On The Side

By E. V. Durling

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

To keep one sacred flame,
Through life unchilled, unmoved,
To love, in wintry age, the same
As first in youth we loved.
To feel that we adore,
Even to such fond excess,
That, though the heart would
Break with more,
It could not live with less.
—Moore

Too much discussed attraction powers of the color pink even extend to fish. It is reported when Japanese fishermen began to use pink nets they caught 60 per cent more fish than before. Very interesting. Wonder how effective some pink colored bait would be.

Something New

The constant complaints of our countrywomen as to that male face condition called "five o'clock shadow" has inspired an inventor to rise to new heights of ingenuity. He has originated a miniature safety razor that, with a small container of shaving cream, is enclosed in a package similar in size and shape to a match folder. A man possessing one can, when away from home, adjourn to the nearest wash room and give himself a quick shave. The gadget is so inexpensive that after shaving he can throw it away!

Popular Song

That tuneful ditty "Glow Little Glow Worm" continues to be popular. It was introduced in this country nearly 50 years ago by May Naudain in the musical show "The Girl Behind the Counter." Incidentally, I suppose you know why a glow worm glows. If not, let me tell you it is the female glow worm that glows. She does so to convey the message to any male glow worms in the vicinity that she is in the mood for love.

Asking

Queries from clients. Q. Who popularized the song titled, "A Bird in a Gilded Cage"? A. Imogene Comer. Q. In what part of Brooklyn did you spend your boyhood? A. In the most beautiful section of the borough which is of course Bay Ridge, overlooking New York harbor. From our windows we could see the Statue of Liberty.

Over There

What is your husband's greatest defect? That query was put to thousands of French women. The majority answered, "Egotism." Next in line was that the husband didn't shave enough. After that, "too much interest in sports." Only 13 per cent of the French wives queried complained of infidelity.

Husband Hunters

There are now nearly 7,000,000 divorcees in this country. As yet, I have never met a divorcee who didn't want to marry again. So it must be assumed that there are about 7,000,000 ex-wives active in the United States husband hunting field. This is a terrific threat to the matrimonial chances of bachelorettes and widows. In the past few years, divorcees have been preferred matrimonial material. Even bachelors seem to favor them.

Never Again

The "Never Again Club" is the name of a recently formed group of New Yorkers. It is made up of divorced men who found their first matrimonial experience so unpleasant they have sworn never to marry again. For their "Club Poem," the never again club has adopted the following by Herrick:

Farewell, my shackles, I am free from thee,
Such throldom, ne'er again shall metter me.
He loves his bonds, who, when the first are broke
Submits his neck unti a second yoke.

Shapes

The reason so many women never get the right idea as to their figures is because they don't look at their shapes sideways. Same applies to men. A man never realizes how much of a bulge or "corporation" he is suffering from until he takes a side view of himself. Try it, sir, in a full length mirror.

SCIENCE AT WORK

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

New York—(U.P.)—One of the troubles of growing older is that it may cause increasing attention to personal cleanliness, and it is sometimes necessary to tell aging people "bacteria may be less harmful than baths."

Dr. Walter B. Shelley was lecturing members of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania on the "aging skin," and he meant the skin of people of 35 and older—and in some cases, younger. The aging skin is "a fabric which is generally thinning."

Skin which is past 35 years in age is likely to be dry. This is due to sebaceous and sweat glands secreting less, and to changes in skin chemistry. When confronted by dry skin, "it is wise to inquire in detail regarding bathing habits," he told the doctors.

Too Much Sun

"Increasing attention to cleanliness" can produce an eczema that defies efforts to cure it. "Bathing must be limited as to duration and frequency. The patient should be brought to the realization that bacteria may be less harmful than baths."

"Sun-bathing" can be overdone as much as water bathing, he said. Too much sun over a long period of time, ages the skin prematurely. Indeed, "the skin may show disproportionately early aging as a result of the rigors of an unkind environment." By that he meant wind and rain as well as the sun.

"Preventive medicine, of cardinal importance in geriatrics, has long supported a program of sound public instruction concerning the advantages of protecting the sikn from unnecessary environmental trauma," he said. "Probably the major danger to be avoided is chronic low-grade over-exposure to sunlight or to ultra-violet light in home lamps."

Careful Study

The troubles that come to aging skin are mainly due to disturbances in growth patterns. Also the aging skin can be host to an unique group of sore-causing disturbances. But it is not at all immune to a dermatitis which is quite common in childhood.

Some of the skin disturbances of aging are quite harmless, but others may be preliminary to the development of cancers. Therefore, neither the patient nor the physician should take them lightly until they've been studied and identified beyond question.

The aging skin is something aging people cannot conceal, no matter how they may cover up on the other sgns of age in their bodies. In Dr. Shelley's words, it "is the most evident of all the aging processes."

"From early childhood, wrinles, loss of hair pigment, and indeed loss of hair itself are sensed and interpreted in terms of age," he added. "The skin has always served as a convenient, if not complete, assessment of a person's physiologic age."

But the "long-term devotee" of sun-bathing and people who are exposed too much to wind and rain can look older than they are actually—their skin is not a reliable age-teller.

THE TV KIND

Brockton, Mass. —(U.P.)—Little Donald's all right, but how about the television set? Twice in one day tiny Donald Reed was taken to Brockton Hospital but nothing was found wrong with him. Donald had twice chewed up parts of television tubes and suffered no ill effects.

AFL Carpenters Vote To Accept Wage Hike

Portland—(U.P.)—AFL carpenters in Oregon, outside of Portland, and in southwest Washington have voted to accept a 5½ cent hourly wage increase which Portland carpenters rejected, it has been reported here.

Oregon carpenters outside of Portland voted 657 to 373 and southwest Washington carpenters 260 to 24 for the offer. Portland carpenters earlier rejected it by a vote of 2071 to 272.

Portland — (U.P.)— Approximately 15 per cent of the driving public which consistently disregards safe driving standards should be "put off the road," Circuit Judge Virgin Langtry told the Oregon Highway Lifesavers.

Telephone call saves farmer $400. Gus Holman, pointing above, of Butte Four Corners, Calif., is a farmer who really values his telephone. Not long ago, he and his brother needed a tractor fast. They couldn't find one nearby at the price they wanted to pay. So they went to their telephone. With one call, they found just what they needed . . . at a saving of $400. Cost of the call: only $1. "Our telephone pays us back a lot more in time and money saved than it costs us," says Mr. Holman. And that's the aim of telephone people everywhere—to bring you the good service you need to get things done . . . and to bring it to you at low cost. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.
