SONORA ROAD IS TIED UP

Trainmen Strike to Secure Release of Engineer Who Killed an Indian.

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 30.—The Sonora Railroad, which is the Southern extension of the Southern Pacific System from Nogales, Ariz., to Guaymas, State of Sonora, Mexico, is completely tied up as a result of a strike which has as its object the securing of the release of Jesse M. Reitz, now held at Hermosillo, on a charge of manslaughter. Reitz was the engineer of a passenger train which killed a Yaqui Indian while the latter was walking on the track near Hermosillo Saturday. Reitz was arrested and at a preliminary hearing Tuesday was held for trial in default of $5000 bail.

By preconcerted arrangement, all trains on the road were pulled into Hermosillo yesterday and abandoned by the crews, who refuse to move the trains until Reitz is released. No trainmen can be induced to cross the line from Nogales to help break the strike. American Consul Brickwood, of Nogales, and Vice-Consul Hostetter, of Hermosillo, are working on the matter. Representations have been made to the authorities at Washington and the City of Mexico.
