DIVISION OPENERS

Houbregs, McCutcheon Sparkle; Washington Bags Duck Limit

Striding to perhaps their third consecutive Northern Division basketball title the University of Washington Huskies ceremoniously opened the 1953 season at McArthur court Friday and Saturday nights with a pair of victories over the University of Oregon Webfoots, 79-73 and 76-60.

The second of two Seattle cage greats, Mr. Bob "Hooks" Houbregs made a lasting impression on the capacity crowds at Mac court with a 52-point series. He also set a new court mark for a single game—33. The other all-American candidate from the Puget Sound city, Johnny O'Brien of the Seattle Chieftains, racked up 25 digits in a game played last month.

Webfoots Fade

After a tight as a drum battle Friday evening, the Huskies displayed little difficulty in downing the Ducks in the second setto. The Webfoots made it close for the first quarter, trailing by a two-point margin, 20-18, but faded thereafter. A pair of one-hand jump shots by Southpaw Mike McCutcheon at the outset of the second period shot the Huskies into a 25-20 lead which they gradually increased to 43-27 at halftime.

Washington Coach Tippy Dye began experimenting with different combinations midway in the third period, but the Huskies had an insurmountable 60-37 edge with ten minutes to go. Oregon Guard Barney Holland led the scorers with 21 points and Washington's McCutcheon followed with 20.

A bristling fourth quarter rally Friday night threw a scare into the visitors as the locals whittled into a 61-53 and had the Huskies on the ropes with over two and one-half minutes to play, 71-67.

A layup by McCutcheon, two free throws by the same forward, a 20-foot set shot by Charlie Koon and an interception and set up by Wild Will Elliott put the Washingtons ahead 75-72.

The uncanny Houbregs hit 33 points, 14 more than Kenny Wegner's 19.

UO Wins One, Loses Four Holiday Tilts

University of Oregon's Webfoots capped a sour Holiday basketball tour on a sweet note Dec. 27 by dumping the favored University of Wisconsin Badgers 66-64 in the first half of a doubleheader at the University of Iowa Fieldhouse.

The Ducks, trailing 53-43 at the end of three quarters, rallied for 23 points in the final period to other game played at Madison, Wisc., the previous evening the Ducks were soundly trounced by the Iowa Hawkeyes, 86-57 for their worst licking of the year.

University of Wyoming Cowpokes thumped the Oregons twice Dec. 22 and 23 at Laramie, winning 62-53 and 56 to 54. The Webfoots blew a 34-29 halftime advantage in the second game.

A full house at McArthur court watched Eddie O'Brien, Johnny's twin brother, sink a set shot in the last two seconds of play to down the Ducks 81-79. Coach Bill Borcher's five led at the intermission, 36-35, Sat., Dec. 20.
