Claassen Can Show .765 Mark For Season's College Choices

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Massachusetts has ruled pic-six illegal in horse race betting. Any college football coach will tell you he must have the horses to win. So, just horsing around, we're trying to avoid picking six losers. (Last week: 47 right, 9 wrong for .839. Season's figures: 211 right, 65 wrong for .765.)

Iowa over Kansas: The Big Ten team that wasn't supposed to go anywhere meets the Big Eight club that was to have taken everything. Despite John Hadl, the Hawkeyes will win in a thriller.

Mississippi over Louisiana State. There was a time when LSU had the Chinese Bandits, but this year the Rebels' have Jake Gibbs. He will decide.

Syracuse over Pittsburgh: Twice-beaten, twice-tied Pittsburgh could take this, but Ernie Davis and his mates will pull it out despite the vulnerable spots in the Syracuse line.

Navy over Notre Dame: Joe Bellino gets better and better as the season progresses.

Missouri over Nebraska: The Tigers are one of the most underrated teams in the Midlands.

Minnesota over Kansas State: A breeze for the Paul Bunyans of the football north.

Baylor over Texas Christian: Ronnie Bull will batter his way into the headlines for the Southwest Conference leaders.

Michigan State over Ohio State: The Buckeyes are No. 8 on the national list, the Spartans No. 10, but the pick is Michigan State.

Elsewhere: Washington over Oregon; Tennessee over North Carolina; Arkansas over Texas A&M, Rice over Texas Tech, Auburn over Florida, Purdue over Illinois, Duke over Georgia Tech, Oregon State over California.

Friday

Denver over New Mexico.

Saturday

EAST: Army over Miami of Ohio, Boston University over Massachusetts, Bucknell over Lehigh, Colgate over Buffalo, Cornell over Columbia, Harvard over Penn, Holy Cross over Marquette, Penn State over West Virginia, Princeton over Brown, Rutgers over Villanova, Yale over Dartmouth.

SOUTH: The Citadel over Presbyterian, Florida State over Kentucky, Furman over Mississippi College, Georgia over Tulsa, Maryland over South Carolina, VMI over Memphis State, Alabama over Mississippi State, Virginia Tech over Richmond, Tulane over William & Mary, Clemson over Vanderbilt, Wake Forest over Virginia.

MIDWEST: Cincinnati over Xavier, Oklahoma over Colorado, Northwestern over Indiana, Oklahoma State over Iowa State, Wichita over Dayton, Wisconsin over Michigan.

SOUTHWEST: Houston over North Texas State, Texas over SMU, Texas Western over Hardin Simmons.

FAR WEST: Arizona State over New Mexico State, Arizona over West Texas, Colorado State University over Montana, San Jose over Washington State, Southern California over Stanford, UCLA over North Carolina State, Utah State over Brigham Young, Washington over Oregon, Wyoming over Utah.

Odds Favor Top Teams; No Upsets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Iowa and Mississippi, the nation's top-rated college football teams, are solid favorites to retain their perfect records on Saturday.

Iowa, No. 1 in this week's UPI balloting, is a 12½ point choice over Kansas, and the second-ranked Rebels are picked by 15 points over Louisiana State. The Hawkeyes are unbeaten in five games while Ole Miss has knocked over six opponents.

In the only contest matching teams in the top 10, the 10th-ranked Spartans of Michigan State are a slim 1½ point pick over eighth-ranked Ohio State.

Syracuse, last year's national champion and currently ranked third, is favored by 10 points over Pittsburgh and fourth-ranked Minnesota is a prohibitive choice over Kansas State. No odds were quoted on this game.

The other members of the top 10 are also big choices to win this week. Fifth-ranked Navy is picked by 14 over Notre Dame, sixth-ranked Missouri is 14 over Nebraska, seventh-ranked Baylor is 6½ over Texas Christian, and ninth-ranked Washington is 6 over Oregon.

The odds on Saturday's other major games by sections:

East: Cornell 1½ over Columbia, Princeton 20 over Brown, Yale 8 over Dartmouth, Harvard 3 over Pennsylvania.

South: Auburn 6 over Florida, Duke ½ over Georgia Tech, Maryland 7 over South Carolina, Tennessee 15 over North Carolina, Clemson 5 over Vanderbilt.

Midwest: Wisconsin 1½ over Michigan, Purdue 7 over Illinois.

Southwest: Texas 20 over Southern Methodist, Oklahoma State 3½ over Iowa State, Rice 13½ over Texas Tech.

West: Southern California 11 over Stanford, Oregon State 14½ over California, UCLA 9½ over North Carolina State, Oklahoma 1 over Colorado.

The Shutout Forms Habit

By United Press International

Shutouts are becoming sort of a habit for Springfield goaltender Marcel Paille.

The 27-year-old former New York Ranger turned in his second consecutive whitewashing performance and his fourth of the season as the Indians defeated the Cleveland Barons, 6-0, Wednesday night.

In nine games so far, Paille has allowed 16 goals for a 1.78 average and is keeping Springfield in contention for another American Hockey League championship.

Gerry McNeill of the Quebec Aces also had a fine night in the nets in Quebec's 2-0 triumph over the Hershey Bears.

Springfield and Quebec are tied for first place in the AHL with 14 points each. In another league game, the Buffalo Bisons scored five times in the last period to romp the last-place Providence Reds, 7-1. Phil Maloney and Dickie Gamble tallied twice each for Buffalo.

Hepp ner at Moro; Madras at Lakeview; John Day at Burns.

LAKEVIEW (Special) — The Lakeview Honkers take the field Friday night for their last game as members of the Greater Oregon A2 Conference and a second place finish in league play hangs in the balance.

The Honkers, 3-1 in counting action, host the powerful Madras White Buffaloes, also 3-1, on the Lakeview gridiron.

At the close of the current football season the Honkers move into the Little Rogue league. Competition in the new affiliation will begin with basketball this year.

Because of scheduling problems entailed, the game, in all probability, is the last meeting between Lakeview and Madras, at least for a number of years.

Although the Honkers have the home field advantage the Buffs have a distinct edge in the weight department. The Madras eleven averages about 20 pounds per man heavier than the host club.

Another factor which may cause the Honkers trouble is a rash of injuries that makes a starting lineup hard to pick, according to coach Howard Hopper.

His starting offensive backfield will include, with luck, Ken Paxton at quarterback, Chuck Cossey or Larry Peters at left half, Dennis Berry at right half and Doug Maxwell at fullback. Peters has a foot that is giving him trouble so Cossey will probably start.

In the line the Honkers have four regulars who may sit this one out. End Bob Warner is sick; co-captain tackle Tom Goss is ailing and may be replaced by Fred Williams; guard Willie Hamilton has been hurt and his replacement is still unknown and right tackle Bert Moon is crippled. Gary Scott will go at center, Fred Baldwin is ready for guard duty and Garry Peters is set at right end.

Saturday afternoon the Lakeview frosh and sophs will play a representative Burns group. The following Saturday the young Honkers will close the entire season when they meet Alturas.

NY Ranger Likes Work

By United Press International

Lorne Worsley, unlike most people, dislikes vacations.

The New York Rangers' stubby goalie returned to action Wednesday night after being benched for 10 days and made 43 saves in a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Red Wings.

"I feel awfully tired," Worsley said later in the Ranger dressing room at Madison Square Garden. "That rest they gave me was okay but I need a lot of work to stay in condition. I don't want any more vacations."

Coach Alfie Pike intends to keep alternating Worsley and rookie Jack McCartan in goal for the rest of the season because he feels that no goalie can stand up under the pressure of the present 70-game schedule in the National Hockey League.

The Red Wings gave Worsley a rugged workout, especially in the third period when they fired 22 shots. But the Rangers hung on to win with the help of a pair of goals by Andy Hebenton within 71 seconds in the middle period and rookie Len Ronson's decisive goal early in the third period.

Ronson's goal gave New York a 4-2 lead, then Parker MacDonald scored for the Red Wings with less than three minutes remaining to make it close.

The Old Boy Sees Some Juicy Upsets

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

The Original Prawback

Egad, my loyal followers, I have a pleasant surprise for you today. An upset-minded former assistant of mine, Mr. Red Board Daly, was in town and begged to be allowed to participate in making this week's selections.

After many hours of deliberation (Editor's Note: Spent in the Owls Club no doubt) Mr. Red Board concurred in my choices for what will be a history making weekend. Three of the season's juiciest upsets are in the offing.

Claiming the major share of the plaudits this Saturday will be the Pitt Panthers who will claw their way to a 23-15 upset over the Orange of Syracuse. In two other top-rated tussles, Kansas will subdue Iowa 16-14 in a bruising battle, and Nebraska will outlast Missouri to win by a 26-22 count. Hak-kaff! Harrumph!

Old Records Jeopardized By Growth

NEW YORK (UPI)—The immortal Babe Ruth, whose home run records have withstood a 30-year onslaught by two generations of musclemen, may be reduced to mere mortality in future record books with the advent of a 162-game schedule.

There can be little doubt that with 38 games tagged on to the major league schedules each year due to the expansion, many records will go toppling faster than managerial jobs. The most vulnerable of the statistics will likely be those of attendance and individual club records.

But it is the glamor numbers, such as the legendary 60 and "insurmountable" 714, that will draw most public attention. The 60 represents Ruth's single season home run high, while the 714 signifies his career total.

Hank Greenberg hit 58 homers in 1938 and Hack Wilson slugged 56 in 1930. Either one might have passed Ruth's season high if he had had eight extra games. The next man to have a comparable year at the plate could break the 33-year-old milestone with the aid of the increased schedule.

No one has yet come near the Bambino's career mark, the closest being Jimmy Foxx, with 534, but future stars who last 15 years in the big time will have at least 120 extra games in which to aim at the record once thought unreachable.
