THREE STUDENTS MODEL COMBINED ART FIGURE

Work in Architecture and Allied Arts Will Be Displayed Next Week

A figure representing the collaboration of sculpture and architecture is being modeled by Mrs. E. T. Hodge, Eunice Zimmerman and Mabel Johnson, students in the department of sculpture under the direction of Professor Avard Fairbanks, and will be on display at the studio May 29. At the same time the Doughboy, which has been modeled by Mr. Fairbanks, will be on exhibit and the work of all students in the department will be shown as a climax to the term's work.

This exhibit coincides with that of the entire school of architecture and allied arts, which marks the end of the work of the term and at this time the awards offered in the various departments of the school will be announced.

The figure which is being made by three of the majors in the sculpture department, will be placed over the door of the studio when it is finished. It consists of two half-full figures, one of a sculptor working on a piece of marble and the other an architect, who is contemplating an Ionic capital. These together form the composition which was the conception of Miss Brownell Fraser, ex-'21. Miss Fraser won a number of prizes while she was a student at the University and this conception was awarded a prize, although she could not work out the figures herself.

When it is finished it will also be sent to Portland to be exhibited. Other compositions in the exhibit here on Monday will include a number of plaster reliefs and portraits of the students in the department done by their classmates. Detailed studies of human figures which have been a large part of the preliminary work in sculpture this year will be displayed also, in order that all those who see the exhibit may see the type of work done by the students in the process of modeling.

At the close of the exhibit a number of prizes and awards will be announced by judges who are expected for the occasion and who will serve on the regular jury for the school of architecture.

THIRD BRANCH OF PRESS ASSOCIATION IS FORMED

Dean Allen Attends Organization of Rogue River Valley at Medford

The Rogue River Valley high school press association, the newest branch of the Oregon State press association, was organized recently at Medford, Dean Eric Allen of the school of journalism attending the organization. This is the third branch of the state association of high school publications which held its convention in Eugene the week-end of April 14.

The meeting at Medford was composed of students from Rogue River valley, eight high school papers being represented. High school editors and managers from Grants Pass, Ashland, Medford, Phoenix, and Central Point were present, including 35 representatives in all. Many teachers and principals, as well as the high school editors and managers, attended the organization of the association.

The program for the meeting included a business program followed by a banquet prepared by the domestic science department of the Medford high school. Merle Rymer, of Grants Pass, was elected president of the Rogue River Valley association.

The new organization includes eight high schools at the present time, and plans are being made for admitting more later.

The other two branches of the Oregon State high school press association are the Yamhill, Washington and Northern Marion County branch at Newburg, and the association which includes Clackamas county.

E. B. U. GRADUATION SET FOR NEXT MONDAY

31 to Receive Degrees; Two Are Oregon Alumni

The week of May 22-29 is commencement week for the Eugene Bible University, with thirty-two students receiving their diplomas. This year's commencement marks the end of the school's twenty-seventh year.

Of the graduating class, Len Bryan Fishback and Rhoda Enid Lamb graduated from the University of Oregon last June, and the following fourteen are taking University hours at present: Kathryn Isabel Baker, Bess Belle Bodine, John Eric Carlson, Grace Ella Farnham, Alonzo Theodore Goodwin, Gareld Lee Matlock, Jessie Baptie Carlson, Sylvia Alberta Gilfilen, Lulu Lois Boyd, Ethel Conway Myers, Helen May Goodwin, Grant Faith Lattin, Winnie Etta Lattin, and Eldon Lester Wood.

The baccalaureate sermon will be given Sunday morning, May 28, by Dr. E. V. Stivers, pastor of the First Christian church. Following the sermon will come the ordination services conducted by President E. C. Sanderson, of the Eugene Bible University, assisted by Dr. Stivers.

The Louis H. Turner museum, made up of gifts from graduates now doing work in the mission fields, will be formerly opened on Sunday afternoon at 2:30. At 8:00 P. M. Sunday evening, the services at the Christian church will be in charge of the senior class, with four of the young ministers each taking a part in the sermon.

On Monday, May 29, the afternoon will be taken up with alumni meetings. The graduation exercises will be at 8:00 o'clock Monday evening, with President P. L. Campbell, of the University of Oregon, delivering the principal address. The degrees will be conferred the graduates by President Sanderson.

The early part of commencement week starts with the graduate recitals of music, elocution, and oratory students at 8:00 on May 22, 23, 24 and 27. A number of graduates are taking their degrees in these branches of work.

PRESIDENT OPENS STATE ODD FELLOWS' MEETING

Reception and Dance Follows Opening Assembly of I. O. O. F. Order in Woman's Building

President P. L. Campbell delivered the opening address of welcome at the session of the state convention of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows last night at the Woman's building. A reply was delivered by the Grand Master of the order. After speeches by prominent Odd Fellows of Oregon, there was a reception wheih was followed by a dance.

Last night's session was the second one held on the campus. Monday night at a meeting held in the Woman's building, decorations of chivalry were conferred upon Col. S. E. Watkins as a surprise, and upon F. E. Redding. This decoration is bestowed for special service. The ceremony is very impressive and lasts about 30 minutes.

Fifty or 60 women of the Rebekah lodge were given this decoration at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, after which they were guests of honor at a banquet. There are about 226 Rebekah lodges in the state and as many Odd Fellow chapters. There are representatives from every chapter in the state present at this conference, which comes to an end Thursday with the election of officers.

DAVID CAMPBELL TO PLAY

the night of the concert, and the evening be devoted to a "David Campbell home-coming." This plan has not yet been acted upon, and further announcements will be made.

Tickets for the concert will be on sale at all living organizations, the Co-op, Kuykendall's drug store, and by individual members of the music department.

SPRING TRAINING TO START

Spring wrestling is to be started this week for the purpose of giving the men trying out for next year's varsity a good preliminary training in the different holds and breaks, says Coach Barnes, wrestling coach. This work will come Mondays and Wednesdays of each week at 5 o'clock sharp and will last until 5:45.

There will be no regular matches scheduled this spring, but the men will work out among themselves and get the basic training of the sport, in order that they may start in next year on more advanced work.

NEAR EAST CLOTHING DRIVE CLOSES TODAY

Students Are Asked to Donate Old Finery to Cause

College students can play an important part in the clothing drive for the Near East Relief which will close today, by donating their cast off apparel to the cause, according to the committee which is working on the drive. Finery, evening clothes, party frocks and other things of this nature are not out of order, although they may seem out of place to send to the needy sufferers in the East. But these clothes are exchanged by a central bureau of the drive in Portland, and in their place more appropriate articles of apparel are sent.

Miss Alice Capps, who is superintending the collection of the clothing today, "Bundle Day," said, "The members of the committee feel that if the students realized the great relief they could accomplish among the sufferers of the Near East by simply turning their discarded finery over to the committee, they would all respond to the call for assistance."

Other Materials Needed

As well as all kinds of clothing there is need for pieces of old linen, sheets and the like, for making bandages; small bits of new materials for making quilts; bright ribbons for the pleasure of the children whose lives are so drab and colorless; games and books of any kind. Contributions of money are also hoped for.

The following receiving stations for the bundles have been chosen and packages may be left there either on or before May 24: The Fairmount Presbyterian church, the Central Presbyterian church, the Methodist church and the College Crest Community house. Anyone who is not able to deliver his bundles can call any of the following members of the committee who will see that the packages are collected: Mrs. Carl Washburne, 1254; Mrs. J. M. Miller, 574J; Mrs. E. B. Parks, 1055L; Mrs. C. B. Royer, 258R; Miss Alice Capps, 291J; and Rev. W. H. L. Marshall, 979J.

Stores to Aid in Collection

Arrangements have been made by some of the stores in Eugene to collect any bundles of customers who have deliveries on May 24, the last day of the drive.

In early attempts to raise money for the Near East Relief, the committtee has not met with overwhelming success, so contributions of money will be accepted as well as clothing in this drive. All donations of this kind are to be paid to Percy Brown of the First Natnonal Bank.

'OLD OREGON' READY SOON

College Press Prints Oregon Exchanges and Commonwealth Review

Among the University publications that are just off the press or that will appear before the end of the term, are the Extension Monitor, which is just out; "Old Oregon," which will appear in a short time, edited by Erma Zimmerman Smythe, '19; the Commonwealth Review, published by the sociology department, and Oregon Exchanges.

Oregon Exchanges, published by the school of journalism and edited by Prof. George S. Turnbull, contains articles on current newspaper problems, written by prominent newspaper men of the state, and little squibs concerning the doings of newspaper people in all parts of the state. This issue contains an article entitled "Newspapers in Norway," by Melvin T. Solve, of the rhetoric department, who held a scholarship in the University of Christiania before coming to the University.

GEOGRAPHY TESTS PRAISED

Commendations for the Gregory-Spencer geography tests, originated by Prof. C. A. Gregory of the school of education and Peter L. Spencer, instructor at the University high school, continue to come to the research bureau. E. E. Keener, director of educational research at Chicago, says, in regard to the tests, "I think it the best test that I have ever seen in the subject. I am making a requisition through the purchasing department for 600 copies."
