"Pull the Other Way."

There was a large gathering in Marysville, Cal., and all were interested in the efforts of a youth who was persuading a mule. The young man, the Appeal says, kicked the mule's ribs, struck resounding whacks on the mule's hide with a heavy trace and twisted the mule's ears. The mule stood firm. "Twist his tail,' Scratch his heels," "Tickle his hind legs," shouted the bystanders. The driver now seized the bridle and tried with all his might to haul the mule forward into place, but the mule continued firm. While the driver was still tugging at the bridle, Mr. Howser, who understands mules, chanced to pass. "Haul the other way," said Mr. Howser. "Why so?" asked the driver. "Because it's a mule," he replied. The driver hauled the other way, and the mule immediately went ahead.

EFFECT OF A BLOCKADE OF CHINESE PORTS.—The effect of war between China and France, says the Pall Mall Gazette, would naturally tend to cripple English trade in the East. A blockade of the Chinese ports, supposing France were to achieve that impossible undertaking, would be severely felt in Lancashire. China and Hong Kong take about 9 per cent of England's total exports of cotton piece-goods.
