COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

THE COUNTRY PRESS.

In commenting upon an article recently published in this paper the Salem Statesman speaks of the Mist as "one of the ablest of all the country newspapers of the State." We regard this as high praise and appreciate the compliment, for there is no lack of ability among the country editors of Oregon. If they were paid in proportion to their ability, their industry, and the active interest they take in everything that makes for the upbuilding of the community in which they reside, their lot in life would be much more pleasant than it is.

First, last, and all the time the little country newspaper stands for progress and prosperity. It advocates good roads, good schools, good government in every respect, and any movement calculated to result in either of these desirables has its ungrudging and free support. Its columns are always open to the appeals of religion, charity, or sociability, and when sorrow comes to the worthy citizen it is always prompt in its expressions of sympathy. It publishes annually notices of church, lodge, and society gatherings, obittaries cards of thanks, etc., that would cost considerable sums in the columns of a city daily, and it does this cheerfully as its contribution to the general good. Very often, if the editor is a man instead of a jelly fish, it is compelled to take sides upon local issues, and this frequently costs it loss of patronage, and, temporarily at least, converts into enemies those who should be its strongest friends. It is easy, comparatively, for the editor of a great daily, secure in the possession of abundant revenues, to refuse to bow to the passing crane, and to launch the lightnings of his intellect against the sophistries of lie demagogue; but it takes greater courage for a country editor to stand for what is right when he knows that doing so will result in the direct loss of patronage he can ill afford to do without. Yet, as a rule, they stand the test and therefore, and to that extent, they are factors of permanent good in their respective communities.

If the Mist is in fact editorially in the front rank of the country papers of the State it certainly has reason to be proud of that fact and will endeavor to maintain its standing.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE NEHALEM.

The people of Oregon owe a debt of gratitude to the Portland Oregonian for its persistent, broad minded advocacy of the rights and interests of every section of the State. In this respect it can fairly claim to be a paper devoted to the progress of all Oregon, and therefore, in the fullest sense, to the interest of the city of Portland. It has not failed to point out to Portland capital that within a day's drive of the metropolis there is an undeveloped country possessed of great natural resources, and awaiting only adequate means of transportation to become the home of thousands of producers. In Monday's daily we find the following:

"Established railroads assert nothing is to be gained by extension of the Idaho lines at this time. The same assertion was made when the railroad was projected for Astoria. The O. R. & N., basing its theory on the fact that its steamers were handleing all of the traffic offered, refused to build a road to Astoria and antagonized those who attempted the project. But the road was built and is a paying investment, while steamers are carrying more freight than ever.

The Astoria road has built up a number of small towns between Portland and Astoria and developed the country lying back from these towns and settlements. Had this road never been constructed, O. R. & N. boats would still be handling a good volume of business on the lower river, but the population of Clatsop and Columbia Counties would be smaller by several thousand than it now is, and there would be no such remarkable industrial development as has taken place since Mr. Hammond began proving that a railroad to Astoria would be a paying venture.

The same interests that have been refusing to build into Clearwater and refusing to build from Riparia to Lewiston are also refusing to build into the Nehalem, and are actively opposing any enterprise that is started for opening up that rich country. The reasons for retarding the growth of the Nehalem country are much the same as those given in the Clearwater in Central Oregon and in the Wallowa country. The established roads are getting everything that comes out of those districts, and they ask themselves, Why spend any money to increase the traffic?

The Nehalem farmer can drive his steers out over the trail and carry his butter and eggs out on pack-saddle. The magnificent forests of timber are, of course, worthless until a railroad is built, and only the scantiest, most primitive kind of agricultural operations can be carried on. This embargo cannot remain on the Nehalem forever. That region some day will break out of its bounds as the Clearwater is on the point of doing."

Senator Mitchell seems to have gotten over his hurry.

OUR EXHIBIT

Every Hamlet in the County Will Be There.

GOOD SHOWING TO BE MADE

Manufactures of Wood Will Be Given Special Prominence at the Opening.

In order that the people of Columbia County may know what is being done in regard to this county's exhibit at the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, and what remains to be done, the following statement is presented, and we wish to say at the outset that it is not for the benefit of those whose sole object is to find fault and to throw obstacles in the path, but for those who desire to see the county thoroughly represented and will do whatever they are able toward bringing about this desirable result. At the outset we were met with some difficulty in being permitted to place all our products in one exhibit. The State Commission at first held that exhibits of wood products must be made in the State Forestry Department and that county exhibits should be confined to agricultural products. This would have barred out our timber, iron, fish, coal, etc., and would seriously have crippled us. After some correspondence a modification of this ruling was secured, and all of Columbia County's resources of field, forest and mineral deposits will be exhibited in the same space. So far very few products of the field or orchard have been secured, limited to apples, potatoes and corn. Thanks to Mr. Asa Holaday, of Scappoose, we will have as good Northern Spy apples as can be found in any county exhibit. The exhibit in the line of farm products will have to be made from this year's crop and we hope our farmers and fruit growers will all do their share. We produce as good fruit, vegetables, grains, grasses, etc., as can be found in Oregon and all that is necessary to make an excellent showing in this line is for each community to do its share. The business men of the county are wide awake to their interests and our manufacturing industries will make a showing that will be a surprise to those who are not acquainted with the great progress Columbia County is making along these lines. Exhibits secured up to date are as follows:

West Oregon Lumber Company, Clatskanie, an exhibit of finished lumber in different styles, probably inclosing the entire county exhibit.

Mr. T. J. Flippin is preparing an exhibit of the different woods native to this county.

Mr. R. D. Tichenor, Clatskanie, an exhibit of mineral and oil bearing rock.

The Oregon Lumber Company, Inglis, an exhibit of ornamental shingles.

The S. Ban Company, Quincy, an exhibit of ornamental woods, prepared by Japanese carpenters.

The Pfuhrer Co., Mayger, a shingle exhibit.

An exhibit of Bing, Lambert and Royal Ann cherries will be made by Mayger Bros. Their Bing cherries last year grew as large as four inches in circumference.

The Rainier Sash and Door factory will make a beautiful exhibit of its products.

The Rainier Soap factory will make an exhibit of the new mineral soap it has just begun to manufacture.

At Goble, the Warren Packing Company will make an exhibit of Chinook salmon and other fish frozen in crystal ice.

There will be an exhibit of the different kinds of Swiss and American cheese manufactured by the Swiss and German cheese makers, near Goble.

The Western Cooperage Company, of Houlton, will have a fine exhibit of its products.

Mr. E. C. Giltner guarantees a good showing of the coal, iron and marl that is found in the hills west of Columbia City.

Jack McKie will make an exhibit of the paving and building stone of the St. Helens quarries.

The southern part of the county has not been visited, but will be in a very short time, and we hope to secure several exhibits from that section.

In addition to this there will be a very complete pictorial exhibit of scenery, logging camps, churches, school houses, etc., from all parts of the county taken by Mr. Rush, the Clatskanie photographer. There will be something like two hundred of these views, and they will be a revelation, not only to the Eastern visitor, but also to the people of this county, who are not as familiar as they should be with its natural beauty and resources.

In addition to all this we will be credited with the unexcelled dairy herds of the Scappoose—Jerseys, Holsteins, and Ayrshire, owned by Messrs Honeyman, Frakes and West. In this respect we stand without rivals, as no county in the State has anything that can compare with these three great herds.

The space procured for our county exhibit is 18x30 feet, next to the west wall and about one hundred feet from the south door of the Agricultural Building, and we consider it as good space for the purpose as there is in the entire building.

If we all do our duty, and each one contributes what he or she can toward this exhibit, the citizens of Columbia county visiting the Lewis and Clark Exposition will have cause to feel proud of the showing made.

ABOUT THE COUNTY.

A Few Things Noticed While On A Recent Tour.

Inglee, the shipping point for the Oregon Lumber Company, was one of the places visited by the editor this week in the interest of Columbia County's exhibit. The company is doing a business here of probably $250,000 per year, Mr. Ingles being the local manager. They have a fine mill on Beaver Creek, about six miles from the station, deliver their lumber by way of a large and very substantially built flume. They also run a shingle mill and a large general merchandise store at the station. Ingles will be represented at the Lewis and Clark Fair by a fine exhibit of cut shingles. About one mile from Ingles is the shingle mill, railroad spur, and flume of the S. Ban Co., of Quincey. Here we found an old acquaintance in Mr. Smith, the superintendent, who is also a member of the company, and a rustler in every respect. The President of the company, S. Ban, is a very intelligent Japanese, who was at one time Japanese consul in Portland. He gives employment to quite a number of people in the conduct of his business, and most of them are Americans. The company sells about ten thousand cords of wood each year, about 20,000 telephone poles, and does a big shingle trade. Mr. Smith informs us that they expect to put up a sawmill with a capacity of about 30,000 daily. Mr. Ban is a lover of fine stock and has a fine herd of registered Jerseys, and Berkshire and Poland China hogs. The Ban Company will furnish what we believe will be one of the most attractive displays of wools in our exhibit. It will be put up by a Japanese carpenter, in his country's style.

Near the Ban Company's mess house is the district school house and church. The school is a four-roomed, two story building, and is a great credit to the district. The church is a neat structure but experience has shown that it would have been better to have had a larger building, as the community is steadily growing in population and importance.

CLATSKANIE

Mr. J. F. Carroll and mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Larkens of Dixie, were in the city Tuesday attending to some legal business.

Mr. James Neill, a prominent farmer of the Nehalem valley, was in the city the first of the week.

It is currently reported on the streets that when the new city council is organized about the first thing to be looked after by them will be the experting of the city's books and accounts, and the abatement of several nuisances in and about the city.

The bright sunshine reminds one of times gone by, when we used to go in swimming and get our necks and backs sunburned until the skin would peel off.

We learn that Miss Mary Tichenor, one of our efficient teachers in the public school at this place, has been on the sick list the past several days.

Mrs. Arnold and daughter Bertha, of Brookville, Pa., mother and sister of Mrs. Dr. Hall, are visiting with Mrs. Hall and the doctor.

We learn that Mrs. S. A. M. Blackford of this city will go to Chicago about the first of May to visit with her son George and family and other relatives in that part of Illinois.

The few Squeaking Socialists in this place reminds us of the howling of a coyote on the point of a ridge, about sundown. One would think to hear them howl that the woods was full of wolves, but when you come to look them up only one appears in the pack.

John H. Wilson and J. A. Van, two prosperous farmers of the Nehalem, were in the city the first of the week.

The dog poisoner seems to be getting in his work in the city and suburbs. A number of valuable dogs, cats and chickens have died from the effects of poison recently and it seems that the dirty skunk who puts out the poison is no respecter of persons, he serves all alike. The rich and the poor in this part of the country all feel the effects of his or her dirty work. How would it do to make the person or persons who do such dastardly work take a dose of their own medicine or be dressed down at a whipping post.

Mr. Walt Colvin of Marshland, was doing business in the city the first of the week.

Mr. George Mulkey and wife have moved their belongings to Marshland where Mr. Mulkey will be employed in a logging camp this summer.

Hazelwood butter brings a higher price because of the quality. This quality is due to the fine plant and expert skill in the manufacture. If you want to ship cream that is made into the highest-priced butter, ship to Hazelwood. Notice their advertisement of the U. S. Cream Separator.

Cheated Death.

Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolf, of Bear Grove, Iowa, cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had Kidney Trouble, which caused me great pain, suffering and anxiety, but I took Electric Bitters, which have effected a complete cure. I have so found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble, keep them constantly on hand since, as I find they have no equal." For sale at St. Helens Pharmacy at 50c.

The Telegram and Journal are saying things about each other. All the same as little country papers.

Non-partisanship is always the battle cry of the minority, but non-partisanship never freed a slave, extended our territory or settled a great question of any kind.

The Congregational Church has decided to adopt the direct primary method of deciding whether or not it will accept Rev. Rockefeller's money. It is safe to say, that the congregations will vote "No."

It took just four lines for the Oregonian to tell that the Russian internal loan was so largely over subscribed that the applicants could be allotted only 40 per cent, or less than half the amount they desired. Yet that was a very important item. When the Japanese loan was over subscribed the Oregonian gave the news big headlines on the first page. All of which goes to show that even the best papers get their news and their sympathies somewhat mixed.

A MUSIC CENTER.

Eilers Piano House should be visited first by everyone contemplating the purchase of a piano.

It is the home of a unique collection of famous pianos, chosen to give the widest possible range of prices, styles and tone qualities.

The Chickering of Boston, the Weber of New York, the Kimball of Chicago, the Hobart M. Cable, Lester, Hazelton, Crown Orchestral, Story & Clark, Schumann, Baus, etc., etc.—thirty makes in all. Each instrument of the highest artistic worth at the price.

Beauty and permanence of tone quality is our standard in selecting every piano we carry.

We save you money, no matter what piano you purchase, because our business is conducted upon the most up-to-date, money-saving methods, and ours is the policy of the quick sales and many of them, at small profit.

Our terms of payments are so moderate that piano buying here is easy to all.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Columbia.

James F. Watson, trustee, and Commercial National Bank of Portland, plaintiffs, vs. Columbia River Lumber and Find Co., Sabin, S. W. Blackford as receiver, H. Dr. the ch. C. A. Knowles, D. I. Mann, H. Borthwick and W. N. Finch, partners as Borthwick & Finch, J. F. Gosser, and J. M. Lawrence, defendants.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT BY virtue of an execution issued out of the circuit court of the state of Oregon in and for the county of Columbia, on the 7th day of April, 1905, under and by virtue of a judgment rendered on the 16th day of May, 1904, in said circuit court, wherein the above named plaintiffs recovered judgment against H. H. Borthwick, one of the above named defendants, for the sum of $[illegible] and the further sum of $[illegible] as attorney's fees, and the further sum of $[illegible] damages and costs, which judgment was docketed in the clerk's office of said court on the 19th day of May, 1904, in pursuance to said writ, being unable to find personal property out of which to satisfy said execution, I did, on the 8th day of April, 1905, duly levy upon the following described real property, to-wit:—The north-east ¼ of section 6, township 3 north of range 5 west, and the ½ of north west ¼ and the south east ¼ of north west ¼ of section 12 township 3 north range 4 west; and the north east ¼ of section 1 township 3 north of range 7 west of the Willamette meridian, situated in Columbia county, Oregon, to satisfy the sum of $[illegible] with interest thereon at the rate of 9 per cent per annum from May 16th, 1904, and the further sum of $[illegible] attorney's fees with interest thereon from said May 16th, 1905, to the sum of $[illegible] credited on said judgment December [illegible], 1904, (the sum of $[illegible] costs having been made on execution).

I will, on Monday, the 15th day of May, 1905, at the hour of 11 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the county court house in the city of St. Helens, Columbia County, Oregon, sell to the highest bidder at public auction, for cash in the lawful money of the U. S., all the right, title, or interest the said defendant, H. H. Borthwick, now has or had on the 16th day of May, 1904, the date of said judgment, in and to the above described real property, to satisfy the said amounts in said execution together with all accruing costs.

MARTIN WHITE,
Sheriff of Columbia County, Oregon.

Dated at St. Helens, Oregon, this 8th day of April, 1905.
