IRIGOYEN IS HELD BUT FRIENDS FREE

BUENOIS AIRES, Sept. 15.—(AP).—The provisional government established by a revolution a week ago has decreed that former President Hipolito Irigoyen must remain within Argentine jurisdiction but it is understood legislators belonging to the aged executive's radical party will be freed.

While many of these deputies and other officials escaped after Irigoyen was overthrown, scores of others were arrested by the forces of General Jose Francisco Uriburu, provisional president of the new regime. Admiral Hermelo, new chief of police, indicated today they would be liberated.

At the same time the government arrested Juan Fleitas, former minister of agriculture, as a material witness in connection with the discovery of a cache of arms and ammunition in a social club recently.

A great public funeral was held here for persons who were killed in the street fighting which marked the change of government.

President Uriburu and all members of his cabinet, together with the highest officers of the army and the navy, attended the services in the cathedral.

Great throngs of people filled the church and crowded the streets leading to the cathedral. Several units of cavalry served as a guard of honor, while airplanes dropped wreaths from above.

About 25 persons were killed in the fighting, some 20 of them a week ago tonight and the remainder Monday night.
