Inflation New Peril Now That Recession Waning

NEW YORK (UP)—Just about the time the experts see the recession bottoming out, along come warnings to watch out for inflation.

Economists bring up this subject because of the prospects for a giant budget and a giant budget deficit.

It is recalled that the experts not too long ago had to be forgotten stood right up and told the nation that if the budget weren't cut there'd be a hair-curling depression.

A recession did come but it was traced to things other than the big government spending. As a matter of fact, the recession gained force when the government cut its spending for aircraft.

And the recession didn't bring deflation of prices. During its course, the cost of living has reached record highs. The prices of commodities have fallen in many instances but the ones that involve processing which means labor costs have risen.

Dr. Marcus Nadler, consulting economist to the Hanover Bank of New York, finds the danger of a return to inflation great "because there is a strong inflation bias in the country and much less understanding and fear of the effects of a boom and inflation than of a recession and rising unemployment."

Noting that the wage-price spiral was continuing despite the recession, Dr. Nadler said government measures to restore the economy must be carefully considered.

"If they go beyond what may be needed to give the economy a mild stimulus and to prevent the recession from degenerating into a depression," he said, "the forces of inflation will be revived.

"Such measures might hasten an upturn in business activity. They could also prevent a rectification of the maladjustments which the boom engendered.

"Under those conditions the ensuing period of prosperity—accompanied by further erosion of the purchasing power of the dollar—would be of only short duration. Another decline in business activity, perhaps more serious than the current one, would follow."

He held that the actions taken so far are not particularly inflationary and should they generate inflationary pressures, they could be slowed down.

Stock market experts have been pointing to the possibility of inflationary pressures developing from the huge budget deficit foreseen for this fiscal year.

Walter Maynard, analyst for Shearson, Hammill & Co., says we face a situation in which the inflationary effects imposed upon us by the monopoly power of labor will be reinforced by the monetary inflation resulting from government deficits.

"Business improvement produced by inflationary means," he concludes, "traditionally receives only a low evaluation in the stock market, whereas soundly stimulated business resulting from an increase in incentives should lead to generous market evaluations."

Such incentives, he explains, could be produced by a substantial tax reduction embracing middle and upper brackets.

Filth Books Shock Graham

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Billy Graham said today he was "shocked" at some of the obscene literature that is available to high school students, but warned that passage of anti-pornographic legislation would be difficult.

The evangelist decried the "sex revolution that is degenerating the nation" in a general outline of testimony he planned to deliver today before a state Assembly subcommittee investigating pornographic literature.

His appareance was under subpena ordered by Assemblyman Louis Francis (R-San Mateo), chairman of the subcommittee. The San Francisco News, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, in an editorial called Francis' action "headline-hunting at its worst."

Francis said he subpenaed Graham as "an expert on the dangers of pornography and its impact on youth."

Graham at first said his busy schedule would not permit him to testify before early July. However, he later was able to sandwich his appearance between a series of speaking engagements today.

"Legislation alone will not correct the problem of obscene literature," Graham said. "There is a need for a change of moral climate. The nation is in need of a moral bath to cleanse it from its obsession with sex which may eventually destroy us before communism.

"That is one of the reasons the country so desperately needs a religious awakening to change the nature of the people," the 39-year-old Baptist minister said.

Doctor Warns Take It Easy

ST. LOUIS (UP) — If you're an average American, don't jump into strenuous summer activities with too much zeal. Your heart can't take it.

That is the advice given by Dr. Simon Dack, New York City, editor of the American Journal of Cardiology. He was here to attend the annual convention of the American College of Cardiology—a group of heart specialists.

The doctor said most Americans lead a sedentary life during the winter, then tend to start charging across the golf course, furiously spading the garden or leaping about on tennis courts as soon as summer arrives.

He advised the summertime athletes to break into it gradually, "just like professional athletes train themselves."

Cost Of Living Believed Hiked

WASHINGTON (UP)—A rise in the housewife's grocery bills led the way to a reported new increase in the cost of living index due today.

Experts said in advance that the new government living cost estimates would climb to still another record and that food prices are the main reason. Today's figures reflect living cost conditions for April.

The government index has increased in 17 of the past 19 months.

Rules Amended By Work Group

The wage-hour devision of the U.S. Labor Department has just amended its regulations to permit youngsters under 16 to work on farms anywhere, so long as they have completed their school year.

Previously, it was prohibited to persons under 16 to do farm work in a district where school was still in session. Since school ends in some districts sooner than in others, this sometimes inconvenienced people moving from one district to another.

The Labor Department advises young people who plan to seek farm work to get written proof from their school principals that they have finished school for the year.

BETWEEN 6,000 AND 7,000 POUNDS of new truck and automobile parts were given to Oregon Technical Institute for classroom equipment this week by Dugan and Mest of Klamath Falls. Purchased at retail, the new parts would cost approximately $15,000. Shown with two brand new truck rear ends which were part of the gift are, from left, Merle Jackson, OTI instructor, pointing; George V. Dugan and Robert F. Mest, partners in the local automotive concern. In accepting the gift for the school, W. D. Purvine, OTI director, emphasized the importance of such equipment in the practical instruction offered by Oregon Tech and OTI's appreciation of the continued support of Klamath Falls businesses and individuals.

Contact State Ballot Chief If You Fight Lost Causes

By PAUL W. HARVEY Jr.

SALEM (UP)—Are you a person who likes to battle for lost causes? Do you like to oppose something that almost everybody else favors?

If so, then you may be the solution to the problem faced by Freeman Holmer, state elections supervisor.

The law says that Holmer must place in the Voters' Pamphlet an impartial description of each general election ballot measure. These descriptions are prepared by committees of three persons, one committee to describe each measure.

Holmer, on behalf of his boss, Secretary of State Mark Hatfield, appoints a proponent and opponent to each committee. They select the third man.

The tough part of it is finding opponents to some of the measures which seem to have widespread approval.

For instance, one of the ballot measures would designate a fixed state boundary along the Columbia River. It would clear up the confusion caused by the changing channel of the river.

Holmer wants to know where he can find somebody who opposes the idea of having a definite boundary between Washington and Oregon.

Holmer thinks the new state election law, passed by the 1957 Legislature, was a big factor in speeding up the vote counting. Nobody disagrees with him.

He did the research for the law, perhaps as long a bill as ever passed by any Legislature.

The fast counting of ballots resulted largely from splitting of many precincts and providing for simpler forms and counting procedures.

Holmer will meet in mid-June with the county clerks. They will decide whether to ask the 1959 Legislature to make further changes in the system.

Holmer says one change already is in prospect. That is to provide simpler poll book sheets so that the county clerks will find it easier to total the vote in each county.

The gubernatorial campaign between Gov. Robert D. Holmes and Secretary of State Mark Hatfield should be a hot one. Both are good speakers and vigorous campaigners. Some of the campaign will be waged at meetings of the Board of Control, which runs state institutions. Both, plus State Treasurer Sig Unander, whom Hatfield beat in the Republican primary, are members.

Actually, Holmes and Hatfield are good friends. They like to needle each other in the political arena, but they like and respect each other.

At board meetings, Holmes and Hatfield almost always are in agreement. Now that they are opponents, each probably will try to make some political hay at meetings of the board.

Mayor's Son Kills Rival, Sweetheart In Nebraska

ALBION, Neb. (UP) — An honor student and the daughter of a prominent farm family died in a burst of gunfire last night from the rifle of a rival for the girl's attention.

The shots that shocked this town of 2,132 population were fired by Kermit Keeshan, 17. His father William is a former county attorney and mayor in Albion.

Keeshan tried to kill himself with a bullet in the head after he killed Jerry Sherwood, 18, and Diane Zaruba, 17. He is expected to recover.

Young Sherwood, whose father Lynn is a former school board president, was killed at the rooming house where Diane stayed while in school.

Diane was slain despite the bravery of housewife Mrs. Frank Svoboda, who said she didn't have time to get scared as she tried to keep Keeshan from Diane.

Deputy County Atty. Ray Medlin Sr. said Keeshan, carrying a .22 rifle, found Jerry with Diane.

Apparently there was a struggle between the boys and then a shot that hit Jerry in the heart.

Diane ran screaming from the house toward the Svoboda backyard, where Mrs. Svoboda was working.

A shot hit the running girl in the leg but she hobbled onward to the side of Mrs. Svoboda, who waved her on to the Svoboda back door.

Mrs. Svoboda stood quietly as Keeshan raced up, then, when he came to a halt, slapped him hard in the face. He dropped his gun.

The housewife turned, walked to her back door and stood guard in front of Diane.

But Keeshan picked up his gun. He advanced and fired, again at Diane, who was crouched behind Mrs. Svoboda. The shot hit her in the chest.

Keeshan then turned and walked back to the room where Sherwood had died. There he tried to kill himself.

Lynn Sherwood, whose term as school board president expired last week, was scheduled to be the high school commencement speaker tonight when he would have given his son his diploma and a University of Nebraska regents scholarship.
