WASHINGTON WAITS FOR SUFFRAGETTES

CAPITAL GRADUALLY REALIZES WHAT NEW DEPARTURE THERE WILL BE IN THE INAUGURAL PROCESSION

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18.—This city during the last week has gradually awakened to the fact that it is in the midst of the greatest woman suffrage crusade ever attempted on a national scale in the United States. In preparation for the suffrage pageant and procession on March 3, meetings have been held throughout the city, on street corners and before the buildings housing the great departments of the government, until the people of the capital city have become convinced that they are going to have forty-seven different varieties of thrills during inauguration week.

While the underlying motive of the procession and pageant is most serious, there will be plenty of entertaining features, the ranks of "General" Rosalie Jones' Army, which is walking from New York to Washington, leaving the former city on February 12, it is said, have already begun to grow, while the ranks of the "petticoat cavalry," which will be an important feature of the parade, are said to be filling rapidly.

NIGHTINGALE OF SOUTH FAILING

DEVOTEE OF THE CONFEDERATE CAUSE IS IN DESTITUTE CONDITION IN WASHINGTON——GAVE FORTUNE TO THE SOUTH

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18.—Bent with her almost four score years Mrs. Ella Newsome Trader, the "Florence Nightingale of the South," is living here in almost destitute circumstances in this city. Her only support is the small salary she gets in the pension office and a government salary drawn by her one daughter.

Born in Brandon, Miss., May 3, 1836, Mrs. Trader inherited a fortune of practically half a million dollars. At the outbreak of the Civil War she went to the field as a nurse, and organized hospitals, many of which she equipped out of her own funds. From her large plantation down in old Mississippi she donated flour, molasses, meats and groceries to the cause of the Confederacy. She has been married twice, the first time taking the name of Newsome. After the death of her first husband she married Colonel W. H. Trader, commander of the Arkansas volunteers in the Confederate army.

Southern friends of Mrs. Trader expect to begin a movement to ask the patriotic people in Dixie to contribute an amount sufficient to enable her to live her last days without work.

PIONEER MINER AT POOR FARM

VETERAN PROSPECTOR SHOWS SIGNS OF MENTAL WEAKNESS, FOLLOWING MANY HARDSHIPS ENCOUNTERED LAST WINTER

MEDFORD, Feb. 18.—John Alexander, the pioneer prospector of Union Creek, whose hardships in the Crater Lake forest reserve in the winter left him irresponsible, has been committed to the county poor farm until his friends in Nebraska and Eastern Oregon can come to his assistance.

Going to the poor farm was no balm to the soul of the pioneer. He had to be assured many times that he was not considered as a pauper, and consented to go only when promised that he would be allowed to work out of doors. He is a vigorous old man, who all his life has been chasing the rainbow of wealth in the mountains. Prosecutor Kelly wrote a letter to the superintendent of the poor farm, admitting Alexander, who walked the six miles to Talent and presented his own commitment papers.

Alexander has exposed himself to the rigors of a Crater Lake winter, camping out, sleeping where night overtook him, and these hardships are believed to have left him irresponsible and illusionary upon the subject of mining prospects.

MESSAGES ARE SENT TO SALEM

ALLEGED ASSAULT BY THE GOVERNOR ON A NEWSPAPER REPORTER BRINGS FORTH A PROTEST BY CITIZENS

Well known Klamath Falls business men, recalling the sensational stories following the alleged assault on R. Vanch Hutchins by Officer Hall, last night sent telegrams to the outside world protesting against the alleged assault by Governor West on a newspaper reporter.

The telegrams follow:

Klamath Falls, Oregon.
February 17, 1913.

We are advised through the columns of the press and otherwise that a citizen of your city was assaulted by the Governor of Oregon, and that members of the Legislature, charged with the enforcement of the law, stood by and permitted the assault; that the assaulting officer has not been arrested. In view of the charges we wish to be advised what steps, you as mayor, will take toward bringing about a better enforcement of the law in your city. Otherwise it will be the duty of the citizens of this city to take such steps in order that the newspaper men in Salem may be given protection.

We have one of our own newspaper men up there, and if this is to be the practice in your city will send our own police to guard our representative until the adjournment of the Legislature.

CITIZENS OF KLAMATH FALLS

Morning Oregonian, Portland, Ore.:

We learn through your columns that a state of lawlessness exists in the City of Salem; that the Governor of this state assaulted an inoffensive and defenseless newspaper man, and that members of the Oregon Legislature stood by and enjoyed the fight. If you have no newspaper man who is able to expose the rotten condition existing in Salem we offer the services of our own Earl Evans of the Klamath Falls Northwestern, who we know can expose the conditions there and bring about sufficient notoriety for the city of Salem to last it until the next meeting of the Legislature. This offer is free of all costs to the Oregonian.
