FAST CRAFT COLLIDE ON LAKE MICH.

One Drowns, One Missing—Speedboat Taxis Hit Head-On—Joyce Hawley of Earl Carrol Bathtub Party Rescues Two—Zigzag Crazily Before Collision Is Claim.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 23.—(AP)—Two speedboats, carrying passengers, collided headon in Lake Michigan 200 yards off the navy pier last night. One man was drowned, another is missing and the other 18 passengers swam ashore or floundered about in the water until rescued by nearby craft.

The passenger who drowned was Leo Suesskind of Yonkers, N. Y. David Cohen of Chicago is missing and the lake was being dragged early today for his body. Several of the passengers were injured in the collision. Both boats, each traveling 40 miles an hour over the smooth lake surface, sank almost at once.

Joyce Hawley, the "champagne bath" girl of Earl Carroll's after-theatre party, was credited with rescuing two young women. She was aboard a boat with a party of friends near the scene of the collision.

The two boats, known as the Sea King and the Chris Craft, were engaged in "taxi" service between the Oak street beach and the Michigan boulevard link bridge over the Chicago.

The Sea King, with eight passengers and piloted by Elmer Dudley, a coast guardsman on leave of absence, swung around the end of the navy pier and started northward as the Chris Craft, southbound to the bridge, rapidly approached it. The latter was carrying 10 passengers and the pilot, William Warner.

Witnesses saw the two boats zigzag crazily as they approached each other and veer sharply as they drew together. They met head on. The passengers were hurled into the water.

Three persons swam unaided to shore, got on a street car and sought medical aid where they had boarded the Sea King. Two of those rescued, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McColley, were taken to a hospital where it was said Mrs. McColley had been seriously injured.

The two pilots were held for the coroner's inquest today.

Dudley told police Warner's craft failed to turn out as the Sea King approached.

"I saw the Chris Craft a quarter of a mile away," Dudley said. "I steered to the right and Warner pulled his boat to the left. Then I pulled to the left and he pulled to the right. Then I straightened the Sea King and the Chris Craft straightened, too. A second later we met head on."

Warner said he had not seen the Sea King until the two boats were less than 50 feet away, too brief a space to avert the collision.

PAJAMAS OK AS STREET ATTIRE IN OLD SOUTH

North Carolina Editor Arrested When Appears in Sleeping Garments—Mayor Says Would Do Likewise if Had Nerve.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., July 23.—(AP) W. O. Saunders, editor of the Elizabeth City Independent, is today enjoying both official sanction and praise for the use of pajamas as street wear.

Yesterday afternoon he appeared on the streets clad in the type of garments usually dedicated solely to sleep. He was arrested and led before Mayor Jerome B. Flora. The mayor looked the editor over and then looked into the law. His decision was that there was nothing wrong with Mr. Saunders' clothing for street wear and that there was no law preventing such a use of pajamas.

Mayor Flora then issued a proclamation, to wit:

"It is the inherent right of every citizen or inhabitant of the city and every visitor to dress as he pleases and come as he pleases, as long as there is no indecent exposure of his person."

And in addition the mayor declared over his signature: "If I had the nerve, I would adopt them (pajamas) for street wear myself."

RUM RUNNERS ARE SLAIN IN BORDER BATTLE

Booze Caravan Surprised On Rio Grande By Patrolmen—Two Killed—Five Men, Five Cars Captured—Negro Confesses.

EL PASO, Tex., July 23.—(AP)—Following on the heels of a fight between border patrolmen and smugglers on the Rio Grande at dusk Monday, in which two smugglers were killed and several wounded, members of the border patrol early today continued their offensive by capturing three Mexicans and a truck loaded with liquor.

The cargo was destined for Denver, one of the Mexicans said.

EL PASO, Texas, July 23.—(AP)—Four border patrolmen surprised a band of 20 rum runners at the Rio Grande last night and in a pitched battle killed two of them and wounded another. Five of the band were captured and three motor cars, two trucks and more than 150 gallons of whiskey were confiscated.

Descending upon the rum runners in motor cars the patrolmen mounted a fence near the Rio Grande banks. The rum runners opened the battle and before it ended two were killed and another wounded seriously. It was reported that several hundred rounds of ammunition were fired.

None of the patrolmen was injured.

H. C. Horseley, chief of the border patrol, said that one of the men captured, a negro truck driver, confessed his part in the band's activities and implicated several others, including the man said to be the ringleader.
