QUESTION

DOES your job offer you financial success and the opportunity for advancement? Do you honestly feel that hard work and ability will guarantee you success and special prestige in the work you are doing? If the answer to these questions is yes, then you are indeed fortunate, but perhaps you have arrived at the same conclusion as many others—that you can go no further because of seniority of the nature of the job, or special training or education. If that is the case, you should consider changing your field.

ANSWER

THE SALES FIELD could be the answer to your problem. No other field offers such high rewards for hard work, ability and ambition. Most men can sell if they try. If you have always wanted these advantages but have hesitated to make a move, you will be interested in this opportunity afforded by Oregon's most successful firm in its field.
