PLIGHT OF A MAN WITHOUT AVOCATION

A man aged 72, recently retired on pension and social security amounting to bare subsistance complains of several things, scilicet (this will stop the sophomores):

Dr. Brady

(1) The dollars he receives in these doles buy only half the groceries the dollars he paid for them would have bought.

(2) He had received no raise in pay in the last 25 years—in fact, employers made it plain they were keeping a man over 50 on the payroll only out of kindness.

(3) He has few close friends, merely casual acquaintances, and so he feels isolated.

(4) Now he is becoming depressed and worries a good deal about hardening of the arteries, a stroke, cancer . . .

The first and second complaints are beyond my province, although they may have a good deal to do with what ails the man.

The second complaint, implying that a man over fifty doesn't rate a raise in pay and ought to be thankful to be kept on at the same pay he received 25 years ago, is reasonable enough. How come we don't fire, retire or carry on the payroll as a kindness business executives, government officials, congressmen, judges, army and navy officers, doctors, lawyers, editors, or preachers because they are past fifty.

The third and fourth complaints remind me first that in half an hour I must shut down for the day and hie away to the bowling green. Lawn bowls, that is, an ancient game played on a plot of greensward as smooth as a billiard table. Desciption of the game of bowls in the B volume of Encyclopedia Britannica.

It's just too bad, I think, that this poor soul who retired with a dull, sickening thud, never had the good fortune to become addicted to bowling on the green or some similar game, avocation, hobby, or extracurricular activity when he was thirty, forty, fifty, sixty, or seventy. It would take up the slack and keep him from feeling isolated, out of it, friendless, and depressed now that there's nothing interesting to do. Having such an outside interest makes retirement easy. It saves many a man from rapid decline after he retires.

The diseases this poor soul worries about will come if he is so fated, and if I may offer him some advice, I'll say he might better worry about how he can get by St. Peter in the hereafter. I find this quite sufficient to worry about.

COUNCIL SPEECHES 'CRUEL'

Boston — (U.P.) — The Boston City council approved an order Monday night to have the city publicized by television. But the council exempted its own meetings because its speeches would be "a cruel and unwararnted punishment to inflict on the public."

A low-weight, high gloss polyethylene treated wrapper is expected to extend the shelf life and saleability of bread.

THANKS

The hard working men and women of our local school boards have often done the "impossible" in coping with our rapidly growing school needs. For what they have accomplished—they deserve our greatest gratitude.

But with school needs still growing, they need more than our thanks. They need our active support, individually and through other community groups.

Let's help them, not only to solve current problems, but to plan a program that looks at least ten years ahead to insure the future education of our children.

BETTER SCHOOLS BUILD BETTER COMMUNITIES

Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council

Former Chinese Prisoner Silent

Redwood City, Calif.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Adele Austin Rickett spent her third day in the United States in seclusion, unwilling to see anyone or discuss her 3½ years in a Chinese Communist prison.

She shunned newspapermen and refused to answer the telephone at the home of a family friend, Harry Sturgnell, where she fled after arriving in San Francisco Sunday.

There was no indication when she would return to her home in Yonkers, N.Y.

This refusal to talk was in marked contrast to the 35-year-old Fulbright scholar's earlier willingness to discuss her experiences and to praise highly the Chinese Communist government.
