully say that I believe that, but for the use of your Emulsion I would long since have been in my grave. I was past work—could not walk up-hill without coughing very hard."

THIS, and much more was written by Mr. G. W. Howerton, Clark's Gap, W. Va. We would like to send you a full copy of his letter, or you might write him direct. His case was really marvelous, but is only one of the many proofs that is the most strengthening and re-vitalizing preparation in the world. Even in that most stubborn of all diseases (consumption) it does wonders, and in less serious troubles, such as anemia, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh, or loss of flesh from any cause the effect is much quicker.

Do not delay. Get a bottle of SCOTT'S EMULSION—be sure it's SCOTT'S and try it.

ALL DRUGGISTS

Let us send you Mr. Howerton's letter and some literature on Consumption. Just send us a Post Card and mention this paper.

No Rest
Day or Night

"I would lay awake for hours without any apparent cause, or dream terrible dreams which would bring on extreme spells of nervousness. After taking Dr. Miles' Nervine and Tonic, for awhile I could sleep well, and the nervous spells have left me." MISS ALMA HUG, R. R, No. 4, Canal Dover, Ohio.

Without sleep the nervous system soon becomes a wreck, and the healthful activity of all the organs obstructed. Restful, body-building sleep accompanies the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine because it soothes the irritable nerves, and restores nervous energy. When taken a few days according to directions, the most restless sufferer will find sleep natural and healthful. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.
