TEENAGE SMOKER IS ON THE SKIDS

Since we do not know the nature or cause of cancer, it seems to me that a lot of talent, time and money is being wasted in the controversy carried on by so-called scientific investigators concerning the relation of cigarette smoking to cancer of the lung. Until a specific cause of cancer is identified—if there is much a cause, or if cancer is a specific disease—it is bootless to expect a positive answer to the question. The best answer in any instance, I think, is the opinion of a physician who is apprised of the instant circumstances.

Indeed, medical authorities are of various complexions concerning the effects of smoking upon the heart, arteries, blood pressure, mental efficiency, digestion and the wind. About the wind, especially "second wind," most authorities agree that one with any athletic ambition cannot smoke and still succeed against competition.

In my opinion, excessive smoking almost invariably impairs health. In my opinion, any smoking at all is excessive before the age of full growth and development (22 to 25 years). The ill effects manifest themselves in one or more of the ways already sugested. This is just a health column. If you have any symptoms tell 'em to your doctor.

In my opinion the ill effects of smoking are due mainly to the carbon monoxide in tobacco smoke. I believe none of the bad effects is due to nicotine—for the simple reason that the nicotine in tobacco is destroyed by combustion.

There is little scientific evidence that moderate or temperate smoking does a full-grown person any harm.

Excessive smoking, like crapulous smoking (swinish), gluttonish, careless or gross), comes easier to the cigarette smoker—such as the one who smokes before a meal or in the course of a meal; or one who hangs a cigarette on his lip on any and all occasions; or one who lights a cigarette without caring or asking whether smoking may be offensive to non-smokers nearby; or the one who smokes while pretending to be at work. Most disgusting is the character who brings her nightclub manners into the home, strews ashes and stubs in her wake, burns the furniture and napery and tries to conceal the damage until she can make her get-away. This one makes a production of lighting a cigarette, as they do in the movies, to conceal from the other morons, the fact that she is one.

What I have already said about full-grown persons applies to women as well as to men.

Moderately or temperately means with self-control and self-control implies character. In other words the moderate or temperate smoker has the habit. If character is weak, self-control and discipline undeveloped the habit has the smoker. After all, excessive indulgence is anything usually indicates mental deficiency or lack of character, doesn't it?

Pensioners Warned Of Income Rulings

Veterans and widows of veterans receiving non service connected pensions were cautioned last week that the Veterans Administration has tightened up its regulations with regard to excess income allowable.

Charles Holbrook, county veterans service officer, said that they could result in a pensioner ending up in debt to the government in the amount of a full year's pension. Pensioners must now report immediately to the VA any increase in income which would put him or her in excess of the limitation.

If no such report is made, Holbrook added, and if this fact is later disclosed, the pensioner may be required to refund all pension payments made. This penalty provision is new, he said.

Detailed information is available from Holbrook, whose office is on the third floor of the county courthouse.

More Bad Checks Come In During Investigation

Bad checks are still showing up in a case being investigated by city police, they said Friday. Robert Johnston Smith, 801 Newtown st., is being held in connection with the case.

Smith was arrested July 20. Since that date, three bad checks connected with the case have been reported.

Edward J. Bolen, address given as 2882 Stewart ave., now in the county jail waiting sentencing for obtaining money under false pretenses, is also suspected of passing a bad check at Anderson's Market, 711 South Central ave., police said.

Two other bad checks, signed by different persons, have been cashed at Anderson's Market, police added.

Two Portland People Injured in Accident

Two Portland people were taken to Ashland General hospital following an auto accident at Crowson rd. and Highway 99 south of Ashland about 11 a.m. Friday, according to hospital and ambulance service reports.

The hospital said that Miss Lillian Davis, 1626 Southwest Montgomery st., Portland, suffered a head laceration and C. B. Stewart, 38, of 2136 SE Clayton st., Portland, a shoulder injury.

The convertible in which the two were riding overturned when the driver lost control. The car skidded 237 feet, police said.
