FRIDAY, Sept. 28, 1906.

Watch Scappoose grow.

Bro. Kemp's detective agency appears to be in working order.

Gradually but surely Houlton and St. Helens are getting nearer together.

It's up to Bro. Allen. "What are you going to do? What are you going to say?"

Would there be a car shortage if Uncle Sam owned the transcontinental railroads?

Mr. Van Auker is entitled to credit for not attributing his present predicament to "wine and women."

Shipping doves by mail, as was done by the Columbia River Door Co., is certainly "something new under the sun."

Will Mr. Jupiter Pluvius please hang up his sprinkling pot until Erixon gets the new court house under cover.

Saloons have just as much legal right to remain open Sunday as any of the other businesses that come within the prohibition of the law.

It would have saved time and expense if we had annexed Cuba at the end of the Spanish war. We are going to do so now and it will be a good thing for the Cubans.

Government ownership of railroads is denounced as a "step towards socialism." The more steps we take in that direction the better, provided they are taken at the right time and in the right way. Socialism is evolution.

STATE SCHOOL BOOKS.

County Superintendent Robison, of Multnomah County, presents figures in the Oregonian to demonstrate that the State would save $30,000 if the districts furnished school books free to the pupils. This is based, at the present price of the books, upon the elimination of the retailer's profits and the fact that school books furnished and cared for by the district last much longer than under the present system.

This is well, so far as it goes, but why not eliminate the manufacturer's profit and produce the books at the State printing office, thereby giving employment to mechanics in Oregon and making the State independent of the Eastern book manufacturers. It may be impracticable to do this at present with all of the books, but a beginning could be made on the spelling books, readers, and histories, and the remainder could be purchased by the districts and distributed free to the pupils. Free text books would prove a blessing in other respects than economy, especially in the rural districts, where there is often considerable trouble and delay in procuring the books required at the opening of school. The margin to the retailer is very small and he cannot afford to carry any more than enough to meet the immediate wants of the district, and, as he is not allowed to return any books left over, he make his estimate as small as possible, naturally preferring that the pupils should suffer inconvenience rather than that he should sustain financial loss. By all means let us have the free text books, and, where possible, have them printed by the State.

COUNTY COURT.

W. A. Arnold was appointed justice of the peace for Oak Point precinct.

Petition of Jacob Skaris and others for a county road granted.

W. L. Brown was appointed justice of the peace and F. Kilby constable of Apiary precinct.

Julius Wood was appointed justice of the peace of Auburn precinct, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Frank Tharp.

J. B. Dumont was appointed justice of the peace of Scappoose precinct.

A number of unpaid warrants were cancelled.

Oregon & California R. R. tax on lot 2, sec. 21, 3 north, 1 west, for the year 1906, was cancelled on account of double assessment, and the same action was taken in regard to a number of tracts assessed to the road.

The report of the viewers on the John R. Dalles road—No. 191, was accepted and the road ordered opened. Same action in regard to 192.

Report of the viewers on J. B. Dunn road, No. 193, accepted and road ordered opened for travel.

The sheriff was ordered to execute a tax deed to E. M. Wharton for lot 11, block 29, Columbia City.
