Army Builds Camera For Greater Speeds

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Army said Friday it has built a $500 camera out of "odds and ends" which will take pictures at a 100,000,000-per-second clip.

An announcement said the camera, to be used for recording shock and detonation waves in the study of explosives, was designed by Morton Sultanoff, a civilian worker at the Aberdeen, Md., proving ground. Besides helping in the development of weapons, the new camera may be used to study detonation knock in internal combustion engines.

WINS SEGREGATION BATTLE Herman Marion Sweatt (above), Negro mail carrier of Houston, Tex., won his four-year battle to enter the University of Texas law school in a decision handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court. The ruling held that the law school must admit Sweatt because the separate Negro law school there does not and cannot provide educational opportunities equal to those for white students.

Socialism Needed By U. S. To Oust 'Private Profit' Plan, Norman Thomas Tells Party

DETROIT—(AP)—The United States needs socialism, Norman Thomas says because "peace, plenty, freedom and the fraternity of free men can never exist under the supremacy of king private profit."

The white-haired Socialist leader who carried his party's banner in many presidential elections condemned Democratic administration and Republican opposition alike in a prepared address opening his party's 27th national convention here.

"What Democratic Socialism offers to America," he said, "is a philosophy and a set of ideals, a standard of ethics without which our marvelous machinery will never be operated for human values."

President Truman's "fair deal" p.ogram, Thomas said, "offers hope to the masses of people" but is dangerous "not because he has left the old capialtist moorings but because he rejects the Socialist compass to guide him."

The Republican claim that the big issue today is "Socialism versus liberty" Thomas dismissed as "ill-informed."

"Senator Taft's hatred of Socialism never protected him from being dubbed a Socialist by real estate interests when he fought for federal subsidy to housing," Thomas declared

He charged both parties had failed to give any "bold, imaginative leadership for world peace."

The Socialist leader said Truman "heads a warfare rather than a welfare state," with a budget that is "six to eigth per cent welfare and 75 per cent warfare."

Objections Listed

These, Thomas said, are the main objections to the administration program:

1—The President "delivers effective speeches on campaign trips and accomplishes practically nothing in Washington." Here Thomas placed a major share of the blame on "the irresponsibility of our political party system."

2—There is a "low standard of administrative honor and competence . . . in Washington, New York City and scores of other cities and states under Democratic administration."

3—Truman's specific welfare proposals "are at least headed in the right direction" but are "uncoordinated." The program lacks the philosophy that "the supreme loyalty of our time must be given to the spirit of cooperation."

Turning to the question of Socialist Great Britain, Thomas ridiculed the argument that this country's relative prosperity compared to England proves that capitalism is superior to Socialism.

"The thing that failed in Britain and all of Europe was capitalism, not Socialism—the same sort of capitalism that we have had in America," Thomas said, adding:

"The Socialist doctor was called to save the British patient very late. He hasn't worked a miracle, but, by and large, he's done a good job."

On the other hand, Thomas asserted, "such prosperity as we have here . . . is due in large part to the magnitude of government expenditures on an arms economy in no way an expression of free enterprise."

'Indefinitely continued, that arms economy will lead to bankruptcy if it does not first lead to war," Thomas said.

Cain's Filibuster Prevents Action On Rent Controls

WASHINGTON, June 9—(AP)—A grim tug-of-war over extending federal rent controls threatened the senate with a marathon session today.

The determined delaying tactics of Senator Cain (R-Wash) brought a promise from Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois yesterday that he will keep the senators on the job until a voting agreement is reached on a bill to continue rent ceilings beyond the end of this month.

That could mean a session lasting until late tonight and even all day Saturday.

Cain, a long-time opponent of rent controls, told reporters he was ready and willing to speak at length today, tonight, Saturday and even Monday.

His aim is to delay Senate action until the House has voted on a similar control bill—apparently in the hope that the measure will have tougher going in the House.

Cain said some other senators—he did not name them—will rally to his cause. Senator Saltonstall commented yesterday that several Republicans want to speak on the issue.

House leaders have agreed to abandon earlier plans to consider rent controls Monday. Instead the house will wait until the Senate has voted. The Senate and House almost never debate the same bill at the same time.

Lucas, now busy with a re-election campaign, has made it clear to the Senate that he regards the continuance of rent controls as a major political issue.

Senators who attended a closed-door Democratic caucus this week quoted Lucas as saying he considered the rent control issue one of the most important of the session.

With Republicans driving hard to unseat seven Democratic senators this year and gain control of the Senate, Lucas apparently has convinced some reluctant Democrats to vote with him.

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate banking committee told a reporter: "We have more than enough votes to pass this if we get a vote at a time when there are not too many absentees."

Lucas said he is willing to delay the vote until Monday or Tuesday if he can get agreement on a definite time. With the objection of a single senator enough to block an agreement, Cain was unwilling to say whether he would ever permit a voting time to be set.

Both the Senate and House rent measures would continue present federal rent controls for six months. Rent control areas could get another six months of controls by asking for them.
