Rep. Bennett Will Insist House Investigators Get All Of Goldfine's Records

—NEA Telephoto

HIP-POCKET — John Fox, publisher of the defunct Boston Post, told House influence investigators that his Democratic newspaper was driven out of business by forces high in the Republican Administration which he linked to Bernard Goldfine. In the past, Fox has charged that Goldfine had Sherman Adams "in his hip-pocket."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich) said today he will insist that House investigators get all of Bernard Goldfine's records to find the truth amid conflicting statements in the Sherman Adams controversy.

"That's the one way we can corroborate all these things," said Bennett after hearing fresh testimony from Boston businessman John Fox about relationships between Goldfine, millionaire Boston industrialist, and Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

Fox's new testimony under oath drew more denials.

Speaks At Interview

Bennett, a member of the subcommittee checking relations between Goldfine and Adams, spoke in an interview as the House group appeared to be in disagreement over whether to question Fox in secret when Fox returns to the witness stand Monday.

Friday Fox, who published the now-defunct Boston Post, quoted Goldfine as having told him that Goldfine had bought a Washington house for Adams and had given checks to Adams regularly before Adams came here with Eisenhower in 1953.

"Falsehoods," replied Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty on both counts.

Hagerty said Adams has rented two houses he has lived in since coming to Washington and that Goldfine never sent any checks to Adams.

NBC commentator David Brinkley said last night a title search showed the house now occupied by Adams has been owned by Mrs. Dorothy B. Kerr since 1924.

Late yesterday, Adams blasted as "another malicious falsehood" a statement by Fox that Goldfine once said in the presence of Adams and Fox that Adams "is going to take care of" some troubles Goldfine was having with the Federal Trade Commission.

"I deny it ever happened," Adams said in a statement.

I'm intrigued by an item on the teletype. It goes like this:

"Governor Holmes and Secretary of State Hatfield, contenders in the next Oregon gubernatorial race, have had much to say on the subject of capiTOL punishment.

"Governor Holmes has come out flatly for abolition of capiTOL punishment and has asked the people to vote it out of the Oregon constitution in November. He has commuted two death sentences while in office.

"Hatfield's public statements have been a bit cautious. He says he will 'carry out the mandate of the people' with regard to capiTOL punishment."

I'm not concerned, at the moment, with the views of these opposing candidates on the death

Local Guard Unit Back From Camp Following Training

Wives, children and girl friends were gleeful this morning when Roseburg's National Guard company returned from two weeks' summer training at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Ninety-eight men arrived by train about 5 a.m. A 14-truck convoy arrived later. The two weeks marked the tenth annual encampment since Company D, 186th Infantry was reorganized after World War II.

The training included work with machine guns, mortars and anti-tank recoiless rifles mounted on Jeeps. Several men received minor injuries during training, Lt. John Season, platoon leader, said. The worst "casualty" occurred when Pfc. Paul Thompson of Roseburg suffered face burns when an oil stove exploded. Pfc. Thompson was a member of an advance detail.

Morale, performance and training at the camp were excellent according to First Sgt. Arthur L. Van Slyke, 3028 NE Follet St. Roseburg. "All in all, it was an unusually good camp," Sgt. Van Slyke added.

Last Saturday, the 41st Division, of which Company D is a part, was reviewed by the governors of Oregon and Washington. The division is made up of National Guard units in Oregon and Washington. The Douglas County company is the largest in the division.

Cancer Society Hits United Fund

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A director of the American Cancer Society and past president of the American Medical Assn. has accused united funds charity drives of attempting to sabotage research.

Dr. John W. Cline, San Francisco surgeon, made the attack at the close of the 197th AMA national convention Friday.

He said he had no quarrel with united funds as such but with "professional organizers who for years have been attempting to take over the national voluntary health agencies."

Dr. Cline said the organizers have created "confusion and hostility among the citizenry of scores of communities and jeopardized the success of highly efficient health programs."

The AMA House of Delegates passed a resolution favoring separate money-raising campaigns for cancer, heart, polio and other major disease-fighting agencies.

Connecticut Democrats Pick Senate Candidate

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Democratic delegates today pick their candidates for the U. S. Senate.

But first, the Democratic state convention will nominate a choice for governor. Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff is unopposed.

Then it will decide on a man to oppose Sen. William A. Purtell, whom the Republicans renominated last week.

The only three announced candidates are former Congressman Thomas J. Dodd and William Benton and Chester Bowles of the old Bowles - Benton advertising team. Dodd and Bowles both claim enough delegates to win.

U.S. To Attempt To Contact Rebels

10 Americans Believed Safe In Cuban Hands

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)— The U. S. government decided Saturday to attempt to contact Cuban rebels who are holding 10 American citizens and two Canadians captive in the mountains of northeastern Cuba.

The order to make contact went out to U.S. Consul Park Wollan from Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith after 36 hours had passed without direct word from the rebels and the kidnaped engineers and technicians.

Wollan, consul at Santiago de Cuba, flew Friday to Moa on the north coast where a band of about 200 rebels seized the Americans and Canadians Thursday night. The band was believed led by Raoul Castro, brother of rebel chief Fidel Castro.

Officials of the Moa Mining Co. sent emissaries into the mountains Friday in an effort to gain the release of the kidnaped men. Their apparent failure was believed to have prompted the ambassador to order Wollan on the mission.

U. S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith said he expects the men to be released unharmed soon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Saturday it had received a report that Cuban rebels will soon release 10 U.S. and two Canadian engineers kidnaped Thursday night.

Press officer Francis Tully said the report came from sources in the United States purporting to represent the rebel movement.

These sources informed department officers that the men taken in a raid at Moa Bay are safe, and being well cared for, Tully said.

Asked whether the State Department considered the sources to be authentic contacts with the rebel leadership of Fidel Castro, Tully said, "We understand so; we consider this to be word from the rebels."

State Department officials said they understood that the information forecasting release of the kidnaped men was passed on to the State Department in a face-to-face meeting of department and rebel representatives.

Tully declined to say where in the United States the sources were contacted or otherwise to identify them.

Family Hopeful Portland Man Safe With Rebels

PORTLAND (AP)—The Portland wife of an engineer kidnaped by Cuban rebels Friday night said she believed her husband would be safe "if they keep their heads and do what they are told."

She is Mrs. Henry Salmonson, the mother of three children.

Her husband, an employe of Stebbins Engineering Co., of Watertown, N. Y., was one of nine other American engineers and two Canadians kidnaped by the rebels.

Mrs. Salmonson said she was worried but said, "I feel that if they do what they are told and no one gets to feeling he can escape they should be all right."

The couple has three children—Judy, 17; Sam, 14; and Kathryn, 10.

Mrs. Salmonson said the older girl was upset but thought the younger one had not quite grasped the meaning of the trouble.

She said her husband left for Cuba May 20.

Car Theft Charge Lands Two Juveniles In Jail

A Tenmile boy, 15, and his 14-year-old companion from Winston, were jailed Friday and remanded to juvenile court by District Judge Warren A. Woodruff after arraignment on a charge of car theft.

The pair was picked up Thursday by Coos Bay police and admitted stealing a 1950 sedan from the Roseburg Motor Co. parking lot. Local police put out an all-points bulletin Thursday when Charles Hahn signed a complaint.

The formal charge against the youths is larceny of an automobile.

Vandalism On Vacant Home Told To Police

Vandalism at a vacant home being cared for by Roy O. Young and Son Real Estate was reported to Roseburg police Friday evening.

Police found a young boy in the vicinity who admitted he and his brother broke several windows in the home, police said. Police contacted their father who said other boys also broke some of the windows.

Other nominees were Barbara Workman, Mary Godfrey and Judy Wilcox. All are GOC observers, as is Miss Hebard.

Post Supervisor Dorothy Teater said a pair of Air Force men, both of them GOC officials, were guests at the reception. The two are Maj. Floyd E. McConnell, Portland Filter Center commander, and Sgt. Another guest was Mayor Arlo Jacklin.

Miss Skywatch was awarded a trophy by GOC workers and gifts from Roseburg merchants. All four nominees will be taken on an airplane ride next Thursday as an added award.

Preliminary Victories Won For Statehood

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heartened by preliminary victories, backers predicted today the Senate will vote next week to make Alaska the 49th state.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash), floor manager for the statehood bill, said he expected Senate passage by Wednesday of the measure by a 2-1 margin without change from the form already approved by the House.

The first test votes Friday came on a move by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla) to substitute commonwealth status for statehood and on one of the constitutional challenges raised by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss).

Monroney's proposal, beaten 50-29, would have given Alaska local self-government and exemption from federal income taxes, but would have denied it voting representation in Congress.

Eastland sought to throw out as unconstitutional a section of the bill which would permit the president, without any showing of emergency or declaration of martial law, to withdraw certain areas of Alaska for national defense purposes. His effort was turned down 53-28.

Police Battle Five Hours With 1,000 Peaceful Invaders

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—Police battled for five hours Saturday with more than a thousand Pakistani volunteers attempting a peaceful invasion of Indian-held Kashmir. More than 200 volunteers were reported injured but they kept coming.

Pakistan claims Kashmir and long has been in dispute with India over it.

The clash occurred on the road to Srinagar at Chinari. Police charged repeatedly with batons and threatened to fire on the green uniformed volunteers, none of whom carried weapons. The volunteers defied the police by lying in the road and daring the police to shoot.

The march started with more than 300 volunteers moving toward Kashmir. They pushed a thin police line back inch by inch until 1,500 police reinforcements arrived and started hauling the marchers away bodily.

More than 1,000 volunteers had arrived by the time police reinforcements came and more were still trekking in.

Police first tried to head off the march Friday. They hauled away hundreds of volunteers and arrested one of their leaders.

The volunteers are members of the Kashmir liberation movement.

Stalin's One-Time Favorite Ballerina Admits Shoplift Charge In Brussels Arrest

BRUSSELS (AP)—Olga Lepeshinskaya, once Stalin's favorite ballerina, was caught shoplifting in a Brussels department store, police said Saturday.

The star of the Bolshoi Ballet now appearing at the Brussels World Fair, Miss Lepeshinskaya is ranked only behind Galla Ulanova and Maya Plisetskaya among Moscow's famous ballerinas.

Police said she was stopped on leaving the store Friday by a store detective, who had been tipped off by a customer.

She pleaded to be allowed to attend ballet rehearsals, but was hustled off to a police station, then to the Palace of Justice for questioning.

Admits Taking Items

Police said she finally admitted taking an umbrella, two pairs of gloves, cuff links and some tape.

Unlike the celebrated case of a Soviet woman athlete convicted of shoplifting in London in 1956, this one seemed unlikely to cause an international incident.

Store officials indicated they would not take any action.

Miss Lepeshinskaya was once known as Stalin's favorite ballerina.

Miss Lepeshinskaya is due to leave next week on conclusion of the ballet's fair schedule.

A fair theater management spokesman at first said Miss Lepeshinskaya attended Friday night's performance. Later he corrected this and said the star did not perform. She is due to appear Saturday night.

Recalls Incident

Two years ago an international incident developed after Nina Ponomareva, Soviet Olympic discus thrower, was charged with shoplifting five cheap hats in London.

An athletic meet was canceled in London and after hiding out for days in the Soviet Embassy, the attractive athlete finally appeared in court.

She denied stealing the hats but was convicted of shoplifting. She was released on payment of court costs.

The Soviet government stood behind Nina and only a year ago awarded her the Order of Labor Red Banner.

Ike Deplores Foreign Aid Money Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's appeal for restoration of foreign aid funds taken away by a House committee met stiff Democratic resistance today.

Eisenhower said Friday he was deeply distressed by the House Appropriations Committee's reduction of 872 million dollars from his requested $3,950,000,000 for economic and military aid to friendly nations in the fiscal year starting next Tuesday.

If the deep cut is allowed to stand, Eisenhower said, "I fear there will be important losses for the free world and a serious decreasing of the security of the United States."

The House will vote next week on the $3,078,000,000 money bill totaling 357 million less than is being spent on overseas assistance in the current fiscal year. It is 597 million dollars less than the $3,675,000,000 ceiling fixed in authorization legislation finally passed by both houses yesterday and sent to the President.

Senate Approves Atomic Sharing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only final Senate approval is needed to complete congressional action on President Eisenhower's proposal to share atomic weapons information and material with U. S. allies.

The House voted Friday to accept a compromise of relatively minor differences between Senate and House versions of the measure. The Sentate is expected to act the first of next week.

The chief provision of the bill would apply only to Britain. This provision would permit exchange of nuclear weapon making information and material and non-nuclear parts of atomic weapons only with allies that have reached an advanced stage in weapons production capability. So far, Britain is the only U. S. ally to reach such a stage.

Court Recesses While Judges Attend Meeting

Circuit Court was in virtual recess Friday.

Both Judge Carl E. Wimberly and Judge Charles S. Woodrich were in Portland to attend the annual meeting of Oregon jurists.

At the same time Avery W. Thompson, district attorney, and his assistant, Verden Hockett, were in Salem meeting with other district attorneys from throughout the state.

PHONE BOOTH DAMAGED

Leads Offered To Back Charges On Jury Fix Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) offered today to give Indiana authorities some good leads to back charges that labor leaders James R. Hoffa and Maurice A. Hutcheson plotted to fix a grand jury.

"We have good leads they could follow up that should be productive," said McClellan, chairman of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

The committee temporarily wound up hearings on Hutcheson's Carpenters Union Friday with a charge that Hutcheson's late father embezzled $250,000 of union property and willed it to his heirs.

Maurice Hutcheson sat poker faced and silent as committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy made the embezzlement charge against William L. (Big Bill) Hutcheson, whom the son succeeded as Carpenters Union president.

Sits Poker-faced

Hutcheson's son, Maurice L. Hutcheson, who succeeded to the union presidency, sat poker-faced in the witness chair as he heard the allegations.

Maurice Hutcheson had just refused himself to tell the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee whether he had used union funds in a plot to avoid indictment in the Indiana highway scandals.

Nor would he tell the committee whether he had "an arrangement" with James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, under which Hoffa was to have performed tasks for Hutcheson "in return for your support on the question of his (Hoffa) being ousted from the AFL-CIO."

This was the closest the committee came to asking Hutcheson about allegations by Kennedy that Hutcheson and Hoffa had conspired with Max Raddock, a Flushing, N.Y., publisher, and others to fix a grand jury in Lake County, Ind. That grand jury refused to indict in the Indiana highway scandals but a jury in Indianapolis indicted Hutcheson and two other union officers.

Packing House Burns To Ground In Garden Valley

An old packing house which has become a Garden Valley landmark since it was built in 1922 burned to the ground Friday.

The structure was located on Garden Valley Road about nine miles west of Roseburg.

Cause of the fire is undetermined.

Correspondent Addie Schneider reported the blaze was discovered by Mrs. Don Rogan, who lives across the road from the building. Another neighbor, Hugh Ritchie called the Douglas Fire Protective Assn., which kept the flames from spreading to nearby buildings.

However, flames licked through power lines and left residents of the area without electricity for some time.

The building was constructed for the Oregon Growers Assn., by local apple growers. Building contractor was L. W. Metzger.

It was sold several years ago to the John McNutt family, who used the structure for brooding poultry and storing straw. The McNutts live on Round Prairie Ranch near Myrtle Creek.

Earlier, the building had served as a prune drier. In the days when it still was used for apple packing, the Garden Valley Women's Club used one room as a meeting place.

Insurance Bid Change Delays Ballot Counting

A final count of votes to determine which of several medical plans will be adopted by county employes has been delayed until Monday.

A last minute change in proposals by one of the bidding companies Friday made it necessary to recount ballots.

County workers are adopting a new medical and hospital service plan to take the place of one withdrawn recently by the Oregon Physicians Service.

Eight Killed, 20 Wounded In Skirmishes

Lebanese Security Forces Brace For New Onslaughts Today

BEIRUT, (AP)— A battle raged for more than 12 hours overnight in Tripoli between government and rebel forces, insurgent sources reported Saturday.

Eight persons were killed and about 20 wounded—many of them bystanders caught by stray bullets—the reports from the northern port city said.

Maan Karami, brother of the northern rebel leader, Raschikd Karami, said that it was the most violent night for Tripoli since the Lebanese crisis began 50 days ago.

Lebanese security forces were braced for new onslaughts after stopping four rebel attacks Friday in the gravest challenge so far to President Camile Camoun's pro-Western government.

Battle Began Friday

The battle in Tripoli began at 10 o'clock Friday night when armed men infiltrated close to security forces positions, Karami said.

The shooting began to subside Saturday morning, but at noon the thunder of artillery still could be heard in the hills surrounding Tripoli.

Security forces reportedly used heavy artillery frequently during the battle. It was the third straight day of heavy fighting around Tripoli.

BEIRUT, Lebanon, (AP) — Rising irritation with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was exhibited here Saturday by forces normally opposed to President Camille Chamoun.

Hammarskjold was accused editorially of seeming to lack "power and appreciation" of what's going on in this rebellion-racked nation. He reportedly believes the situation is not so bad as it looks and has adopted a wait-and-see attitude.

Two Women, Girl Drown After Car Plunges Into Lake

JOSEPH, Ore. (AP) — Two elderly women and a three-year-old girl drowned Friday when a car veered off a highway and plunged down a steep bank into Wallowa Lake.

Police identified the victims as Mrs. Calista Shoemake, 65, Tarzana, Calif., driver of the car, and Mrs. Jessie Biggers, 60, La Grande, Ore. Both were trapped inside the car and drowned. The little girl, Christy Blanton of Enterprise, Ore., was thrown clear of the car, but was drowned in the icy waters of the lake.

Mrs. Bill Blanton, mother of Christy, also was thrown clear of the car and managed to swim ashore. She was rushed to a hospital in deep shock.

Bob Wiggins, operator of a lodge on the scenic lake, dove into the water and recovered the girl's body.

A wrecker pulled the car from the lake.

The three deaths increased Oregon's 1958 traffic toll to 170 in the Associated Press tabulation. June deaths to date total 28.

Tri-City Water Loan Approved

Action by a federal agency in Washington has paved the way for solution of the Tri-City area's water problem.

Clark Stokes, secretary of the Tri-City Water District, reported to Correspondent Ruth Evans Friday that the Federal Housing and Home Financing Agency has approved the district's application for a loan in the amount of $260,000. Stokes said he learned of the move in a telephone call from Rep. Charles O. Porter, Fourth District congressman.

The money will be used to finance a source of water and distribution system for the Tri-City area. Engineers working with the district are Cornell, Howland, Hayes and Merryfield, Corvallis.

The district recently drilled two test wells from which engineers reported good results, said Stokes. He added that the engineers deemed further drilling advisable.

Stokes said the project soon will be let for bids. He indicated bids will be let after further information and details of the project are received from the consulting engineers.
